Sepik River Societies A Historical Of The Chambri And Their Neighbors:

Sepik River Societies Deborah B. Gewertz, 1983 Twisted Histories, Altered Contexts Deborah B.

Gewertz, Frederick K. Errington, 1991-06-13 Deborah Gewertz and Frederick Errington have worked as anthropologists in Papua New Guinea for nearly two decades In this their second joint study of the Chambri they consider the way those in a small scale society peripheral to the major centres of influence struggle to sustain some degree of autonomy They describe the Chambri caught up in world processes of social and cultural change and attempt to create a collective biography which conveys the intelligibility and significance of the twentieth century experience of these Papua New Guineans whom they have come to know well This biography consists of interlocking stories twisted histories commentaries and contexts about Chambri who are negotiating their objectives while entangled in systemic change and confronting Western representations of modernization and development Identity Through History Geoffrey M. White, 1991 For people who live in small communities transformed by powerful outside forces narrative accounts of culture contact and change create images of collective identity through the idiom of shared history How may we understand the processes that make such accounts compelling for those who tell them Why do some narratives acquire a kind of mythic status as they are told and retold in a variety of contexts and genres Identity Through History attempts to explain how identity formation developed among the people of Santa Isabel in the Solomon Islands who were victimised by raiding headhunters in the nineteenth century and then embraced Christianity around the turn of the century Making innovative use of work in psychological and historical anthropology Geoffrey White shows how these significant events were crucial to the community's view of itself in shifting social and political circumstances

Beyond the Second Sex Peggy Reeves Sanday, Ruth Gallagher Goodenough, 1990

Addresses the conflict contradictions and ambiguities that are often encountered in field research A Witch's Hand William E. Mitchell, 2024-05-29 William E Mitchell revisits his early fieldwork with a three part study of the history of colonial rule in Papua New Guinea From 1971 to 1972 William E Mitchell undertook fieldwork on suffering and healing among the Lujere of Papua New Guinea's Upper Sepik River Basin At a time when it was not yet common to make colonial agencies a subject of anthropological study Mitchell carefully located his research on Lujere practices in the framework of a history of colonization that surrounded the Lujere with a shifting array of Western institutions dramatically changing their society forever Mitchell's work has been well known among anthropologists of Oceania but the material in this book has remained unpublished until now In this major new work Mitchell revisits his early fieldwork with a three part study of the history of colonial rule in the region the social organization of Lujere life at the time and the forms of affliction witchcraft and curing that preoccupied them Furthermore Mitchell offers the first sweeping cross cultural survey of sanguma magical murder in Oceania The book presents a vivid portrait of a society that has since changed dramatically as well as an approach to anthropology that was typical of the era This is a significant contribution to the ethnography of Papua New Guinea and is sure to be an invaluable source for researchers of Melanesia medical anthropologists and scholars of kinship myth and ritual

Archaeology, Anthropology and Cult Thomas Evan Levy, 2016-09-17 The Chalcolithic period was formative in Near Eastern prehistory being a time of fundamental social change in craft specialization horticulture and temple life Gilat a low mound semi communal farming settlement in the Negev desert is one of the few Chalcolithic sanctuary sites in the Southern Levant Archaeology Anthropology and Cult presents a critical analysis of the archaeological data from Gilat The book brings together archaeological finds and anthropological theory to examine the role of religion in the evolution of society and the power of ritual in promoting change This comprehensive volume which includes artefact drawings photographs maps and data tables will be of interest to students and scholars of ancient history anthropology archaeology as well as biblical and religious studies

Comparing the Worth of the While in Fiji and Finland Matti Eräsaari, 2023-07-19 Clock time which denotes particular ways of valuing temporal duration is typically associated with monetary worth or labour Comparing the Worth of the While in Fiji and Finland however employs unique methodologies and case studies from Fiji and Finland to reconsider the wide range of values that it is capable of expressing

Kinship, Networks, and Exchange Thomas Schweizer, Douglas White, Douglas R. White, 1998-06-13 This collection of articles aims at revitalizing the study of kinship and exchange in a social network perspective It brings together studies of empirical systems of marriage and descent with investigations of the flow of material resources in societies of Africa Asia the Pacific and Europe Restudies of classic ethnographic cases and fieldwork studies of kinship and exchange demonstrate how the social and material aspects of society are related and address issues of concern to anthropology and the neighbouring disciplines of history sociology and economics This book marks the emergence of an era in the study of kinship and exchange using a productive combination of ethnographic substance with formal methods one which leaves behind older structural functionalist and culturalist assumptions

