Convergence Media History Janet Staiger,Sabine Hake,2009-07 Convergence Media History explores the ways that digital convergence has radically changed the field of media history Writing media history is no longer a matter of charting the historical development of an individual medium such as film or television Instead now that various media from blockbuster films to everyday computer use intersect regularly via convergence scholars must find new ways to write media history across multiple media formats This collection of eighteen new essays by leading media historians and scholars examines the issues today in writing media history and histories Each essay addresses a single medium including film television advertising sound recording new media and more and connects that specific medium s history to larger issues for the field in writing multi media or convergent histories Among the volume s topics are new media technologies and their impact on traditional approaches to media history alternative accounts of film production and exhibition with a special emphasis on film across multiple media platforms the changing relationships between audiences fans and consumers within media culture and the globalization of our media culture

Broadening the Horror Genre Jamie L. McDaniel, Andrea Wood, 2024-12-16 This collection assembles a wide range of scholarship addressing the intersections influences and impacts of the horror genre s proliferation across multiple forms of media Covering film television websites video games tabletop and role playing games and social media the volume highlights works from marginalized voices or from less scrutinized media Building off one of Horror Studies traditional homes in film the volume first features approaches to previously ignored innovations and offshoots related to cinematic and televisual horror before moving to discuss how horror film conventions inform horror video and tabletop games and how games have started to influence film Finally the collection departs the world of film to examine online and non academic multimodal cultural discourses about horror from popular movie reviewers to interactive online marketing and film promotions This volume will interest scholars and students not only of Horror Studies and genre but also of film media and television studies digital media and video games and transmedia studies
