Handbook of Japan-United States Environment-Behavior Research Jack Demick, T. Takahashi, Seymour Wapner, C. Takiji Yamamoto, 2013-11-11. This volume is an outgrowth of research on the relations between human beings and their environments which has developed internationally. This development is evident in environment behavior research studies conducted in countries other than the United States. See Stokols and Altman 1987 for examples of such work in Australia, Japan, France, Germany, the Netherlands, Sweden, the United Kingdom, the former Soviet Union, and Latin and North America. The international development of this research area is also evident in the establishment of professional organizations in different countries such as the Environment Behavior Design Research Association (EDRA) in the United States, the Man Environment Research Association (MERA) in Japan, the International Association for People Environment Studies (IAPS) in Great Britain, and the People and Physical Environment Research Association (PAPER) in Australia. This volume focuses on environment behavior research within Japan and the United States as well as cross-cultural studies involving both countries. As we note in detail in Chapter 1, the conference on which the work presented herein is based was preceded by three Japan-United States conferences on environment behavior research, the first of which took place in Tokyo in 1980. As currently conceived, the present volume stands alone as a compendium of a significant proportion of cross-cultural research on environment behavior relations in Japan and the United States that has been developing over the last 15 years. As such, we envision the volume as a basic interdisciplinary reference for anthropologists, architects, psychologists, sociologists, urban planners, and environmental geographers.

Theoretical Perspectives in Environment-Behavior Research Seymour Wapner, 2000. Following upon the Handbook of Japan-United States Environment Behavior Research published by Plenum in 1997, leading experts review the interrelationships among theory, problem, and method in environment behavior research. The chapters focus on the philosophical and theoretical assumptions underlying current research and practice in the area and link those assumptions to specific substantive questions and methodologies Japan at the Millennium David W. Edgington, 2003 Japan today is at an important historical juncture Buffeted in recent years by rapid economic social and political change yet still very much steeped in custom and history the nation has become an amalgam of the traditional and the modern As a result the country has become increasingly difficult to categorize How are we to represent today s Japan effectively and fairly predict its future This critical multi disciplinary collection explores the convergence of past and future in contemporary Japan Contributors comment on a wide range of economic socio cultural and political trends such as the mobilization of Japanese labour the burgeoning Ainu identity movement and the shifting place of the modern woman and conclude that despite the rapid changes many of the traditional facets of Japanese society have remained intact institutional change they assert is unlikely to occur quickly and Japan must find alternate ways to adjust to twenty first century pressures of global competition and interdependence A pleasure to read this broad volume will be welcomed by upper level undergraduates graduates and specialists in Japanese studies
