Main Streets Of Tomorrow Growing And Financing Rural Entrepreneurs:

Main Streets of Tomorrow Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. Center for the Study of Rural America, 2003 Rural America is on the frontier of a new economy Entrepreneurs are crucial to claiming that frontier as enormous changes sweep through other traditional rural industries like agriculture and manufacturing While rural America has a long and proud heritage of entrepreneurship its future is not guaranteed Economic development in rural places often has depended on a host of subsidies The huge sums that are spent on industrial recruitment are but one example of how current policies overlook entrepreneurs How can public policy help make rural America a more entrepreneurial place What steps are needed to spur new businesses and then nurture them into strong growing companies Main Streets of Tomorrow Growing and Financing Rural Entrepreneurs brought together rural leaders and experts from throughout the nation to answer these questions The conference was hosted by the Bank's Center for the Study of Rural America in Kansas City on April 28-29 2003 Conference participants agreed that entrepreneurship is the new focal point for rural development While programs aimed at business innovation are neither easy nor a quick fix they do hold great promise in helping rural regions unlock new economic potential We trust that these proceedings will help to inform the unfolding dialogue on growing more businesses on Main Street

Kandel,David L. Brown,2006-10-12 CALVIN L BEALE In considering how to introduce the subject of rural population change in st the 21 Century I nd myself reflecting on my own experience as a demographer for the U S Department of Agriculture When I arrived at the Department the post World War II modernization of farming was well under way Each year my colleague Gladys Bowles and I had the unpopular task of announcing how much the farm population had decreased in the prior year It was hard to say that the phenomenon was someone's fault Dramatic reductions in labor requirements per unit of agricultural output were occurring everywhere and not just in the United States But politically blame had to be assigned and whichever political party was not in the White House was certain to place the blame squarely on the current administration The demographic consequences of this trend were major In a 22 year period from 1941 to 1962 the net loss of farm population from migration and cessation of farming averaged over a million people per year It took eight years after the war before an administration was willing to begin to talk about the need to diversify rural employment By that time farm residents had already become a minority of rural people However well into the 1970s I continued to receive inquiries from people who still equated rural with farm or who could not envision what rural nonfarm people did for a living
