The Liberal Magazine ,1923

Lessons from the process of government formation after the 2010 general election Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Political and Constitutional Reform Committee,2011-01-28 In this report the Political and Constitutional Reform Committee gives its assessment of the process of government formation following the May 2010 general election In general the committee finds that the process went well but it also suggests some practical improvements and clarifications Among the key findings is that clearer guidance is still needed on the circumstances under which a Prime Minister should resign and when he has a duty to remain in office The report also proposes enhanced processes for ensuring that governments understand and are discouraged from breaching restrictions on their activity that apply before and immediately after general elections The committee concludes that as a coalition government s programme for government cannot be put directly to the people the House of Commons needs to have the opportunity to subject these proposals to full pre legislative scrutiny      Government Formation in Central and Eastern Europe Dorothea Keudel-Kaiser,2014-12-15 The formation of governments without a majority in parliament is a counterintuitive albeit empirically relevant phenomenon minority governments make up about one third of all governments in Europe The author offers an analysis of the conditions leading to the formation of minority governments in Central and Eastern Europe and provides the reader with a detailed overview of the processes underlying the formation of governments from the early 1990s up to 2010      Coalition Mark Oaten,2007 Lessons from history are drawn together by Mark Oaten as he looks forward to the next election and reflects on whether hung parliaments and coalitions can ever work      Mao's Road to Power Stuart Schram,Timothy Cheek,Roderick MacFarquhar,2015-07-16 This eighth volume covers the period 1942 to 1945 when Mao asserted his status as the incarnation and symbol of the Chinese Revolution and the sinification of Marxism Leninism      Smaller Government Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Public Administration Select Committee,Bernard Jenkin,2011 In this report the Public Administration Select Committee PASC argues that the Government appoints too many ministers and should reduce their number by the middle of the Parliament As it devolves real power and responsibility to local communities And following the decision to cut the number of MPs in the House of Commons from 650 to 600 The Committee finds further scope for reductions 141 MPs are currently on the payroll vote as ministers or their Parliamentary aides If this number remains static at the same time as MPs are cut it will effectively increase the payroll vote further strengthening the Executive at the expense of Parliament PASC urges three steps on the Government to reduce this power of patronage The current legal cap on the number of paid ministers should set the absolute limit the legal limit on the number of ministers in the Commons should be cut by eight the number of PPSs should be limited to one per department a reduction of 26 The report recommends a review of ministerial numbers to reflect the smaller government Ministers time is not always well spent and the report identifies a number of ways in which the Government could therefore refocus ministers work and make them more effective The Committee believes it should ultimately be possible to cut the number of ministers to a total of 80 shared between the Commons and the Lords      China's Quest John W.
