Reading Theory An Introduction To Lacan Derrida And Kristeva:

Reading Theory Michael Payne, 1993-08-20 Deconstruction psychoanalysis and semiotics have become part of the vocabulary of contemporary culture Reading Theory introduces the principal texts by Derrida Lacan and Kristeva that are behind these terms and that provide their contexts This book concentrates its attention on making accessible what these three theorists have written rather than offering a synthetic construction of the fashionable terminology of theory Works carefully through key texts by the leading contemporary theorists Clear accessible and introductory Challenges recent attacks on theory and on Derrida

Jacques Lacan and Feminist Epistemology Kirsten Campbell, 2004-07-31 Using Lacanian psychoanalysis as a starting point Campbell examines contemporary feminism's turn to accounts of feminist knowing to create new conceptions of the political

Experiencing the Postmetaphysical Self Fionola Meredith, 2004-12-14 This book charts and challenges the bruising impact of post Saussurean thought on the categories of experience and self presence It attempts a reappropriation of the category of lived experience in dialogue with poststructuralist thinking Following the insight that mediated subjectivity need not mean alienated selfhood Meredith forwards a postmetaphysical model of the experiential based on the interpenetration of poststructuralist thinking and hermeneutic phenomenology Since poststructuralist approaches in feminist theory have often placed women's lived experiences under erasure Meredith uses this hermeneutic deconstructive model to attempt a rehabilitation of the singular flesh and blood female existent

Mixed News Jay Black,2013-12-02 This volume addresses some of the central issues of journalism today the nature and needs of the individual versus the nature and needs of the broader society theories of communitarianism versus Enlightenment liberalism independence versus interdependence vs co dependency negative versus positive freedoms Constitutional mandates versus marketplace mandates universal ethical issues versus situational and or professional values traditional values versus information age values ethics of management versus ethics of worker bees commitment and compassion versus detachment and professional distance conflicts of interest versus conflicted disinterest and talking to versus talking with All of these issues are discussed within the framework of the frenetic field of daily journalism a field that operates at a pace and under a set of professional standards that all but preclude careful systematic examinations of its own rituals and practices The explorations presented here not only advance the enterprise but also help student and professional observers to work through some of the most perplexing dilemmas to have faced the news media and public in recent times This lively volume showcases the differing opinions of journalistic experts on this significant contemporary issue in public life Unlike previous books and monographs which have tended toward unbridled enthusiasm about public journalism and trade press articles which have tended toward pessimism this book offers strong voices on several sides of this complex debate To help inform the debate a series of voices journalistic interviews with practitioners and critics of public journalism is interspersed throughout the text At the end of each essay a series of quotes from a wide variety of sources In other words augments each chapter with ideas and insights that support and contradict the points used by each chapter author

Reconstructing Contexts Robert D. Hume,1999 This book attempts to justify and theorize old historicism defining archaeo historicism as a method by which scholars can reconstruct past context in order to apply it to the interpretation of works and events of that time If such reconstruction is to be more than wildly impressionistic it must be grounded in hard evidence handled according to clear rules In this intriguing and rigorous analysis Robert Hume identifies legitimate objects for reconstruction and proposes procedures and principles by which such interpretation may be pursued He then examines the failures of the same method which works only when adequate evidence can be found In particular Hume flatly denies the intellectual legitimacy of literary history as it is commonly practised and attempts to disentangle such history from the practice of historicism The final chapter is devoted to a cogent discussion of how archaeo historicism relates to various forms of contemporary theory Hume offers a profusion of examples of good and bad historicist reconstruction and interpretation drawing largely on English literature but also on American and other world literatures theatre history and music theory Although addressed primarily to literary critics this wide ranging and bold work will be of interest to historians and cultural critics as well
