On Doing Time:

Doing Time United States. Congress. House. Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. Subcommittee on Federal Workforce, Postal Service, and the District of Columbia, 2009 Rhymes for Doing Time James Perkins, 2023-10-11

Rhymes for Doing Time provides a unique opportunity to use real life situations that come up every day in prison or upon release to help a prisoner develop a closer walk with God and to make their time easier knowing that they may be just an inmate to the guards or even to the world but they are or can become a child of the Most High God The book has a page for every day and is formatted so that it describes a situation that happened to a prisoner describing how he or she reacted to different situations that came up Then it shows a situation that happened to a person or persons in the Bible and then it draws a practical or a spiritual application between the two It gives people a chance to realize that the Bible is living and practical and it shows them that the same God back in Bible times hasn't changed one bit The book also has inspirational poems that were written by the author to uplift his friends They are perfect for prisoners to send to their families in cards and letters for everything from birthdays to holidays Doing Time Jack N. Lawson, 2010-08-19

Doing Time is the compelling true to life story of a young woman Annabel Lee who is wrongly convicted and imprisoned for a crime committed by her wayward husband Beginning before her birth the story opens in the rural American South of the 1950s and tracks the brutal relationship into which Annabel Lee is born As she grows Annabel Lee cannot escape the cycle of violence and abuse that surrounds her Naively she elopes with her teenaged lover in the vain hope for an escape from her cruel past only to discover that she has entered upon an equally harrowing stint in a women's prison In the unlikely fellowship behind bars and through her relationships with inmates staff and particularly the prison's chaplain Annabel Lee courageously moves from the scarred existence as a victim to the life of a survivor Filled with the local color of life in rural North Carolina between the 1950s and 1970s Doing Time is a poignant and at times humorous story of multi generational trauma and abuse and the journey of the human spirit to healing and redemption Doing Time Lee Carruthers, 2016-06-06

Proposes that cinematic time is not a fixed idea but a dynamic exchange between film and viewer Doing Time addresses two areas of interest in recent film study film temporality and film philosophy to propose an innovative theorization of cinematic time that sees it as a dynamic process of engagement or something we do as viewers This active relation to cinematic time which discloses a film's temporal character is called its timeliness Here it is traced across a range of fascinating case studies from Hollywood and the global art cinema uncovering each film's characteristic way of doing time Throughout the ambiguities of filmic time are held as powerful attractions as they modulate film viewing such pauses gaps repetitions and stretches of time illuminate a living field that extends from viewing activity Drawing on the writings of French film critic and theorist Andr  Bazin as well as the phenomenology of Martin Heidegger and Maurice Merleau-Ponty Lee Carruthers forwards a claim about the value of cinematic time for thinking She also raises the tasks of film analysis and interpretation to renewed visibility By prioritizing the viewer's experience of filmic temporality and offering a rich vocabulary for describing this exchange Carruthers articulates a new sphere of theoretical inquiry that invites film viewers and readers to participate Lee Carruthers makes an original and powerful argument about the importance of timeliness providing a much needed alternative approach to that of Deleuze to thinking seriously about the temporality of cinema Her chapters including one on The Tree of Life are masterful criticism William Rothman author of Must We Kill the Thing We Love Emersonian Perfectionism and the Films of Alfred Hitchcock

Doing Time A. R. Johnson, 2022-09-15 Doing Time opens the prison doors to take you on a journey behind the razorwire through the genuine gritty reality of life Inside Follow a light hearted and often hilarious guide as you learn to see and navigate the scenes of incarceration from angles you didn't even know were there A must read for those currently Inside or with a loved one serving time true crime fans and anyone interested in criminal justice Doing Time R. Matthews, 1999-07-09 This book is designed to acquaint students with some of the main issues associated with the emergence and development of the modern prison It draws on a range of sociological theorising in order to analyse the organisation and the functioning of the prison It examines the conditions for the expansion of the prison and explores the possibilities for limiting prison use through the development of alternatives to custody In particular it looks in some detail at the relation between imprisonment and class age gender and race

Doing Time on the Outside MaDonna Rose Maidment, 2006-01-01 Doing Time on the Outside fills a gap in the research by focusing on the experiences of women on conditional release and attempting to understand how some criminalized women avoid going back into custody given the many challenges they face

Doing Time Bell Gale Chevigny, 2011-11-01 A special collection of the best fiction essays poetry and plays from annual PEN Prison Writing contest offers unique insights into the emotions and thoughts engendered by the prison experience ranging from humor and empathy to rage fear and despair 15 000 first printing

Doing Time Lonnie Starling, 2008-10 This volume describes the day to day lives of prisoners in the Florida State correctional system and also those who risk their lives guarding them The author and former prison guard describes the violence and other drama that goes on behind the locked doors of the penal system He writes of the rules of survival that every inmate must learn to live to live by He describes his job as a prison guard and his learning of the signs signals and codes the inmates use in order to ensure his safety and that of the other guards He recounts emergency calls acts of heroism hostage situations fire and murders as well as one man's story of how he was hired from his delivery truck and thrown into a life threatening career

