(On) Searle on Conversation John R. Searle, Herman Parret, Jef Verschueren, 1992-02-20 At an international conference held in 1981 at the Universidade Estadual of Campinas Brazil a controversial lecture was given by John Searle which presented two conceptual theses that conversation does not have an intrinsic structure about which a relevant theory can be formulated and that conversations are not subject to constitutive rules This lecture was first published in 1986 under the title Notes on Conversation and was revised several times afterwards The present volume offers the most recent version Because of the importance of the article for conversation analysis and for pragmatics in general the editors have put together Searle's target article along with eight original comments The volume closes with a reply to replies by Searle In sociolinguistic studies intralingual code switching has been given less attention than most other areas and linguists attitudes towards the use of non standard varieties still often suffer from fallacies of prescriptivism Czech a clear case of a language having a Standard and a strong central vernacular with intensive shifting between them offers many points of general interest to sociolinguists

Searle's Philosophy and Chinese Philosophy Bo Mou, 2008-06-30 This volume investigates how through critical engagement the philosophy of John Searle in the Western analytic tradition and some thoughts and strands in Chinese philosophy can jointly contribute to the common philosophical enterprise and shows how such comparative methodology of constructive engagement is important or even indispensable in philosophical inquiry The anthology includes Searle's keynote essay and 15 engaging pairs of essay reply dialogues each of which consists of one previously unpublished essay by some expert's and Searle's engaging reply and which are organized into four subjects respectively on mind language morality and meta philosophical methodological issues The anthology also includes the volume editor's theme introduction on the constructive engagement movement in view of Searle's philosophy and Chinese philosophy Contributors include Robert E Allinson Chung ying Cheng Kim chong Chong Chris Fraser Yiu ming Fung Soraj Hongladarom Joel W Krueger B Jeannie Lum Aloysius P Martinich Bo Mou Anh Tuan Nuyen John R Searle Avrum Stroll Marshall D Willman Kai yee Wong and Yujian Zheng

Old Russian Birchbark Letters Simeon Dekker, 2018-02-19 This study is devoted to a corpus of Old Russian letters written on pieces of birchbark These unique texts from Novgorod and surroundings give us an exceptional impression of everyday life in medieval Russian society In this study the birchbark letters are addressed from a pragmatic angle Linguistic parameters are identified that shed light on the degree to which literacy had gained ground in communicative processes It is demonstrated that the birchbark letters occupy an intermediate position between orality and literacy On the one hand oral habits of communication persisted as reflected in how the birchbark letters are phrased on the other hand literate modes of expression emerged as seen in the development of normative conventions and literate formulae

