H. Nasr,Mehdi Aminrazavi,2014-11-17 Persia is home to one of the few civilizations in the world that has had a continuous tradition of philosophical thought lasting more than two and a half millennia From the time Zoroaster brought the Gathas the sacred scripture of Zoroastrianism until today it has had a philosophical tradition comprising diverse schools and various languages including Avestan and Pahlavi as well as Arabic and Persian The West has seen surveys of Persian art and anthologies of Persian literature but this work is the first to present a millennial tradition of philosophy in Persia in the form of translated selections and introductory sections for each period and figure Existing translations have been used where possible but most of the selections have been newly translated for this work which with the help of the explanatory introductions makes possible an intellectual journey into a philosophical continent much of which has been uncharted for Westerners until now The fifth and final volume of An Anthology of Philosophy in Persia deals with some seven centuries of Islamic thought stretching from the era following the Mongol invasion to the end of the Qajar period Organized around the cities which became the main centres of philosophical activity during this long period the volume is divided into three parts The School of Shiraz whose importance not only for Persia but also for Ottoman Turkey and Muslim India is only now being recognized The School of Isfahan which marks the integration of some eight centuries of Islamic thought and culminates with Mulla Sadra and finally The School of Tehran where traditional philosophy first encountered modern thought in Persia bringing this series into present times Self-Awareness in Islamic Philosophy Jari Kaukua,2015-01-01 This important book investigates the emergence and development of a distinct concept of self awareness in post classical pre modern Islamic philosophy Jari Kaukua presents the first extended analysis of Avicenna s arguments on self awareness including the flying man the argument from the unity of experience the argument against reflection models of self awareness and the argument from personal identity arguing that all these arguments hinge on a clearly definable concept of self awareness as pure first personality He substantiates his interpretation with an analysis of Suhraward s use of Avicenna s concept and Mull Sadr s revision of the underlying concept of selfhood The study explores evidence for a sustained pre modern and non Western discussion of selfhood and self awareness challenging the idea that these concepts are distinctly modern European concerns The book will be of interest to a range of readers in history of philosophy history of ideas Islamic studies and philosophy of mind The American Journal of Islamic Social Sciences ,2004
