Love and Loss - Volume Two Betty Hibod,2024-11-26 Many books have been written as histories recounting events that shaped the life of a group society nation or civilization or as biographies recounting events and achievements relating to one person s life and work Many books have been written putting forth ideas philosophies and words of wisdom to live by Some of these we call holy books or scripture Fewer books have been written like this one which go behind the scenes of history lay bare the feelings behind the philosophies and document the painful and joyful inner path along which historical events and philosophical ideas emerge This book is intensely even shockingly personal not clinical or abstract or detached It is an intimate detailed sensual and sometimes disturbing account of a life lived on the cusp that bridges time and eternity Its focus is narrow it does not reveal much at all about anyone s visible public life or accomplishments but it explores in great depth the invisible contents of minds hearts and souls The scriptures and scriptural commentaries of most religions describe a path to salvation or bliss and provide instructions or guideposts for moving along the path but they are still only theoretical hypothetical mythical or metaphorical accounts This book seeks to show how the theories and hypotheses play out pragmatically in real time and space how the myths come alive in flesh and spirit how the metaphors become the very things they symbolize How does daily life look from inside someone in the throes of awakening How does she know who or what she is How is her destiny revealed How do seemingly ordinary mundane events become miracles This book begins to answer those questions

Iterations of Loss Jeffrey Sacks, 2015-02-25. In a series of exquisite close readings of Arabic and Arab Jewish writing, Jeffrey Sacks considers the relation of poetic statement to individual and collective loss, the dispossession of peoples and languages, and singular events of destruction in the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first centuries. Addressing the work of Mahmoud Darwish, Ahmad Faris al-Shidyaq, Elias Khoury, Edmond Amran El-Maleh, Shimon Ballas, and Taha Husayn, Sacks demonstrates the reiterated incursion of loss into the time of life, losses that language declines to mourn. Language occurs as the iteration of loss, confounding its domestication in the form of the monolingual state in the Arabic nineteenth century's fallout. Reading the late lyric poetry of the Palestinian poet Mahmoud Darwish in relation to the destruction of Palestine in 1948, Sacks reconsiders the nineteenth-century Arabic nahda and its relation to colonialism, philology, and the European Enlightenment. He argues that this event is one of catastrophic loss, wherein the past suddenly appears as if it belonged to another time. Reading al-Shidyaq's al-Saq al-ala al-saq 1855 and the legacies to which it points in post-1948 writing in Arabic

Hebrew and French Sacks underlines a displacement and relocation of the Arabic word adab and its practice offering a novel contribution to Arabic and Middle East Studies critical theory poetics aesthetics and comparative literature Drawing on writings of Jacques Derrida Walter Benjamin Avital Ronell Judith Butler Theodor Adorno and Edward W Said Iterations of Loss shows that language interrupts its pacification as an event of aesthetic coherency to suggest that literary comparison does not privilege a renewed giving of sense but gives place to a new sense of relation
