Constructing Spain Nathan Richardson, 2012 Does fiction do more than just represent space Can our experiences with fictional storytelling be in themselves spatial In Constructing Spain The Re imagination of Space and Place in Fiction and Film Nathan Richardson explores relations between cultural representation and spatial transformation across fifty years of Spanish culture Beginning in 1953 the year Spanish space was officially reopened to Western thought and capital and culminating in 2003 the year of Aznar s unpopular involvement of his country in the second Iraq War Richardson traces in popular and critically acclaimed fiction and film an evolution in Spanish storytelling that while initially representative in nature increasingly engages its audience in spatial practices that go beyond mere perception or conception of local material geographies In original readings of films by Luis Berlanga Luis Bu uel Alex de la Iglesia Alejandro Amen bar and Julio Medem and novels by Juan Goytisolo Antonio Mu oz Molina and Javier Mar as Richardson shows this formal evolution as a necessary response to developments restorations and transformations of local landscapes that resulted during these years from various human migrations tourist invasions urban development plans resurgent nationalisms and finally globalization As these changes occur Richardson traces a shift in the works studied from mere representation of spatial change toward actual engagement with shifting physical and social geographies as they inch ever closer toward the production of an actual spatial experience for their audiences In the final chapters of this book Richardson offers in depth and highly original readings of the storytelling projects of Medem and Mar as in particular showing how these two artists invite readers to not only reconceive hegemonic notions of space and place but to practice alternative notions of being in place In these final readings Constructing Spain points to the newest developments in contemporary Spanish narrative and film a rise of new grammars of creation to challenge the ongoing capital driven creative destruction of globalized Spanish geography

Animation in Spain Maria Pagès Rovira, 2025-08-12 This book provides a comprehensive account of Spanish animation history from its early days through to the arrival of CGI It examines the two main centers of production Barcelona and Madrid as well as evolving animation hubs in the Basque Country and Galicia This book also pays tribute to the women who were significant to the animation industry and had been invisible for many years highlighting more recent attempts to achieve equality in the Spanish animation industry thanks to help from the government and women's associations looking to balance the inequality in this domain This book will be of great interest to academics students and professionals working and researching in the field of animation