Island Rivers John R. Wagner, Jerry K. Jacka, 2018-06-19 Anthropologists have written a great deal about the coastal adaptations and seafaring traditions of Pacific Islanders but have had much less to say about the significance of rivers for Pacific island culture livelihood and identity The authors of this collection seek to fill that gap in the ethnographic record by drawing attention to the deep historical attachments of island communities to rivers and the ways in which those attachments are changing in response to various forms of economic development and social change In addition to making a unique contribution to Pacific island ethnography the authors of this volume speak to a global set of issues of immense importance to a world in which water scarcity conflict pollution and the degradation of riparian environments afflict growing numbers of people Several authors take a political ecology approach to their topic but the emphasis here is less on hydro politics than on the cultural meaning of rivers to the communities we describe How has the cultural significance of rivers shifted as a result of colonisation development and nation building How do people whose identities are fundamentally rooted in their relationship to a particular river renegotiate that relationship when the river is dammed to generate hydro power or polluted by mining activities How do blockages in the flow of rivers and underground springs interrupt the intergenerational transmission of local ecological knowledge and hence the ability of local communities to construct collective identities rooted in a sense of place Growing Artefacts, Displaying Relationships Ludovic Coupaye, 2013-08-01 What gives artefacts their power and beauty This ethnographic study of the decorated long yams made by the Nyamikum Abelam in Papua New Guinea examines how these artefacts acquire their specific properties through processes that mobilise and recruit diverse entities substances and domains All come together to form the finished product that is displayed representing what could be an indigenous form of non verbal sociology Engaging with several contemporary anthropological topics material culture techniques arts aesthetics rituals botany cosmology Melanesian ethnography the text also discusses in depth the complex position of the study of technology within anthropology Fracturing Resemblances Simon Harrison, 2006-12-01 Western societies draw crucially on concepts of the individual in constructing their images of the ethnic group and nation and define these in terms of difference This study explores the implications of these constructs for Western understanding of social order and ethnic conflicts Comparing them with the forms of cultural identity characteristic of Melanesia as they have developed since pre colonial times the author arrives at a surprising conclusion he argues that these kinds of identities are more properly and adequately viewed as forms of disguised or denied resemblance and that it is these covert commonalities that give rise to and prolong social divisions and conflicts between groups Of Canoes and Crocodiles Tony

Robinson-Smith, 2024-08-22 Of Canoes and Crocodiles is a story of adventure in the remote and threatened landscapes of Papua New Guinea In 2018 Tony Robinson Smith and his wife Nadya Ladouceur bought dugout canoes and paddled down the Sepik the country's longest river Traveling with local guides and staying in their villages Tony and Nadya ate smoked piranha and sago pancakes heard tales of river gods and sorcerers marvelled at rainbow bee eaters and cat size flying foxes sank in a tropical storm got lost in mosquito infested swamplands and hid from pirates in mangroves near the sea As the narrative follows the bends of the river Robinson Smith incorporates into its flow descriptions of crocodile initiation rites village big men the barter system raskolism and sing sings He reflects on clan loyalty colonization Christian missionaries bride price the environmental impacts of foreign logging and mining and the joys and fears of following the current down a long snaky jungle river in a volatile Melanesian country What Gifts Engender Rena Lederman, 1986 Gift exchange plays a crucial role in the social and political organization of Mendi in Papua New Guinea This book reveals how considerable light can be shed on Mendi society particularly on its political economy by examining both the well known ceremonial exchange festivals and the hitherto relatively little studied everyday gift giving practices The author shows that the latter are crucial for understanding inter group politics the process of leadership male female relationships and the status of women and the production distribution and circulation of wealth Currently the only book available on this society the work offers an unusual combination of a social structural analysis with a study of local history and change It is also of interest for its integration of the study of gift exchange and politics with the study of gender roles and relationships Gender Rituals Nancy Lutkehaus, Paul Roscoe, 2013-09-13 This volume draws together ethnographies of female initiation rites in Melanesia which require anthropologists to rethink their analysis of initiations and their perceptions of gender The contributors argue that female initiation rites express more than cultural notions of femininity narrow definitions of reproduction or coming of age rituals instead they play an important role in other life cycle rituals and in the political and economic organization of society

Barter, Exchange and Value Caroline Humphrey, Stephen Hugh-Jones, 1992-06-11 This novel treatment of barter represents a topical addition to the literature on economic anthropology Engaging with Capitalism Fiona McCormack, Kate Barclay, 2013-05-14 The volume addresses how capitalism has been very effective in generating wealth and technological innovation but has also been associated with social inequity and environmental damage Its inherent flaws have been highlighted by the escalation of ecological problems arising from growth oriented capitalism and various economic crises A History of the Pacific Islands Deryck Scarr, 2013-12-16 A book about the past and present Pacific Islands wide ranging in time and space spanning the centuries from the first settlement of the islands until the present day Cultural Identity and Ethnicity in the Pacific Jocelyn Linnekin, Lin Poyer, 1990-01-01 Partial Connections Marilyn Strathern, 2005-03-22 Updated with a new Preface this seminal work challenges the routine ways in which anthropologists have thought about the complexity and quantity of their materials Marilyn Strathern focuses on a problem normally regarded as commonplace that of scale and proportion She combines a wide ranging interest in current theoretical issues with close attention to the cultural details of social life attempting to establish proportionality between them Strathern gives equal weight to two areas of contemporary debate The difficulties inherent in anthropologically representing complex societies and the future of cross cultural comparison in a field where too much seems known The ethnographic focus of this book emphasizes the context through which Melanesianists have managed the complexity of their own accounts while at the same time unfolding a commentary on perception and the mixing of indigenous forms Revealing unexpected replications in modes of thought and in the presentation of ambiguous images Strathern has fashioned a unique contribution to the anthropological corpus This book was originally published under the sponsorship of the Association for Social Anthropology in Oceania

Return from the Natives Peter Mandler, 2013-05-07 DIV Celebrated anthropologist Margaret Mead who studied sex in Samoa and child rearing in New Guinea in the 1920s and 30s was determined to show that anthropology could tackle the psychology of the most complex modern societies in ways useful for waging the Second World War This fascinating book follows Mead and her closest collaborators her lover and mentor Ruth Benedict her third husband Gregory Bateson and her prospective fourth husband Geoffrey Gorer through their triumphant climax when Mead became the cultural ambassador from America to Britain in 1943 to their downfall in the Cold War Part intellectual biography part cultural history and part history of the human sciences Peter Mandler's book is a reminder that the Second World War and the Cold War were a clash of cultures not just ideologies and asks how far intellectuals should involve themselves in politics at a time when Mead's example is cited for and against experts involvement in Iraq and Afghanistan div
