Olorgesailie Glynn Llywelyn Isaac, Barbara Isaac, 1977 The Archaeology of Human Origins Glynn Llywelyn Isaac, 1989 A collection of the most influential papers of the late Glynn Isaac Handbook of Pleistocene Archaeology of Africa Amanuel Beyin, David K. Wright, Jayne Wilkins, Deborah I. Olszewski, 2023-08-17 This handbook showcases an Africa wide compendium of Stone Age archaeological sites and methodological advances that have improved our understanding of hominin lifeways and biogeography in the continent The focal time spans the Pleistocene Epoch c 2.5 million 11 700 years ago during which important human traits such as obligate bipedalism that freed the hands to engage in creative activities a large brain relative to body size language and social complexity developed in the general forms that they are found today The handbook is the first of its kind and it is expected to play a significant role in human evolutionary research by Collating the African Stone Age record which exists in a fragmented state along the lines of national boundaries and colonial experiences Showcasing emerging conceptual and methodological advances in African Pleistocene archaeology Providing reference datasets for teaching and researching African prehistory Making Africa's Stone Age record accessible to researchers and students based in Africa who may not have access to journal publications where most new field discoveries are published The Handbook features 128 chapters of which 116 are site entries grouped by the host countries and presented in an alphabetical order A number of those site related entries examine multiple archaeological localities lumped under specific projects or study areas The rest of the contributions deal with methodological topics such as luminescence and radiocarbon dating field data recovery lithic analysis micromorphology and hominin fossil and zooarchaeological records of Pleistocene Africa The introductory chapter provides an historical overview of the development of Stone Age Paleolithic archaeology in Africa beginning in the mid 19th century and paleoenvironmental and chronological frameworks commonly used to structure the continent's Pleistocene record By making a good amount of African Stone Age literature accessible to researchers and the public we wish to promote interest in human evolutionary research in the continent and elsewhere Awarded the 2025 The Best Book Award by The Society of Africanist Archaeologists Landscapes of Human Evolution James Cole, John McNabb, Matt Grove, Rob Hosfield, 2020-02-13 Fourteen papers are presented here in honour of John Gowlett John has a wide range of research interests primarily focused on the human genus Homo and is a world leader in understanding the cognitive and behavioural preconditions necessary for the emergence of complex behaviours such as language and art The Origins of Religion in the Paleolithic Gregory J. Wightman, 2014-12-18 How did religion emerge and why What are the links between behavior environment and religiosity Diving millions of years into the past to a time when human ancestors began grappling with issues of safety worth identity loss power and meaning in complex and difficult environments Gregory J Wightman explores the significance of goal directed action and the rise of material culture for the advent of religiosity and ritual The book opens by tackling questions of cognitive evolution and group psychology and how these ideas can integrate with archaeological evidence such as stone tools shell beads and graves In turn it focuses on how human ancestors engaged with their environments how those engagements became routine and how eventually certain routines took on a recognizably ritualistic flavor Wightman also critically examines the very real constraints on drawing inferences about prehistoric belief systems solely from limited material residues Nevertheless Wightman argues that symbolic objects are not merely illustrative of religion but also constitutive of it in the continual dance between brain and behavior between internal and external environments lie the seeds of ritual and religion Weaving together insights from archaeology anthropology cognitive and cultural neuroscience history and philosophy of religions and evolutionary social and developmental psychology Wightman provides an intricate evidence based understanding of religion s earliest origins

Population Studies of Plio-Pleistocene Theropithecus William Eric Meikle, 1983

Ancestral Passions Virginia

Morell, 2011-01-11 This biography of the First Family of anthropology reveals how their discoveries collaborations and rivalries contributed to our own knowledge of the origins of humankind In this fascinating and authoritative work acclaimed science writer Virginia Morell brings to vivid life the famous and infamous Leakey family pioneers in the field of paleoanthropology Louis Leakey the patriarch who persisted through initial scientific failures and scandal ridden divorce to achieve spectacular success in digs throughout East Africa Mary his second wife who worked alongside Louis as they made their outstanding discoveries at Olduvai Gorge and elsewhere and Richard their son who ascended to the top of the field in his parents wake only to be threatened with both near fatal illness and fierce professional rivalry Morell transports us into the world of these compelling personalities demonstrating how a small clan of highly talented and fiercely competitive people came to dominate an entire field of science and to contribute immeasurably to our understanding of the origins of humanity

Landscape of the Mind John F. Hoffecker, 2011-05-31 In Landscape of the Mind John F Hoffecker explores the origin and growth of the human mind drawing on archaeology history and the fossil record He suggests that as an indirect result of bipedal locomotion early humans developed a feedback relationship among their hands brains and tools that evolved into the capacity to externalize thoughts in the form of shaped stone objects When anatomically modern humans evolved a parallel capacity to externalize thoughts as symbolic language individual brains within social groups became integrated into a neocortical Internet or super brain giving birth to the mind Noting that archaeological traces of symbolism coincide with evidence of the ability to generate novel technology Hoffercker contends that human creativity as well as higher order consciousness is a product of the superbrain He equates the subsequent growth of the mind with human history which began in Africa more than 50 000 years ago As anatomically modern humans spread across the globe adapting to a variety of climates and habitats they redesigned themselves technologically and created alternative realities through tools language and art Hoffercker connects the rise of civilization to a hierarchical reorganization of the super brain triggered by explosive population growth Subsequent human history reflects to varying degrees the suppression of the mind s creative powers by the rigid hierarchies of nationstates and empires constraining the further accumulation of knowledge The modern world emerged after 1200 from the fragments of the Roman Empire whose collapse had eliminated a central authority that could thwart innovation Hoffercker concludes with speculation about the possibility of artificial intelligence and the consequences of a mind liberated from its organic antecedents to exist in an independent nonbiological form
