Sense Of An Interior Four Writers And The Rooms That Shaped Them:

The Sense of an Interior Diana Fuss, 2004-08-02 The Sense of an Interior is a fascinating exploration of domestic space and of the ways it determines how writers work The book looks at four famous figures Emily Dickinson Sigmund Freud Helen Keller and Marcel Proust and examines the relationship between their work and the spaces where they wrote The Sense of an Interior Diana Fuss, 2004 Fuss brings us across the writer's threshold opening a door onto the hidden world where literature is produced These private home theaters for the rehearsal of language are each organized around a particular sensory challenge Dickinson who confined herself to the family homestead in Amherst suffered from periodic bouts of blindness Freud's famous consulting room in Vienna was arranged to compensate for his deafness in one ear Keller's home in Easton Connecticut became a place of danger and injury as old age and eczema gradually dulled her sensitivity to touch And Proust literary history's most acclaimed asthmatic distanced the bedroom of his Paris apartment from the odors of kitchen and courtyard to protect his delicate sense of smell BOOK JACKET

Interior Design Since 1900 (Fourth) (World of Art) Anne Massey, 2020-04-14 Newly updated and overflowing with color this well established history of interior design describes and illustrates each movement and change in taste throughout the twentieth century Interior design experienced an extraordinary amount of changes in taste and style during the twentieth century From William Morris and the Arts and Crafts movement to expressionism postmodernism and green design Interior Design Since 1900 charts them all Featuring more than two hundred color illustrations of interiors from around the world this book reveals the fundamental changes in style that occurred throughout the century The 1900s saw the emergence of professional designers and a growing appetite to redesign homes to keep up with popular fashion In recent decades the focus has shifted toward public spaces and sustainable design In this survey Anne Massey explores the social political economic and cultural contexts of these developments This book has been a classic introduction to interior design for almost thirty years The new fourth edition is brought up to date with a chapter on transnational design encompassing midcentury modernist work in Singapore and Sri Lanka as well as more recent interior spaces including luxury hotels in Dubai and a contemporary art museum in Cape Town Through this book Massey shows how a shared language of design and cutting edge technology are reshaping interiors around the globe

Interiors and Narrative Estela Vieira, 2012-12-17 Interiors and Narrative shows how crucial interiors are for our understanding of the nature of narrative A growing cultural fascination with interior dwelling so prevalent in the late nineteenth century parallels an intensification of the rhetorical function interior architecture plays in the development of fiction The existential dimension of dwelling becomes so intimately tied to the novelistic project that fiction surfaces as a way of inhabiting the world This study illustrates this through a comparative reading of three realist masterpieces of the Luso-Hispanic nineteenth century Machado de Assis's Quincas Borba 1891 Eça de Queirós's The Maias 1888 and Leopoldo Alas's La Regenta 1884 1885 The first full length study to juxtapose the renowned writers Interiors and Narrative analyzes the authors spatial poetics while offering new readings of their work The book explores the important links between interiors and narrative by explaining how rooms furnishings and homes function as metaphors for the writing of the narrative reflecting on the complex relation between private dwellings and human interiority and arguing that the interior design of rooms becomes a language that gives furnishings and decorative objects a narrative life of their own The story of homes and furnishings in these narratives creates a semiotic language that both readers and characters rely on in order to make sense of fiction and reality

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019-08-13 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods Transatlantic Literature and Author Love in the Nineteenth Century Paul Westover, Ann Wierda Rowland, 2016-09-22 This book is about Anglo American literary heritage It argues that readers on both sides of the Atlantic shaped the contours of international English in the 1800s expressing love for books and authors in a wide range of media and social practices It highlights how in the wake of American independence the affection bestowed on authors who became international objects of celebration and commemoration was a major force in the invention of transnational English literature the popular canon defined by shared language and tradition While love as such is difficult to quantify and recover the records of such affection survive not just in print but also in other media in monuments in architecture and in the ephemera of material culture Thus this collection brings into view a wide range of nineteenth century expressions of love for literature and its creators Lives of Houses Kate Kennedy, Hermione Lee, 2022-04-12 Notable writers including UK poet laureate Simon Armitage Julian Barnes Margaret MacMillan and Jenny Uglow celebrate our fascination with the houses of famous literary figures artists composers and politicians of the past What can a house tell us about the person who lives there Do we shape the buildings we live in or are we formed by the places we call home And why are we especially fascinated by the houses of the famous and often long dead In Lives of Houses notable biographers historians critics and poets explore these questions and more through fascinating essays on the houses of great writers artists composers and politicians of the past Editors Kate Kennedy and Hermione Lee are joined by wide ranging contributors including Simon Armitage Julian Barnes David Cannadine Roy Foster Alexandra Harris Daisy Hay Margaret MacMillan Alexander Masters and Jenny Uglow We encounter W H Auden living in joyful squalor in New York's St Mark's Place and W B Yeats in his flood prone tower in the windswept West of Ireland We meet Benjamin Disraeli struggling to keep up appearances and track the lost houses of Virginia Woolf and Elizabeth Bowen We visit Benjamin Britten in Aldeburgh England and Jean Sibelius at Ainola Finland But Lives of Houses also considers those who are unhoused unwilling or unable to establish a home from the bewildered poet John Clare wandering the byways of England to the exiled Zimbabwean writer Dambudzo Marechera living on the streets of London With more than forty illustrations Lives of Houses illuminates what houses mean to us and how we use them to connect to and think about the past The result is a fresh and engaging look at house and home Featuring Alexandra Harris on moving house Susan Walker on Morocco's ancient Roman House of Venus Hermione Lee on biographical quests for writers' houses Margaret MacMillan on her mother's Toronto house a poem by Maura Dooley Visiting Orchard House Concord Massachusetts the house in which Louisa May Alcott wrote and set her novel Little Women Felicity James on William and Dorothy Wordsworth's Dove Cottage Robert Douglas Fairhurst at home with Tennyson David Cannadine on Winston Churchill's dream house Chartwell Jenny Uglow on

Urban Phantasmagorias Iulia Stătică, 2023-11-30 Urban Phantasmagorias examines the legacies of socialist housing in the city of Bucharest during the period of communist rule in Romania The book explores the manner in which the socialist state reconfigured the city through concrete acts of demolition and construction as well as indirectly through legal frameworks aimed at the regulation of women's reproductive agency in an attempt to materialize its idea of modernity It follows the effects of this state agenda with a focus on the period between 1965 and 1989 through an investigation of the transformations representations meanings and uses of domestic spaces The book draws on Walter Benjamin's concept of phantasmagoria which provides a critical framework through which it articulates the dynamic relationship between ideology architecture and everyday practices and reassesses their impact upon individual subjectivity and agency The woman emerges as a central subject of the book upon whom the phantasmagoric effects of the socialist state's modernizing agenda have an acute impact at the level of lived domesticity and everyday life Through a focus on the lived experiences of women the book illuminates the prismatic effect of the state's infrastructural and legal intentions including the ways in which these were subverted through women's lived bodily experiences of the home The book establishes both theoretically and through the concrete case of the city of Bucharest the methodological significance of Benjamin's notion of phantasmagoria as an epistemological approach to a modern communist cityscape Urban Phantasmagorias is an important contribution to scholarship in architectural history and theory urban and gender studies and post socialist and Eastern European studies
