On Essence:

Lovers in Essence Sharon Krishek, 2022 Romantic love is a defining phenomenon in human existence and an object of heightened interest for literature art popular culture and psychology But what is romantic love and why is it typically experienced as so significant to our existence Using central ideas from the philosophy of S ren Kierkegaard as well as engaging with contemporary discussions in the philosophy of love this book explores the nature of romantic love and philosophically substantiates its meaningfulness to an individual s life It does so by developing a connection between love and selfhood here explained in terms of one s distinct individuality To be a self it is claimed is to possess a name that is an individual essence Further the book argues it is when we love that we regard people by their names we respond to who they truly are Accordingly the idea anchoring the book is that love is a correspondence between essences if Jane loves Edward she responds to him being who he is by virtue of her being who she is The conception of being thus correspondent has important implications as to the moral and spiritual value of romantic love Relying on Kierkegaard s analysis of the self of faith and of love even if sometimes in a way that departs from Kierkegaard s explicit position the book explores these implications By doing this it construes romantic love as a desirable phenomenon emotionally morally and spiritually

Byzantine Orthodoxies Andrew Louth, Augustine Casiday, 2006 The Byzantine Empire the Christianized Roman Empire very soon defined itself in terms of correct theological belief orthodoxy The terms of this belief were hammered out for the most part by bishops but doctrinal decisions were made in councils called by the Emperors many of whom involved themselves directly in the definition of orthodoxy Iconoclasm was an example of such imperial involvement as was the final overthrow of iconoclasm That controversy ensured that questions of Christian art were also seen by Byzantines as implicated in the question of orthodoxy The papers gathered in this volume derive from those presented at the 36th Spring Symposium of Byzantine Studies Durham March 2002 They discuss how orthodoxy was defined and the different interests that it represented how orthodoxy was expressed in art and the music of the liturgy and how orthodoxy helped shape the Byzantine Empire's sense of its own identity an identity defined against the other Jews heretics and especially from the turn of the first millennium the Latin West These considerations raise wider questions about the way in which societies and groups use world views and issues of belief

Aristotle's Theory of Substance Michael V. Wedin, 2000-06-15 Aristotle's views on the fundamental nature of reality are usually taken to be inconsistent The two main sources for these views are the Categories and the central books of the Metaphysics particularly book Zeta In the early theory of the Categories the basic entities of the world are concrete objects such as Socrates Aristotle calls them primary substances But the later theory awards this title to the forms of concrete objects Michael Wedin proposes a compatibilist solution to this long standing puzzle arguing that Aristotle is engaged in quite different projects in the two works The theory of Metaphysics Zeta is meant to explain central features of the standing doctrine of the Categories and so presupposes the essential truth of the early theory The Categories offers a theory of underlying ontological configurations while book Zeta gives form the status of primary substance because it is primarily the form of a concrete object that explains its nature and this form is the substance of the object So when the late theory identifies primary substance with form it appeals to an explanatory primacy that is quite distinct from the ontological primacy that dominates the Categories Wedin's new interpretation thus allows us to see the two treatises as complementing each other they are parts of a unified history of substance

Maurice R. Holloway, George Klubertanz, 2023-07-24 The subject of this book is metaphysics Aristotle called it first philosophy by this term he and St Thomas Aquinas mean the full philosophical treatment of being and its Cause of Being and God Metaphysics begins with the beings of experience Its preliminary concern is with the beings of direct experience not with concepts not with emotions or guesses no matter how noble not with some logical pre conditions of experience often dignified with the impressive term a priori conditions In the beings of experience and there only we find what being is and by an inductive analysis we come to know its intrinsic and extrinsic principles as well as its common attributes But metaphysics in its full sense is more than an immanent metaphysics as some recent philosophers would wish it to be the principles the metaphysician finds in the beings of experience lead him beyond experience Medical Summary ,1883
