Jack the Ripper & the London Press L. Perry Curtis, 2020-08-11 Breaks new ground in its examination of the role of newspaper reporting during the police hunt for the first notorious serial killer Reviews in History Press coverage of the 1888 mutilation murders attributed to Jack the Ripper was of necessity filled with gaps and silences for the killer remained unknown and Victorian journalists had little experience reporting serial murders and sex crimes This engrossing book examines how fourteen London newspapers dailies and weeklies highbrow and lowbrow presented the Ripper news in the process revealing much about the social political and sexual anxieties of late Victorian Britain and the role of journalists in reinforcing social norms L Perry Curtis surveys the mass newspaper culture of the era delving into the nature of sensationalism and the conventions of domestic murder news Analyzing the fourteen newspapers two of which emanated from the East End where the murders took place he shows how journalists played on the fears of readers about law and order by dwelling on lethal violence rather than sex offering gruesome details about knife injuries but often withholding some of the more intimate details of the pelvic mutilations He also considers how the Ripper news affected public perceptions of social conditions in Whitechapel The apparently motiveless violence of the Whitechapel killings denied journalists a structure and it is the resulting creativity in news reporting that L Perry Curtis Jr describes His impressive book makes a genuine contribution to 19th century history in a way that books addressing the banal question of the identity of the Ripper do not The Guardian
