On Improvisation Nine Conversations With Roberto Ciulli:

On Improvisation Robert Ciulli, Malgorzata Bartula, Stefan Schroer, 2003 Roberto Ciulli is one of the most exciting and provocative theatre directors of our time In these conversations he expounds the transformative ideas on theatrical improvisation which have challenged actors and audiences alike to rethink what they understand the nature of theatre practice to be Using examples from more than twenty years of innovative performances with the Theater an der Ruhr he describes the workshop process the long term personal commitment and the political and aesthetic concepts driving his view of theatre as an agent of social change His pioneering espousal of internationalisation as a basic principle of contemporary theatre work has won him great acclaim particularly for his intercultural Silk Road Project with theatre companies in Central Asia These conversations have been translated by Geoffrey Davis who teaches at the University of Aachen Crossover

Preaching Jared E. Alcántara, 2015-10-08 In our increasingly pluralistic and multicultural society there is a need for preaching that is capable of crossing cultural boundaries and engaging multiple contexts Jared Alcántara's exciting new work proposes an intercultural and improvisational account of preaching in conversation with the legacy of Gardner C Taylor

The Cambridge Introduction to Theatre Directing Christopher Innes, Maria Shevtsova, 2013-05-02 The director was fundamental to the development of modern theatre This Introduction explores the emergence of the director's artistic force

The Wooster Group and Its Traditions Johan Callens, 2004 This is the first collection of critical essays to appear about the Wooster Group Since the 1970s this groundbreaking New York based performance company has led the way in crystallizing the conditions of contemporary stage practice at the intersection of several cultural and artistic traditions As demonstrated by the assembled critics each of them an authority in the field these traditions extend into the past as well as into the future through the Wooster Group's impact on the latest generation of performance artists The company's consequent institutionalization is posited and challenged in the essays constituting Part I of the collection Part II tackles the work in progress mapping its idiomatic stage vocabulary and providing case studies ranging from Frank Dell's The Temptation of St Antony to To You The Birdie Ph dre Part III presents productions by kindred artists such as Elevator Repair Service the Builders Association Cannon Company and Richard Maxwell Lavishly illustrated with photographs this collection should prove invaluable to anyone with an interest in the current theatrical scene and its place in the wider institutional artistic and historical contexts Mnemopoetics Valérie Bada, 2008 From its very beginning African American drama has borne witness to the creative power of the slaves to maintain their human dignity as well as to fashion a complex culture of survival If the memory of slavery has always been at the heart of the African American theatrical tradition it is the way in which it is processed and inscribed that has developed and is still changing Through the close reading and socio historical analysis of eight plays from 1939 to 1996 the author seeks to unravel the fluctuating patterns in the shaping of the theatrical memory of slavery long after its abolition To do so she defines the concept and practice of mnemopoetics as the making of memory through imagination as well as the critical approaches that decipher and interpret cultural productions of memory. As a constellation of processes akin to the fluidity of memory mnemopoetics blends creative representation and critical exploration to suggest that the cultural creation of memory necessarily entails a self reflexive involvement with its own interpretation. If slavery embodies the deep foundational memory of America African American drama represents the open communal space where it becomes possible to convert the irretrievable nature of a vicarious past into the redeeming function of a collective memory.

Labyrinth of Hybridities Marc Maufort, 2010 Taking its cue from Eugene O'Neill's questioning of faithful realism voiced by Edmund Tyrone in Long Day's Journey into Night this book examines the distant legacy of the Irish American playwright in contemporary multiethnic drama in the U.S. It explores the labyrinth of formal devices through which African American Latina o First Nations and Asian American dramatists have unconsciously reinterpreted O'Neill's questioning of mimesis. In their works hybridizations of stage realism function as aesthetic celebrations of the spiritual potentialities of cultural in betweenness. This volume provides detailed analyses of over forty plays authored by such key artists as August Wilson Suzan Lori Parks Jos Rivera Cherr e Moraga Hanay Geiogamah Diane Glancy David Henry Hwang and Chay Yew to give only a few prominent examples. All in all Labyrinth of Hybridities invites its readers to reassess the cross cultural patterns characterizing the history of twentieth century American drama.

