Look Out By Water:

Look Out by Water Helena Ramsay, 2003 Look Out by Water is a no nonsense book with a strong safety message for young children about how they should avoid potentially dangerous situations near water The narrative throughout is in simple straightforward language which is undramatic and reassuring whilst stressing the dangers that seemingly familiar situations can hold for children A mixture of running narrative and speech bubbles has been specially developed in association with the National Centre for Language and Literacy Reading Reading Centre to draw in both confident and less able readers Specially commissioned photographs are combined with child centred artwork to support the text and re iterate the safety message

Irrigation Systems Adrian Laycock, 2007-01-01 Of all the confrontations man has engineered with nature irrigation systems have had the most widespread and far reaching impact on the natural environment Over a quarter of a billion hectares of the planet are irrigated and entire countries depend on irrigation for their survival and existence Considering the importance of irrigation schemes it is unfortunate that until recently the technology and principles of design applied to their construction has hardly changed in 4 000 years Modern thinking on irrigation engineering has benefited from a cross fertilization of ideas from many other fields including social sciences control theory political economics and agriculture However these influences have been largely ignored by irrigation engineers Drawing on almost 40 years of experience of irrigation in the developing world Laycock introduces new ideas on the design of irrigation systems and combines important issues from the disciplines of social conflict management and political thinking
