Greene, 1990-11-28 This collection of papers presents ideas and research that helps to find a link between the retarded child s educational setting and the onset of delinquency The first section presents the impacts of the judicial system on the mentally retarded offender and researcher attempts to find a relationship between intelligence and delinquency The second section deals with the legal mandates such as P L 94 142 and the parameters that schools much comply with the ensure that every student regardless of his her handicap receives a free and appropriate education Finally the last section focuses upon some of the methods currently being used by school districts to comply with P L 94 142 and presents a case study that amplifies the need for schools to identify and nurture exceptional children      Mainstreaming of Children in Schools Phillip S. Strain, Mary Margaret Kerr, 1981      Mainstreaming and the Minority Child Gerry Mandell, 1975      The Politics of Hispanic Education Kenneth J. Meier, Joseph Stewart Jr., 1991-02-07 This is the first systematic study of the politics of second generation discrimination against Hispanic students Despite the fact that Hispanics are the second largest and fastest growing minority in the United States little attention has been paid to the efforts of Hispanics to achieve equal educational opportunity Quantitative historical and legal analysis are used to examine the access of Hispanic students to equal educational opportunities in school districts throughout the U S      Foundations of Bilingual Education and Bilingualism Colin Baker, 2011 Written as an introductory text from a crossdisciplinary perspective this book covers individual and societal concepts in minority and majority languages      Language Use in Interlingual Families Masayo Yamamoto, 2001 This book introduces the way languages are used in Japanese English interlingual families in Japan and explains what factors influence their language choice with the aim of arriving at a predictive model of language use It also proposes a taxonomy of interlingual family types and a typological model of language use      English as a Second Language in the Mainstream Constant Leung, Christine Davison, Bernard Mohan, 2014-07-15 Since it was first established in the 1970 s the Applied Linguistics and Language Study series has become a major force in the study of practical problems in human communication and language education Drawing extensively on empirical research and theoretical work in linguistics sociology psychology and education the series explores key issues in language acquisition and language use English as a Second Language learners are now a considerable and increasing part of the mainstream of urban schools in English speaking countries Beyond the learning of English this development raises broader questions of language as a medium of education in a multilingual multicultural environment Drawing on their experience as researchers and educators in Australia Canada and England the authors of English as a Second Language in the Mainstream present an up to date account of advances in theory and practice Their analysis of system wide provision however suggests that a truly responsive educational vision is lacking government policy is inadequate educational practices for ESL students are either underdeveloped or poorly coordinated with practices for other students and the rhetoric of reform fails to engage significantly with issues of teaching and resources The authors argue towards a more comprehensive vision which can acknowledge the relation between issues concerning ESL students and issues concerning the educational system as a whole which can coordinate reforms in ESL education with general reforms which can explicitly and systematically integrate language learning and content learning and which can build more positively on the multilingual and multicultural nature of modern education for all students

Muslim Uyghur Students in a Chinese Boarding School Yangbin Chen,2008-05-29 One of the most controversial policies in Chinese minority education concerns the so called inland ethnic minority schools or classes in Han inhabited areas in China Since 2000 boarding Xinjiang Classes have been established in the eastern cities of China for high school students from the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region in order to educate young Uyghur and other ethnic minority students through the national curricula Although the Xinjiang Classes are supposed to promote ethnic integration between the Muslim Uyghur minority and the Han majority there often remains a gap between the stated policy goal and its actual implementation Guided by the theoretical framework of social capital analysis this book therefore examines how Uyghur students in the Xinjiang Classes respond to the school goal of ethnic integration Chen conceptualizes the process of Uyghur students responses to the school goal of ethnic integration as social recapitalization While their former social capital from families or communities in Xinjiang is constrained in the boarding school Uyghur youths are able to develop independent and new social capital to facilitate their schooling Nonetheless they lack bridging social capital which makes the goal of ethnic integration more difficult to achieve