Doing Time on the Outside Donald Braman, 2007-08-06 Stigma shame and hardship this is the lot shared by families whose young men have been swept into prison Braman reveals the devastating toll mass incarceration takes on the parents partners and children left behind Katherine S Newman Doing Time on the Outside brings to life in a compelling way the human drama and tragedy of our incarceration policies Donald Braman documents the profound economic and social consequences of the American policy of massive imprisonment of young African American males He shows us the link between the broad scale policy changes of recent decades and the isolation and stigma that these bring to family members who have a loved one in prison If we want to understand fully the impact of current criminal justice policies this book should be required reading Mark Mauer Assistant Director The Sentencing Project Through compelling stories and thoughtful analysis this book describes how our nation's punishment policies have caused incalculable damage to the fabric of family and community life Anyone concerned about the future of urban America should read this book Jeremy Travis The Urban Institute In the tradition of Elijah Anderson's Code of the Street and Katherine Newman's No Shame in My Game this startling new ethnography by Donald Braman uncovers the other side of the incarceration saga the little told story of the effects of imprisonment on the prisoners families Since 1970 the incarceration rate in the United States has more than tripled and in many cities urban centers such as Washington D C it has increased over five fold Today one out of every ten adult black men in the District is in prison and three out of every four can expect to spend some time behind bars But the numbers don't reveal what it's like for the children wives and parents of prisoners or the subtle and not so subtle effects mass incarceration is having on life in the inner city Author Donald Braman shows that those doing time on the inside are having a ripple effect on the outside reaching deep into the family and community life of urban America Braman gives us the personal stories of what happens to the families and communities that prisoners are taken from and return to Carefully documenting the effects of incarceration on the material and emotional lives of families this groundbreaking ethnography reveals how criminal justice policies are furthering rather than abating the problem of social disorder Braman also delivers a number of genuinely new arguments Among these is the compelling assertion that incarceration is holding offenders unaccountable to victims communities and families The author gives the first detailed account of incarceration's corrosive effect on social capital in the inner city and describes in poignant detail how the stigma of prison pits family and community members against one another Drawing on a series of powerful family portraits supported by extensive empirical data Braman shines a light on the darker side of a system that is failing the very families and communities it seeks to protect

Doing Time in the Garden James Jiler, 2006-08-06 The first and only comprehensive guide to in prison and post release horticultural training programs

Doing Time in the Depression Ethan Blue, 2012-02 As banks crashed belts tightened and cupboards emptied across the country American prisons grew fat Doing Time in the Depression tells the story of the 1930s as seen from the cell blocks and cotton fields of Texas and California prisons state institutions that held growing numbers of working people from around the country and the world overwhelmingly poor disproportionately non white and displaced by economic crisis Ethan Blue paints a vivid portrait of everyday life inside Texas and California's penal systems Each element of prison life from numbing boredom to hard labor from meager pleasure in popular culture to crushing pain from illness or violence demonstrated a contest between keepers and the kept From the moment they arrived to the day they would leave inmates struggled over the meanings of race and manhood power and poverty and of the state itself In this richly layered account

Blue compellingly argues that punishment in California and Texas played a critical role in producing a distinctive set of class race and gender identities in the 1930s some of which reinforced the social hierarchies and ideologies of New Deal America and others of which undercut and troubled the established social order He reveals the underside of the modern state in two very different prison systems and the making of grim institutions whose power would only grow across the century Doing Time, Writing Lives Patrick W. Berry, 2018-01-24 Winner Coalition for Community Writing Outstanding Book Award 2019

Doing Time Writing Lives offers a much needed analysis of the teaching of college writing in U S prisons a racialized space that despite housing more than 2 million people remains nearly invisible to the general public Through the examination of a college in prison program that promotes the belief that higher education in prison can reduce recidivism and improve life prospects for the incarcerated and their families author Patrick W Berry exposes not only incarcerated students hopes and dreams for their futures but also their anxieties about whether education will help them Combining case studies and interviews with the author s own personal experience of teaching writing in prison this book chronicles the attempts of incarcerated students to write themselves back into a society that has erased their lived histories It challenges polarizing rhetoric often used to describe what literacy can and cannot deliver suggesting more nuanced and ethical ways of understanding literacy and possibility in an age of mass incarceration Doing Time Eight Hours a Day James R. Palmer, 2013-10

Correctional officers face danger every time they go to work and the public rarely appreciates the job that they do Author James R Palmer worked many years at the Kentucky Department of Corrections spending seven of them with the solitary confinement unit In this memoir he looks back at his career and shares what it s really like working in prison For example inmates aren t afraid to use sharp objects to hurt officers who just like the inmates often find themselves behind locked doors Correctional officers also face constant exposure to diseases and infections as well as constant stress that can upset family life and make sleep nearly impossible While some people might say If it s that bad then quit correctional officers stay on the job for a variety of reasons including a desire to serve and protect the public Doing Time Eight Hours a Day shares one man s firsthand experiences of what it s like to be a correctional officer and rub elbows with some of the most dangerous men and women alive Doing Time for Peace Rosalie G. Riegler, 2013-01-07

In this compelling collection of oral histories more than seventy five peacemakers describe how they say no to war making in the strongest way possible by engaging in civil disobedience and paying the consequences in jail or prison These courageous resisters leave family and community and life on the outside in their efforts to direct U S policy away from its militarism Many are Catholic Workers devoting their lives to the works of mercy instead of the works of war They are homemakers and carpenters and social workers and teachers who are often called faith based activists They speak from the left of the political perspective providing a counterpoint to the faith based activism of the fundamentalist Right In their own words the narrators describe their motivations and their preparations for acts of resistance the actions themselves and their trials and subsequent jail time We hear from those who do their time by caring for their families and managing communities while their partners are imprisoned Spouses and children talk frankly of the strains on family ties that a life of working for peace in the world can cause The voices range from a World War II conscientious objector to those protesting the recent war in Iraq The book includes sections on resister families the Berrigans and Jonah House the Plowshares Communities the Syracuse Peace Council and Catholic Worker houses and communities The introduction by Dan McKanan situates these activists in the long tradition of resistance to war and witness to peace
