cherished foods as a way to recall childhood memories the events that caused them to emigrate and their efforts to assimilate the bitter along with the sweet For a delicious introduction to the immigrant experience in America I can't think of a better starting point than Breaking Bread Marion Nestle author of What to Eat and Food Politics Good ol' home cooking that's not chicken and apple pie A feast of stories and flavors Amy Tan author of The Joy Luck Club and The Bone Setter's Daughter What's so lovely to me about this book is hearing the actual voices of the people and the unpredictable way their conversations about food capture life issues and truths that extend far beyond the kitchen More than ever it seems critical to be finding and celebrating what we have in common and the connections between people Nikki Silva co author of Hidden Kitchens Stories Recipes and More from NPR's The Kitchen Sisters Breaking Bread throws open a delightful window on the immigrant kitchen in America capturing the voices traditions and yes recipes of a couple dozen different food cultures in a single volume Michael Pollan author of The Omnivore's Dilemma and In Defense of Food In 25 deeply moving first person accounts from a wide range of immigrant families each one sensitively introduced by the author Lynne Anderson takes us straight to the heart of our common humanity Sharing food and stories are what bind us all across differences in time space culture gender and identity Apart from being an important cultural document Breaking Bread is a rich wisdom packed experience for the scholar for the casual reader and for all cooks who demand more than just recipes Niloufer Ichaporian King author of My Bombay Kitchen C like Chef Christian Graninger, 2013-12-20 C like Chef a new cookery book launched in August 2013 C is also for Christian Graninger the Austrian born man who has collected this wonderful collection of recipes And C is for Clonakilty the beautiful place where he lived C is for computers which you would have needed to see Christian's recipes up until now He's been compiling these delicious delicacies on his blog for some time but as he admits it's difficult to hold a computer while cooking C is for Can I eat it now Christian's recipes range from Austrian Food to Chinese specialities and Cornbread from Paraguay C is for catastrophes you don't need to be a cookery genius to cook this food In fact Christian shares a few kitchen disasters to cheer you up And C is for community Christian put this book together with the proof reading and recipe testing talents of members affiliated with the Clonakilty Favour Exchange Recipe testing That sounds like a difficult job Well you can try it yourself if you purchase C like Chef Food and the Self Isabelle de Solier, 2013-10-10 We often hear that selves are no longer formed through producing material things at work but by consuming them in leisure leading to meaningless modern lives This important book reveals the cultural shift to be more complex demonstrating how people in postindustrial societies strive to form meaningful and moral selves through both the consumption and production of material culture in leisure Focusing on the material culture of food the book explores these theoretical questions through an ethnography of those individuals for whom food is central to their self foodies It examines what foodies do and why they do it through an in depth study of their lived experiences The book uncovers how food offers a means of shaping the self not as a consumer but as an amateur who engages in both the production and consumption of material culture and adopts a professional approach which reveals the new moralities of productive leisure in self formation The chapters examine a variety of practices from fine dining and shopping to cooking and blogging and include rare data on how people use media such as cookbooks food television and digital food media in their everyday life This book is ideal for students scholars and anyone interested in the meaning of food in modern life Garden of Eve Mary A.
