Mothers as Keepers and Tellers of Origin Stories Kerri S. Kearney, 2019-12-01 This collection presents diverse critical perspectives and discussion about the keeping or telling of children's origin stories as a part of contemporary mothering labor The first two sections outline perspectives from mother authors about how they strategically craft complex origin stories for their children as well as how the telling and retelling of origin stories may be passed on as generational knowledge The third section discusses mothering and origin stories from multiple perspectives that of a father by adoption of single mothers positioning stories of absent fathers and a multi perspective chapter that includes a mother by adoption her adult child and her child's birthmother Mothers, Midwives and Reimagining Birthing in the South Bronx Jennifer Dohrn, 2023-11-08 Women came through the doors at a community based birthing center in the South Bronx seeking prenatal care They had heard about the center from a neighbor a parents group at their children's school or the local mosque or church What they found when they arrived was a brightly colored waiting area that resembled a living room children immersed in games in a corner and staff that reflected the mosaic of cultures living in the surrounding apartments They also met midwives who asked about their lives their children their families and traditions If pregnancies developed complications back up obstetricians were there to give higher levels of care with the women returning to the midwifery center afterwards The results were healthy mothers and healthy babies For over twenty years the center became a haven for women s health care and a national exemplar It is a tragic and unjust paradox that the United States the highest income country in the world and the country with the largest budget for perinatal care has rising rates of maternal mortality that disproportionately affect women of color Yet an inner city maternity center with midwifery care found solutions to the challenge of making birth safe for low income populations especially women of color This oral history presents the stories of twelve women who participated in this care As they tell it the experience changed their lives and their understanding of what safe quality maternal care can achieve Jennifer Dohrn examines the systems that perpetuate disparities in care from global to local and describes essential components needed for change using oral histories as evidence for the way forward towards maternal health as a human right

Becoming Women/Becoming Workers Catherine Raissiguier, 1994-09-08 This book traces the experiences of young French and Algerian women students in a Parisian vocational school how they negotiate their class gender and ethnic racial identities in relation to school family romance and future work in a changing and unpromising economy Drawn from classroom observations and personal interviews the book provides a theoretical framework for analyzing the complex network of cultural and historical discourses limitations and expectations that form the students present lives and future outlook The author links the micro and macro levels of her analysis by grounding her study in the nature of the French school the discursive boundaries of French society and the volatile French economy The book contributes to an overall understanding of the processes of identity formation class race ethnicity and gender intersections and women s responses to schooling and education

Raising the Race Riché J. Daniel Barnes, 2015-12-01 Winner of the 2017 Race Gender and Class Section Book Award from the American Sociological Association Popular discussions of professional women often dwell on the conflicts faced by the woman who attempts to have it all raising children while climbing up the corporate ladder Yet for all the articles and books written on this subject there has been little work that focuses on the experience of African American professional women or asks how their perspectives on work family balance might be unique Raising the Race is the first scholarly book to examine how black married career women juggle their relationships with their extended and nuclear families the expectations of the black community and their desires to raise healthy independent children Drawing from extensive interviews with twenty three Atlanta based professional women who left or modified careers as attorneys physicians executives and administrators anthropologist Rich J Daniel Barnes found that their decisions were deeply rooted in an awareness of black women s historical struggles Departing from the possessive individualistic discourse of having it all the women profiled here think beyond their own situation considering ways their decisions might help the entire black community Giving a voice to women whose perspectives have been underrepresented in debates about work family balance Barnes s profiles enable us to perceive these women as fully fledged individuals each with her own concerns and priorities Yet Barnes is also able to locate many common themes from these black women s experiences and uses them to propose policy initiatives that would improve the work and family lives of all Americans evangelical churches the number of religiously unaffiliated young adults grows Is the drift because of politics personal morality rebelliousness culture wars or something else In this project 16 young adults from the Churches of Christ participate in qualitative interviews over a five year span They describe messages they learned about success and survival from their faith communities as children and how they have embraced and reinterpreted those messages into helpful life principles as adults The resulting study explores issues of ethnicity in evangelical borderland communities and contrasts Latinx narratives with white narratives in religious and educative contexts Findings also revealed gendered narratives class based narratives and the glaring absence of helpful narratives around sexuality filtered through the lenses of religion and education The central finding of the interviews is this participants experienced the Church of Christ as rewarding conformity with community a strategy when it works which secures the future of the denomination and cements a conservative doctrine in the next generation of leadership However the study concludes that true survival narratives were the narratives participants constructed in response to the narratives provided by Churches of Christ
