The Magic Factory; how MGM Made An American in Paris. Foreword by Andrew Sarris Donald Knox,1973

The Magic Factory Donald Knox,1973 An American in Paris Sue Harris,2019-07-25 An American in Paris 1951 was a landmark film in the careers of Vincente Minnelli Gene Kelly and Leslie Caron A joyous celebration of George Gershwin's music French art the beauty of dance and the fabled City of Light the film was heralded as a rare example of entertainment for mass and class alike Choreographed by Kelly at the height of his career it gave new stature to the Hollywood musical and showcased as never before the artistic ambition technical skills creative imagination and collaborative ethos of MGM's pioneering Arthur Freed Unit Sue Harris draws on archival material to trace the film's development from conception to screen Offering new insights into the design process in particular she shows how An American in Paris established the cinematic template for a city with which Hollywood would become increasingly infatuated in the decades to follow The 50 MGM Films That Transformed Hollywood Steven Bingen,2022-11-01 Movies don't exist in a vacuum Each MGM movie is a tiny piece of a large colorful although often black and white quilt with threads tying it into all of the rest of that studio's product going forward yes but also backward and horizontally and three dimensionally across its entire landscape Not necessarily a best of compilation this book discusses the films that for one reason or another and not all of them good ones changed the trajectory of MGM and the film industry in general from the revolutionary use of Cinerama in 1962's How the West Was Won to Director Alfred Hitchcock's near extortion of the profits from the 1959 hit thriller North by Northwest And there are the studio's on screen self shoutouts to its own past or stars in films like Party Girl 1958 the That's Entertainment series Garbo Talks 1984 Rain Man 1955 and De Lovely 2004 or the studio's acquisition of other successful franchises such as James Bond But fear not what we consider MGM's classic films all get their due here often with a touch of irony or fascinating anecdote Singin' in the Rain 1952 for example was in its day neither a financial blockbuster nor critically acclaimed but rather an excuse for the studio to reuse some old songs it already owned The Wizard of Oz 1939 cost almost as much to make as Gone With the Wind also 1939 and took ten years to recoup its costs But still the MGM mystique endures Like the popular Netflix series The Movies that Made Us this is a fascinating look behind the scenes of the greatest and at times notorious films ever made Dance Me a Song Beth Genné,2018-05-30 Dancer choreographer directors Fred Astaire George Balanchine and Gene Kelly and their colleagues helped to develop a distinctively modern American film dance style and recurring dance genres for the songs and stories of the American musical Freely crossing stylistic and class boundaries their dances were rooted in the diverse dance and music cultures of European immigrants and African American migrants who mingled in jazz age America The new technology of sound cinema let them choreograph and fuse camera movement light and color with dance and music Preserved intact for the largest audiences in dance history their works continue to influence dance and film around the world This book centers them and their colleagues within the history of dance where their work has been marginalized as well as film tracing their development from Broadway to Hollywood 1924-58 and contextualizing them within the American history and culture of their era This modern style like the nation in which it developed was pluralist and populist It drew from aspects of the old world and new high and low theatrical and social dance forms creating new sites for dance from the living room to the street A definitive ingredient was the freer more informal movement and behavior of their jazz age generation which fit with song lyrics that poeticized slangy American English The Gershwins Rodgers and Hart and others wrote not only songs but extended dance driven scores tailored to their choreography giving a new prominence to the choreographer and dancer actor This book discusses how these choreographers collaborated with directors like Vincente Minnelli and Stanley Donen and cinematographers like Gregg Toland musicians dancers designers and technicians to synergize music and moving image in new ways Eventually concepts and visual musical devices derived from dance making would give entire films the rhythmic flow and feeling of dance Dancing Americans came to be seen around the world as archetypal embodiments of the free spirited optimism and energy of America itself

The Classical Hollywood Cinema David Bordwell, Janet Staiger, Kristin Thompson, 2003-09-02 A dense challenging and important book Philip French Observer At the very least this blockbuster is probably the best single volume history of Hollywood we're likely to get for a very long time Paul Kerr City Limits Persuasively argued the book is also packed with facts figures and photographs Nigel Andrews Financial Times Acclaimed for their breakthrough approach Bordwell Staiger and Thompson analyze the basic conditions of American film making as a historical institution and consider to what extent Hollywood film production constitutes a systematic enterprise in both its style and its business operations Despite differences of director genre or studio most Hollywood films operate within a set of shared assumptions about how a film should look and sound Such assumptions are neither natural nor inevitable but because classical style films have been the type most widely seen they have come to be accepted as the norm of film making and viewing The authors show how these classical conventions were formulated and standardized and how they responded to the arrival of sound colour widescreen ratios and stereophonic sound They argue that each new technological development has served a function within an existing narrational system The authors also examine how the Hollywood cinema standardized the film making process itself They describe how over the course of its history Hollywood developed distinct modes of production in a constant search for maximum efficiency predictability and novelty Set apart by its combination of theoretical analysis and empirical evidence this book is the standard work on the classical Hollywood cinema style of film making from the silent era to the 1960s Now available in paperback it is a must for film students lecturers and all those seriously interested in the development of the film industry
