The Collected Poems of Langston Hughes Langston Hughes, 2020-12-31 The ultimate book for both the dabbler and serious scholar Hughes is sumptuous and sharp playful and sparse grounded in an earthy music This book is a glorious revelation Boston Globe Spanning five decades and comprising

868 poems nearly 300 of which have never before appeared in book form this magnificent volume is the definitive sampling of a writer who has been called the poet laureate of African America and perhaps our greatest popular poet since Walt Whitman Here for the first time are all the poems that Langston Hughes published during his lifetime arranged in the general order in which he wrote them and annotated by Arnold Rampersad and David Roessel Alongside such famous works as The Negro Speaks of Rivers and Montage of a Dream Deferred The Collected Poems includes the author's lesser known verse for children topical poems distributed through the Associated Negro Press and poems such as Goodbye Christ that were once suppressed Lyrical and pungent passionate and polemical the result is a treasure of a book the essential collection of a poet whose words have entered our common language From the Trade Paperback edition

Origins and Legacies of Marcel Duhamel's Série Noire Alistair Charles Rolls, Clara Dominique Sitbon, Marie-Laure Jacqueline Vuaille-Barcan, 2017-12-18 In Origins and Legacies of Marcel Duhamel's Série Noire Alistair Rolls Clara Sitbon and Marie Laure Vuaille Barcan counter the myths and received wisdom that are typically associated with this iconic French crime fiction series namely that it was born in Paris on a tide of postwar euphoria that it initially consisted of translations of American hard boiled classics by the likes of Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler and that the translations were rushed and rather approximate Instead an alternative vision of Duhamel's translation practice is proposed one based on a French tradition of auto or original translation of ostensibly American crime fiction and one that appropriates the source text in order to create an allegory of the target culture

How to Show Things with Words Rui Linhares-Dias, 2011-05-03 How to Show Things with Words is an interdisciplinary research study at the interface between linguistics and philosophy which sheds new light on the narrative theoretical issue of proximal vs distal stance adoption in discourse Narrative distance ultimately depends on the epistemological source of the information conveyed but English and other Indo European languages have no inflectional systems for encoding that source of knowledge To fill in the gap speech act theory is re considered in the light of philosophical research on linguistic functions and a parallel is drawn between grammaticalized evidential categories and the objectifying acts of Husserl's phenomenology of constitution. These intuitive vs. signitive intentional acts do indeed roughly correspond to direct vs. indirect evidentiary forms and can be inferred from the temporal perspectival organization of discourse by the so-called intimation or announcement function of language systems. It turns out that perspectival immediacy requires tenses with overlapping event and reference points but predictions of the sort are non-monotonic forms of reasoning defeasible by quantificational aspect distinctions on the one hand and inherent meaning considerations on the other. To substantiate this claim, the bulk of the book provides an in-depth formal semantic account of tense aspect and Aktionsart interwoven with a detailed analysis of the cognitive processes associated with eventuality description types. The book addresses an audience of linguists in general, formal semanticists, cognitive scientists, philosophers, and narratologists with an interest in natural language semantics.

Varieties of English Peter French, David Langford, 1993-05-11 This new edition of the best-selling topic-based introduction to spoken and written English is now fully revised and expanded with over 50% more material. This practical volume provides a wide range of written texts and transcriptions of speech for commentary and analysis. There are further practical activities and new sections on areas such as politically correct usage.

Publishing Africa in French Ruth Bush, 2016 The history of post-war writing in French has tended to separate African literature from French metropolitan literary production. The same separation resonates in today's global French literary marketplace still dominated by Parisian publishing houses and metropolitan literary kudos. This study historicises the aesthetic and socio-economic implications of that evident asymmetry. Archival research combines with literary analysis to explore the mediations that defined and legitimated notions of language, authorship and literary value during the decolonizing vingt glorieuses. Revealing known and less-known connections between institutions such as Pr sence Africaine, Editions du Seuil, Gallimard and the Association descrivains de la mer et de l'outre-mer, the author argues that a contested and variegated African literary presence was widely dispersed across the metropolitan publishing scene in this period. These material aspects of book production and distribution are inextricably entangled with ongoing debates over the representation of Africa in words. Authors whose work is considered in detail include Abdoulaye Sadj, Cheikh Hamidou Kane, Christine Garnier, Malick Fall, Chinua Achebe and Peter Abrahams. Publishing Africa in French uses an innovative interdisciplinary methodology to contribute fresh insights and new material to current concerns in French Studies, African Studies, the sociology of literature and book history.
