Separation And Creativity:

Creative Strategy Chris Bilton, Stephen Cummings, 2010-04-26 People tend to think of creativity and strategy as opposites This book argues that they are far more similar than we might expect More than this actively aligning creative and strategic thinking in any enterprise can enable more effective innovation entrepreneurship leadership and organizing for the future By considering strategy as a creative process and vice versa the authors define creative strategy as a mindset which switches between opposing processes and characteristics and which drives every aspect of the business The authors draw experiences and cases from across this false divide from the music industry sports fashion Shakespearean theatre companies creative and media organizations and dance as well as what we might regard as more mundane providers of mainstream products and services to uncover the creative connections behind successful strategy Creative Strategy is a talisman for those looking to take a new path Matt Hardisty Strategy Director Mother Advertising It has been said that business is a hybrid of dancing and calculation the former incorporating the creative within a firm the latter the strategic Bilton and Cummings show how these apparently contradictory processes can be integrated Their insights about how firms can create to strategize and strategize to create are informative for managers and management scholars alike Jay Barney Professor and Chase Chair of Strategic Management Fisher College of Business The Ohio State University In today's world new thinking creativity is required to tackle long standing problems or address new opportunities The trouble is few organizations understand how to foster and apply creativity at least in any consistent manner This book provides new insights into just how that can be done It moves creativity from being just the occasional and fortuitous flash of inspiration to being an embedded feature of the way the organization is run Sir George Cox Author of the Cox Review of Creativity in Business for HM Govt Past Chair of the Design Council

Separation and Creativity Maud Mannoni, 1999 Integrating both the work of Winnicott and the American tradition of child analysis with her own Lacanian theoretical model noted French analyst Maud Mannoni highlights the relationship between the childhood traumas of creative artists and their adult work How can the horror the distress experienced in childhood constitute the very material of a work of art This is the leitmotif of this book It takes us through the anguish and poetry of Poe the ghost stories of Wharton the films of Hitchcock and Bergman to the struggles of survivors of contemporary man made disasters the Chowchilla kidnapping the Holocaust the disappeared of Argentina This book through its transitions from one set of vivid images to the next makes the reader expect its very substance Dori Laubrien

Concerning Creativity John H. Berthrong, 1998-10-01 This work examines the philosophies and theologies of three thinkers Chu Hsi Alfred North Whitehead and Robert C Neville separated by time space and culture In so doing John H Berthrong provides a suggestive and successful comparison of creativity as a cross cultural theme while introducing Neo Confucianism as a sophisticated dialogue partner with modern Western speculative philosophy and theology Creativity lies at the heart of the discourse of Chu Hsi 1130 1200 and Alfred North Whitehead For both creativity emerges as an attempt to illustrate the organic unity of the world without resorting to an appeal to a source for creativity beyond the concrete actuality of the cosmos Subtle critics such as Robert C Neville argue that process thought is fatally flawed because Whitehead separated creativity from the other crucial elements of his system By interjecting the Chinese Neo Confucian synthesis of Chu Hsi it is possible to show how creativity can be re integrated into process discourse as creative synthesis
