Moscow Performances John Freedman, 2005-08-04 The reviews and features collected in John Freedman's Moscow Performances bring to life the diversity energy and imagination of Russian theater as few books have done before While focusing on the work of Moscow's leading directors Pyotr Fomenko Kama Ginkas Valery Fokin Anatoly Vasilyev Konstantin Raikin Sergei Zhenovach Yury Lyubimov and many others also included in its review are key productions by many of the renowned guests who bring their art to the Russian capital Essays on St Petersburg's Lev Dodin of the Maly Drama Theatre Lithuania's Eimuntas Nekrosius Georgia's Robert Sturua and Germany's Peter Stein confirm that Moscow's position as a theatrical mecca has not diminished since Anatoly Lunacharsky coined the phrase in the 1920s In addition to recording Freedman's immediate and opinionated responses to Moscow stage developments in the 1990s Moscow Performances contains a wealth of information about the struggles and occasional triumphs of a new generation of talented but as yet unknown playwrights the successes of the best actors and the social and financial trends which have had such an impact on Russian theatre in the post Soviet period

History and Film Maarten Pereboom, 2016-09-13 The ability to view recorded moving pictures has had a major impact on human culture since the development of the necessary technologies over a century ago For most of this time people have gone to the movies to be entertained and perhaps edified but in the meantime television the videocassette recorder VCR the digital versatile disk DVD player the personal computer desktop and laptop the internet and other technologies have made watching moving pictures possible at home in the classroom and just about anywhere else Today moving images are everywhere in our culture Every day moving picture cameras record millions of hours of activity human and otherwise all over the world your cell phone makes a little video of your friends at a party the surveillance camera at the bank keeps an eye on customers journalists shoulder carried cameras record the latest from the war zone and across the world film artists work on all kinds of movies from low budget independent projects to the next big budget Hollywood blockbuster Moving pictures have had a great influence on human culture and this book focuses on using moving images as historical evidence Studying history means examining evidence from the past to understand interpret and present what has happened in different times and places We talk and write about what we have learned hoping to establish credibility both for what we have determined to be the facts and for whatever meaning or significance we may attach to our reconstruction of the past Studying history is a scientific process involving a fairly set methodology We tend to favor written sources and we have tended to favor writing as a means of presenting our views of the past But historians also use all kinds of other documents and artifacts in their work of interpreting the past including moving pictures

Before the Fall Anna Lawton, 2010-09-09 An expanded edition of Kinoglasnost that examines the fascinating world of Soviet cinema during the years of glasnost and perestroika in the 1980s In Before the Fall Anna Lawton shows how the reforms that shook the foundations of the Bolshevik state and affected economic and social structures have been reflected in the film industry A new added chapter provides a commentary on the dramatic changes that marked the beginning of democracy in Russia Soviet cinema has always been closely connected with national political reality challenging the conventions of bourgeois society and educating the people In this pioneering study Lawton discusses the restructuring of the main institutions governing the industry the abolition of censorship the emergence of independent production and distribution systems the dismantling of the old bureaucratic structures and the implementation of new initiatives She also surveys the films that remained unscreened for decades for political reasons films of the new wave that look at the past to search out the truth and those that record current social ills or conjure up a disquieting image of the future What makes Kinoglasnost pre eminent among current studies of the subject is that sustained attention Lawton pays to changes in the formal organization of Soviet cinema and in the cinema industry Julian Graffy Sight and Sound The author constructs a complex multilayered narrative of a steady and significant movement toward radical change in Soviet society an account of the growing anxiety and the hope experienced by Russian filmmakers and the intelligentsia Ludmila Z Pruner Slavic and East European Journal Twenty-One Landmark European Films 1939-1999 Bert Cardullo, 2015-04-01 The essays in this insightful film analysis text show cover twenty one of the best European films made between the coming of World War II and the end of the twentieth century showing what makes each of them outstanding These essays are clear and readable that is sophisticated and meaty yet not overly technical or jargon heavy They will make perfect introductions to their respective films as well as important contributions to the field of film studies in general Written with university students in mind these essays cover some of the central films treated and central issues raised in today s cinema courses and provide students with practical models to help them improve their own writing and analytical skills A list of questions for discussion is included to trigger further thinking among film buffs and to help educators prepare for class The book is aimed at students teachers and cinephiles with an interest in European cinema in particular and cinema studies in general as well as at those educated readers with an interest in the practice of film analysis and criticism The only competition comes from Stanley Kauffmann s relatively brief Ten Great Films 136 pp 2012 The current work offers twenty one illustrated essays Kauffmann s book contains no images and focuses on Europe The countries represented are France Italy England Hungary Belgium Sweden Scotland Denmark Russia Spain Germany Scotland and Finland Twenty One Landmark European Films 1939 1999 overlaps with Kauffmann s book only in the case of L'avventura though the two approach this film from vastly different angles Moreover the book provides a complete critical apparatus notes bibliographies credits and filmographies whereas Kauffmann s has none This book could be one of the primary texts for courses in film analysis to accompany a work like Timothy Corrigan s A Short Guide to Writing about Film 8th edition 2011 It would also be a suitable supplementary or secondary text in such courses as Introduction to Film or Film Appreciation Western European Cinema History of Film or Global Cinema and Film Directors or Film Style and Imagination Russian Cinema David C. Gillespie, 2014-09-25 Russian Cinema provides a lively and informative exploration of the film genres that developed during Russia s tumultuous history with discussion of the work of Eisenstein Pudovkin Mikhalkov Paradzhanov Sokurov and others The background section assesses the contribution of visual art and music especially the work of the composers Shostakovich and Prokofiev to Russian cinema Subsequent chapters explore a variety of topics The literary space the cinematic rendering of the literary text from Sovietized versions to bolder and more innovative interpretations as well as adaptations of foreign classics The Russian film comedy looks at this perennially popular genre over the decades from the domestication of laughter under Stalin to the emergence of satire The historical film how history has been used in film to affirm prevailing ideological norms from October to Taurus Women and Russian film discusses some of the female stars of the Soviet screen Liubov Orlova Vera Alentova Liudmila Gurchenko as well as films made by male and female directors such as Askoldov and Kira Muratova Film and ideology shows why ideology was an essential component of Soviet films such as The Maxim Trilogy and how it was later definitively rejected The Russian war film looks at Civil War and Second World War films and the post Soviet treatment of recent conflicts in Afghanistan and Chechnya Private life and public morality explores the evolution of melodramas about youth angst town and village life personal relationships and the emergence of the dominant sub genre of the 1990s the gangster thriller Autobiography memory and identity offers a close reading of the work of Andrei Tarkovskii Russia s greatest post war director whose films including Andrei Rublev and Mirror place him among the foremost European auteur film makers Russian Cinema offers a close analysis of over 300 films illustrated with representative stills throughout As with other titles in the Inside Film series it includes comprehensive filmographies a thorough bibliography and an annotated further reading list The book is a jargon free accessible study that will be of interest to undergraduates of film studies modern languages Russian language and literature as well as cineastes film teachers and researchers
