Magic, Science and Religion Bronislaw Malinowski, 2015-02-16 2015 Reprint of 1954 Edition Full facsimile of the original edition Not reproduced with Optical Recognition Software In his handling of science magic and religion Malinowski essentially accepted the traditional Western conception of a dual reality the reality of the natural world grounded in observation and rational procedures that lead to mastery and supernatural reality grounded in emotional needs that give rise to faith Unlike Frazer for example Malinowski derived science not from magic but from man's capacity to organize knowledge as demonstrated by Trobriand technical skills in gardening shipbuilding etc In contrast he treated magic which coexisted with these skills as an organized response to a sense of limitation and impotence in the face of danger difficulty and frustration Again he differentiated between magic and religion in defining magical systems as essentially pragmatic in their aims and religious systems as self fulfilling rituals organized for example around life crises      Magic, Science and Religion Bronislaw 1884-1942 Malinowski,2021-09-09 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant      Magic, Science and Religion Bronisław Malinowski,Robert Redfield,1948
