Sensation, Perception and Action Johannes Zanker,2010-03-02 With a style that is both detailed and accessible this new text from Johannes Zanker provides students with a solid understanding of how our sensory and perceptual systems operate and interact with a dynamic world It not only explains the scientific mechanisms involved but discusses the costs and benefits of these mechanisms within an evolutionary functional framework to encourage important questions such as What is a given sensory mechanism needed for What kind of problem can it solve and what are its limitations How does the environment determine how senses operate How does action affect and facilitate perception This unique interdisciplinary framework allows students to see perceiving and acting as embedded in particular environments and directs them to think about the functional nature of these systems The overall effect is an especially readable authoritative text on Sensation Perception and Action that really brings this fascinating topic to life Tales of the Teahouse Retold

Katherine Liang Chew,2002 Tales of the Teahouse Retold is based on the author s original translation of Feng Shen Yan Yi an important volume of Chinese mythology first published during the Ming Dynasty 1368 1644 It is the story of the overthrow the Shang Dynasty circa 1766 1122 BC and the founding of the Chou Dynasty 1122 249 BC Combining historical facts folklore mythology and legends these tales describe a time when gods and men beasts and monsters and spirits and specters mingled with each other in peace and war The saga begins when King Zhou of Shang offends the Snail Goddess who sends three specters to bewitch the king in retribution The kingdom falls into chaos and civil war ensues with gods and other supernatural beings taking sides In the end many of the slain heroes are invested as gods For centuries the tale was told in successive story telling sessions as teahouse entertainment The author has faithfully kept to the original style and ambience in retelling these tales Tales of the Teahouse Retold will be of interest to fans of oriental mythology philosophy and literature It is suitable for recreational reading as well as supplemental reading for students of Chinese history and culture

Trout,2011-11-15 In this illuminating and evocative exploration of the origin and function of storytelling the author goes beyond the work of mythologist Joseph Campbell arguing that mythmaking evolved as a cultural survival strategy for coping with the constant fear of being killed and eaten by predators Beginning nearly two million years ago in the Pleistocene era the first stories Trout argues functioned as alarm calls warning fellow group members about the carnivores lurking in the surroundings At the earliest period before the development of language these rudimentary stories would have been acted out When language appeared with the evolution of the ancestral human brain stories were recited memorized and much later written down as the often bone chilling myths that have survived to this day This book takes the reader through the landscape of world mythology to show how our more recent ancestors created myths that portrayed animal predators in four basic ways as monsters as gods as benefactors and as role models Each incarnation is a variation of the fear management technique that enabled early humans not only to survive but to overcome their potentially incapacitating fear of predators In the final chapter Trout explores the ways in which our visceral fear of predators is played out in the movies where both animal and human predators serve to probe and revitalize our capacity to detect and survive danger Anyone with an interest in mythology archaeology folk tales and the origins of contemporary storytelling will find this book an exciting and provocative exploration into the natural and psychological forces that shaped human culture and gave rise to storytelling and mythmaking
