Sexual Harassment Women Speak Out:

#MeToo The New York Times Editorial Staff, 2018-07-15 It started with an article and grew into a movement MeToo was born in the wake of a Pulitzer prize winning New York Times investigative report on producer Harvey Weinstein's habitual sexual harassment of young women The hashtag empowered women around the world to share their stories of sexual assault and abuse Corporations responded by firing dozens of accused CEOs media moguls and movie stars and politicians responded by sponsoring legislation against sexual harassment This collection of articles tracks the movement from its start It looks at the international response and inevitable criticism as well as the future of the movement Sexual Harassment

Amber Coverdale Sumrall, Dena Taylor, 1992 Women of all ages tell their sexual harassment stories Sexual Harassment

Linda LeMoncheck, Mane Hajdin, 2000-01-01 The question of what constitutes sexual harassment from suggestive remarks to outright threats from off color jokes to lewd posters on office walls is contentious as is the question of how to address sexual harassment Do all instances of sexual harassment constitute sex discrimination Are some instances merely sexual attraction gone wrong Do social policies aimed at eliminating sexual harassment in the workplace violate freedom of expression or do they make working relationships possible between women and men In this uncompromising yet respectful debate two philosophers of widely divergent views present clear arguments and then respond directly to each other's reasoning LeMoncheck argues for a feminist perspective on sexual harassment that is sensitive to the politics of gender Hajdin contends that this perspective is both morally confusing and legally problematic and that sexual harassment can be better addressed by traditional moral and legal categories Sexual Harassment and Misconduct

Everyday Sexism in the Third Millennium Carol Rambo Ronai, Barbara A. Zsembik, Joe R. Feagin, 2014-06-03 This collection features new and original research on the range of sexism still faced every day by women in US society It documents oppression across ethnic racial class and sexual orientation groups in a wide range of gendered spaces including the home the workplace unions educational institutions and the Internet Exploring the way these different but related systems of oppression interact the editors come to view sexism not as a static thing but as part of a dialectic of domination in which women are simultaneously oppressed and capable of oppressing others through their discourse and practice With its broad range of approaches its focus on discourse and experience in gendered spaces and its debunking of the personal and societal fictions of gender this book goes a long way toward explaining why sexism is still so pervasive in everyday life

Speaking Out Tanya Serisier, 2018-11-19 This is the first critical study of feminist practices of speaking out in response to rape This book argues that feminist anti rape politics are characterised by a belief in the transformative potential of women s personal narratives of sexual violence The political mobilisation of these narratives has been an incredibly successful strategy but one with unresolved ethical questions and political limitations The book explores both the successes and the unresolved questions through feminist archival materials published narratives of sexual violence and mass media and internet sources It argues that that a rethinking of the role and place of women s stories and the politics of speaking out is vital for a rethinking of feminist politics around sexual violence and key to fresh approaches to combating this violence