International Dramaturgy Maya E. Roth, Sara Freeman, 2008 This collection provides the first full length investigation of the oeuvre of one of Britain's leading dramatists Timberlake Wertenbaker. By considering the polyglot playwright's theatre from translations and adaptations to new plays as a dynamic continuum of translations and transformations Maya Roth and Sara Freeman create an intriguing focused frame for understanding Wertenbaker's work as distinctly cross cultural theatrically rich and intertextual providing a prescient case study of the translational turn emerging in international theatre today. The contributors investigate translation theory and practice through Wertenbaker's diverse linguistic and genre translations from French ancient Greek and Italian to English and from myth history classics fairytale and literature to the stage. Interrelated chapters by scholars and artists from varied countries language traditions and disciplines use performance studies comparative literature feminist theory and cultural anthropology to position Wertenbaker's theatre as a critical nexus for analyzing and imagining cross historical dialogues with contemporary audiences and our plural legacies. Thanks to its substantive engagement with the ethics theories and collaborative practices of theatrical translation and adaptation more broadly and its equally rigorous examination of Wertenbaker's hybridic politics and poetics this collection can serve as a useful resource for scholars and artists both.

Performing Aotearoa Marc Maufort, David O'Donnell (MA.), 2007 This volume comprises a wide range of chapters focusing on key figures in the development of New Zealand theatre and drama such as among others Robert Lord Ken Duncum Gary Henderson Stephen Sinclair Hone Kouka Briar Grace Smith Jacob Rajan Lynda Chanwai Earle Nathaniel Lees and Victor Rodger. Signatures of the Past Marc Maufort, Caroline De Wagter, 2008 In the last decades of the twentieth century North American drama has powerfully enacted the problematic notions of cultural memory and identity as the essays assembled in this critical anthology demonstrate Echoing Derrida's non essentialist interpretation of the term signature this collection provides an innovative focus on North American theatre and drama as a site of latent cultural memories In this volume the concept of cultural memory offers a privileged vantage point from which to redefine issues of diasporic identities exilic predicaments and multi ethnic subject positions at the dawn of a new century Playwrights examined here include noted Canadian and US artists such as Marie Clements Eva Ensler Lorraine Hansberry Tomson Highway Cherríe Moraga Djanet Sears Guillermo Verdecchia August Wilson and Chay Yew to cite but a few In the process of remembering North American dramatists develop new aesthetic modes in which the signatures of the past merge with the present and foreshadow an imagined future

Applied Theatre James Thompson, 2003 This book explores the practice of theatre in communities social institutions and with marginalised groups It shifts between context and country to examine different ways that theatre has been applied to a wide range of social issues Theatre projects in Brazil Burkina Faso Sri Lanka and the UK are analysed to argue for a complex and questioning view of the practice Initiatives in prisons development contexts war situations and participatory research projects become the sites to interrogate the claims that applied theatre can be a theatre for social change Many practitioners and researchers who have witnessed powerful applied theatre projects nonetheless struggle to articulate the reasons why the projects were successful This book uses the questions inspired by that perplexity to create a case for applied theatre as a major area of contemporary theatre practice

Performing care Amanda Stuart Fisher, James Thompson, 2020-03-26 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This edited collection brings together essays presenting an interdisciplinary dialogue between theatre and performance and the fields of care ethics care studies health and social care The book advances our understanding of performance as a mode of care challenging existing debates in this area by re thinking the caring encounter as a performed embodied experience and interrogating the boundaries between care practice and performance Through an examination of a wide range of different care performances drawn from interdisciplinary and international settings the book interrogates how performance might be understood as caring or uncaring careless or careful and correlatively how care can be conceptualised as artful aesthetic authentic or even fake and staged
