Encyclopedia of American Literature of the Sea and Great Lakes Jill B. Gidmark, 2000-11-30 The sea and Great Lakes have inspired American authors from colonial times to the present to produce enduring literary works This reference is a comprehensive survey of American sea literature The scope of the encyclopedia ranges from the earliest printed matter produced in the colonies to contemporary experiments in published prose poetry and drama The book also acknowledges how literature gives rise to adaptations and resonances in music and film and includes coverage of nonliterary topics that have nonetheless shaped American literature of the sea and Great Lakes The alphabetical arrangement of the reference facilitates access to facts about major literary works characters authors themes vessels places and ideas that are central to American sea literature Each of the several hundred entries is written by an expert contributor and many provide bibliographical information While the encyclopedia includes entries for white male canonical writers such as Herman Melville and Jack London it also gives considerable attention to women at sea and to ethnically diverse authors works and themes The volume concludes with a chronology and a list of works for further reading Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1978 The Legacy of the Great War Jay Winter, 2009-10-26 In late 2007 and early 2008 world renowned historians gathered in Kansas City for a series of public forums on World War I Each of the five events focused on a particular topic and featured spirited dialogue between its prominent participants In spontaneous exchanges the eminent scholars probed each other's arguments learned from each other and provided insights not just into history but also into the way scholars think about their subject alongside and at times in conflict with their colleagues Representing a fourth generation of writers on the Great War and a transnational rather than an international approach prominent historians Niall Ferguson and Paul Kennedy Holger Afflerbach and Gary Sheffield John Horne and Len Smith John Milton Cooper and Margaret MacMillan and Jay Winter and Robert Wohl brought to the proceedings an exciting clash of ideas The forums addressed topics about the Great War that have long fascinated both scholars and the educated public the origins of the war and the question of who was responsible for the escalation of the July Crisis the nature of generalship and military command seen here from the perspectives of a German and a British scholar the private soldiers' experiences of combat revealing their strategies of survival and negotiation the peace making process and the overwhelming pressures under which statesmen worked and the long term cultural consequences of the war showing that the Great War was great not merely because of its magnitude but also because of its revolutionary effects These topics continue to reverberate and in addition to shedding new light on the subjects these forums constitute a glimpse at how historical writing happens American society did not suffer the consequences of the Great War that virtually all European countries knew a lack of perspective that the National World War I Museum seeks to correct This book celebrates that effort helping readers feel the excitement and the moral seriousness of historical scholarship in this field and drawing more Americans into considering how their own history is part of this story
