Morrow-Howell, Ada Mui, 2014-06-11 Productive Ageing is the involvement of older adults in society through employment volunteering caregiving education and skill building In 2020 there will be 248 million people in China aged 60 and over At the same time the birth rate continues to drop and family structures are being transformed In the face of such pressing demographic challenges the productive engagement of older adults is a clear cut strategy to strengthen families and communities while simultaneously promoting the health of older adults From a human capital perspective an ageing population represents resources to address societal needs and the active engagement of older adults can enhance and maintain the physical mental and cognitive health of the older adults The challenge is to develop policies that support productive engagement and implement evidence based programs that create opportunities for older adults in active engagement in the community Contributions of older adults will be necessary for social and economic development of families communities and society Productive Engagement in Later Life covers the 2009 China conference on productive aging and discusses how to initiate and build productive aging agenda in China and around the globe This book was originally published as a special issue of China Journal of Social Work Leisure and the Motive to Volunteer: Theories of Serious, Casual, and Project-Based Leisure Robert A. Stebbins, 2015-10-29

Volunteering and its nonprofit organizations have commonly been analyzed in economic terms with volunteering being referred to as unpaid productive work This economic definition has been around far longer than that of volunteering conceived of as leisure which is discussed as the volitional definition By means of a lengthy literature review this book sets out the theoretical and empirical contributions of the serious leisure perspective to understanding volunteer motivation This second approach began more than 40 years ago It answers the key motivational question of why people engage in unpaid productive work laborious or not Since in this conception payment in cash or in kind is not an incentive to perform such work what encourages people to volunteer The serious leisure perspective unlike mainstream economics can shed considerable light on this question
