Living, Loving and Loss Brad DeFord, Richard Gilbert, 2016-12-05 One of the unspoken aspects of mourning concerns the ways that loss affects our intimate relationships and our sexual expressiveness This text opens these subjects for conversation with the aim of promoting the trust care and respect that enable us to be vulnerable It purposefully covers a range of topics including 1 the meaning of intimacy and the significance of sexuality providing a basis for the use of these terms throughout the book 2 death grief and differences in sexual orientation including death and intimacy in the lesbian gay bisexual and transgender LGBT community and the losses endured by young people due to gender issues 3 loss of relationship and restoration of intimacy in families including pharmacological effects on the grief processes of widowers grieving a not so loved parent the layered losses of infertility and intimacy and the tolls of war intimacy and sexuality challenges for soldiers and their families 4 adjusting to life's losses associated with aging or illness or infirmity including Alzheimer's and dementia related illnesses physical health losses after 50 and intimacy sex and hospice self determination and dignity at the end of life and 5 religious bases that have shaped our perspectives for understanding intimacy sexuality and healing after loss and which give us hope including the spiritual reflections of a rabbi and a Christian voice in defining what is right Set in a framework that is both psychological and spiritual the well researched contributions are intended to acknowledge these experiences both professionally and personally The book concludes with an extensive bibliography valuable for research and reference This book will be of value in undergraduate and graduate courses on thanatology as well as for anyone interested in knowing more about grief both those currently bereaved and those who wish to support others in mourning The contributors appreciate both the importance of our capacities for intimacy and sexuality and our inhibitions and hesitations in giving voice to our needs and concerns perhaps especially when we are grieving The information and compassionate understanding they provide encourage us to bridge the gap between the secret and the private and to share what is close to our hearts

Chambers's Journal, 1904 Judgment and Decision Making Baruch Fischhoff, 2013-06-17 Behavioral decision research offers a distinctive approach to understanding and improving decision making. It combines theory and method from multiple disciplines: psychology, economics, statistics, decision theory, management science. It employs both empirical methods to study how decisions are actually made and analytical ones to study how decisions should be made and how consequential imperfections are. This book brings together key publications selected to represent the major topics and approaches used in the field. Put in one place with integrating commentary, it shows the common elements in a research program that represents the scope of the field while offering depth in each. Together they provide a vision for what has become a burgeoning field.

A Professional's Guide to Understanding Trauma and Loss David E. Balk, Tracy Wong, Janet R. Balk, 2023-06-05 The purpose of this book is to provide vital information regarding loss and trauma to practicing counselors and therapists. Trauma and loss are pervasive presenting problems; many counselors and therapists possess scant understanding of trauma and loss, and little if any attention is paid to trauma or to loss in the graduate training of clinical psychology and counseling psychology students. The book is organized into four sections which cover an overview of loss and trauma, key conceptual frameworks for understanding loss and trauma, review of several types of events producing trauma and loss, and interventions addressing loss and trauma. A key contribution of the book is the focus on losses caused by death and losses due to other reasons. The contributions to practice include the overview of what is known about trauma and about loss, examination of several frameworks for organizing both understanding of and working with traumatized and bereaved clients, rich descriptive cases of individuals coping with various traumatic events and the losses embedded in the trauma, and presentation of various interventions including changes that can be made in the graduate education of practitioners. Mothers, Myths and Memories: Personal Tales Of Love, Loss And The Lives We Carry. Payal Shandil Gupta, 2025-09-30 Imagine a tiny silver window in the palm of your hand with four panes all different colours. The window is this book. In the pages, there is no grand tale, no heroes, no villains, no stolen kisses, and unfortunately no murders. The pages do not hide philosophies that would change your life. In your hands, you have fleeting moments, short bite-sized moments frozen on paper. The world and lives around you viewed from the silver window. Read it when you need a moment for yourself on the metro while waiting in line for your coffee or stuck in traffic. Each piece is short yet layered enough to linger in your mind rent free. Read it as you would scroll through memories or Instagram reels: pause, smile, reflect, and move on, perhaps a little lighter than before.

Signifying Loss Nouri Gana, 2011 By remapping the configurations of mourning across modernist, postmodernist, and postcolonial literatures, psychoanalysis, and deconstruction, James Joyce, Jamaica Kincaid, Tahar Ben Jelloun, Elias Khoury, Sigmund Freud, and Jacques Derrida, Signifying Loss studies not only how loss is signified but also the ethico-political significance of such signifying. First by examining the dynamics between narrative tropes and mourning, it elaborates a poetics of narrative mourning in which prosopopoeia becomes the master trope of mourning while catachresis the master trope of melancholia and chiasmus of trauma Second it develops a situated and flexible theory of mourning capable of adjusting to diverse contexts in which the ethical and political stakes of mourning are different in short Signifying Loss calls for the formulation of geopolitical and differential tactics of mourning and mournability rather than for a clear cut strategy of inconsolability

Sartor Resartus Thomas Carlyle,2017-06-13T17:04:28Z Sartor Resartus was a strange and new book when it was first published in 1833 and in many ways it remains a strange and new book today The bulk of the novel takes the form of the a commentary on the life and works of the fictional Diogenes Teufelsdröckh a sort of renaissance man German philosopher who develops a Philosophy of Clothes The commentary is composed by a fictional English commentator known only as the Editor the Editor claims to have translated many of Teufelsdröckh's ideas and quotes from German As the commentary progresses the Editor receives a bag of paper scraps on which are written various autobiographical fragments from Teufelsdröckh's life The Editor's attempts to organize and interpret these scraps forms the second part of the novel The work is multi faceted sometimes a parody sometimes a comedy sometimes a satire and sometimes seriously philosophical Some critics consider it an early existentialist text At the very least its unique structure and use of meta narrative is hugely influential to modern literature Borges was said to have memorized entire pages and modern texts like Nabokov's Pale Fire borrow liberally from the concept of a meta narrative organized on scraps of paper This book is part of the Standard Ebooks project which produces free public domain ebooks
