fascinating array of diaries and memoirs of forty niners who set out from Salt Lake City toward California's gold fields over the Old Spanish Trail. For many would be gold miners this dry dangerous route was preferable to crossing the Sierra Nevada. The Donner party disaster was only three years old and fresh in the minds of many. In reality the choice of the southern route did not ease travelers' efforts. The unremitting heat and lack of water killed more people and animals than the snows of the mountains. Jacob Stover's narrative provides fine descriptions of these challenges especially the difficulty in transporting supplies. Of added interest is the journal of Henry Bigler a former member of the Mormon Battalion who was the first person to record Marshall's discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill.

Medicine in the Old West Jeremy Agnew, 2010-04-23. The healing arts as practiced in the Old West often meant the difference between life and death for American pioneers. Whether the challenge was sickness an Indian arrow a gunshot wound or a fall from a horse a pioneer in the western territories required care for medical emergencies but often had to make do until a doctor could be found. This historical overview addresses the perils to health that were present during the expansion of the American frontier and the methods used by doctors to treat and overcome them. Numerous black and white photographs are provided as well as a glossary of medical terms. Appendices list commonly used drugs and typical surgical instruments from the 1850-1900 era.