Moore's Paradox Ulla Schmid,2014-10-29 Representationalism grasps the meaning and grammar of linguistic expressions in terms of reference that is as determined by the respective objects concepts or states of affairs they are supposed to represent and by the internal structure of the content they articulate As a consequence the semantic and grammatical properties of linguistic expressions allegedly reflect the constitution of the objects they refer to Questions concerning the meaning of particular linguistic expressions are supposed to be answerable by investigating the metaphysics of the corresponding phenomena Accordingly questions of the meaning of psychological concepts are turned into questions of the nature of psychological states Concerned with Moore s Paradox representationalist approaches lead into an investigation of the state of affairs supposedly described by Moore paradoxical assertions and thus eventually into investigations concerning the metaphysics of belief This book argues that this strategy necessarily yields both a wrong solution to Moore s Paradox and an inadequate conception of the meaning of the expression I believe Turning to the metaphysics of belief is of no use when it comes to understanding either the meaning of the expression I believe or the logic of avowals of belief Instead it proposes to focus on the role they play in language the ways in which they are used in practice Foundations of Speech Act Theory S.L. Tsohatzidis,2002-09-11 Foundations of Speech Act Theory investigates the importance of speech act theory to the problem of meaning in linguistics and philosophy The papers in this volume written by respected philosophers and linguists significantly advance standards of debate in this area Beginning with a detailed introduction to the individual contributors this collection demonstrates the relevance of speech acts to semantic theory It includes essays unified by the assumption that current pragmatic theories are not well equipped to analyse speech acts satisfactorily and concludes with five studies which assess the relevance of speech act theory to the understanding of philosophical problems outside the area of philosophy of language A Critique of the Ontology of Intellectual Property Law Alexander Peukert,2021-05-20 Intellectual property IP law operates with the ontological assumption that immaterial goods such as works inventions and designs exist and that these abstract types can be owned like a piece of land Alexander Peukert provides a comprehensive critique of this paradigm showing that the abstract IP object is a speech based construct which first crystallised in the eighteenth century He highlights the theoretical flaws of metaphysical object ontology and introduces John Searle s social ontology as a more plausible approach to the subject matter of IP On this basis he proposes an IP theory under which IP rights provide their holders with an exclusive privilege to use reproducible Master Artefacts Such a legal realist IP theory Peukert argues is both descriptively and prescriptively superior to the prevailing paradigm of the abstract IP object This work was originally published in German and was translated by Gill Mertens Evoking Story for Transformation Lyn Nixon, 2025-08-21 Lyn Nixon takes a fresh approach to the question of whether New Testament authors quote the Old Testament without regard to the original Old Testament meaning that is out of context Her action model uses Speech Act Theory to examine the way authors and readers together contribute to the communication of meaning In her model for meaning to be successfully communicated the reader must experience the transformation intended by the author Lyn Nixon applies her theoretical model to two examples of New Testament quotation where previous scholars have claimed the author quotes the Old Testament in a way that does not correspond to the original meaning Her case studies the use of Ps 115 1 LXX in 2 Cor 4 13 and of Ps 110 1 MT by various New Testament speakers and authors provide new insights into ways that the Old Testament meaning including its transformative intention resonates in the quoting of New Testament texts Dialogue Edda Weigand, 2010 The Mixed Game Model represents a holistic theory of dialogue which starts from human beings competence in performance and describes how language is integrated in a general theory of human action and behaviour Human beings are able to adapt to changing conditions and to pursue their interests by the integrated use of various communicative means mainly verbal perceptual and cognitive The core unit is the dialogic action game or the mixed game with human beings at the centre acting and reacting in cultural surroundings The key to opening up the complex whole is human beings nature The Mixed Game Model demonstrates how the different disciplines of the natural and social sciences and the humanities are mutually interconnected After a detailed overview of the state of the art the fundamentals of the theory are laid down They include a typology of action games which ranges from minimal games to complex institutional games The description is illustrated by analyses of authentic games Using Words and Things Mark Coeckelbergh, 2017-06-26 This book offers a systematic framework for thinking about the relationship between language and technology and an argument for interweaving thinking about technology with thinking about language The main claim of philosophy of technology that technologies are not mere tools and artefacts not mere things but crucially and significantly shape what we perceive do and are is re thought in a way that accounts for the role of language in human technological experiences and practices Engaging with work by Wittgenstein Heidegger McLuhan Searle Ihde Latour Ricoeur and many others the author critically responds to and constructs a synthesis of three extreme idealtype untenable positions 1 only humans speak and neither language nor technologies speak 2 only language speaks and neither humans nor technologies speak and 3 only technology speaks and neither humans nor language speak The construction of this synthesis goes hand in hand with a narrative about subjects and objects that become entangled and constitute one another Using Words and Things thus draws in central discussions from other subdisciplines in philosophy such as philosophy of language epistemology and metaphysics to offer an original theory of the relationship between language and philosophy of technology centered on use performance and narrative and taking a Postcolonial Hauntologies Ayo A. Coly,2019-06-01 Postcolonial Hauntologies is an interdisciplinary and comparative analysis of critical literary visual and performance texts by women from different parts of Africa While contemporary critical thought and feminist theory have largely integrated the sexual female body into their disciplines colonial representations of African women s sexuality haunt contemporary postcolonial African scholarship which by maintaining a culture of avoidance about women s sexuality generates a discursive conscription that ultimately holds the female body hostage Ayo A Coly employs the concept of hauntology and ghostly matters to formulate an explicative framework in which to examine postcolonial silences surrounding the African female body as well as a theoretical framework for discerning the elusive and cautious presences of female sexuality in the texts of African women In illuminating the pervasive silence about the sexual female body in postcolonial African scholarship Postcolonial Hauntologies challenges hostile responses to critical and artistic voices that suggest the African female body represents sacred ideological discursive ground on which one treads carefully if at all Coly demonstrates how ghosts from the colonial past are countered by discursive engagements with explicit representations of women s sexuality and bodies that emphasize African women s power and autonomy Im/Politeness
