Art and Belief Ema Sullivan-Bissett, Helen Bradley, Paul Noordhof, 2017-10-20 Art and Belief presents twelve new essays at the intersection of philosophy of mind and philosophy of art particularly to do with the relation between belief and truth in our experience of art Several contributors discuss the cognitive contributions artworks can make and the questions surrounding these Can authors of fiction testify to their readers If they can are they culpable for the false beliefs of their readers formed in response to their work If they cannot that is if the testimonial powers of authors of fiction are limited is there some non testimonial epistemic role that fiction can play And in any case is such a role relevant when determining the value of the work Also explored are issues concerned with the phenomenon of fictional persuasion specifically what is the nature of the attitude involved in such cases those in which we form beliefs about the real world in response to reading fiction If these attitudes are typically unstable unjustified and unreliable does this put pressure on the view that they are beliefs If these attitudes are beliefs does this put pressure on the view that all beliefs are aimed at truth The final pair of papers in the volume take different stances on the nature of aesthetic testimony and whether testimony of this kind is a legitimate source of beliefs about aesthetic properties and value
