On Clowns The Dictator And The Artist Essays:

On Clowns Norman Manea, 1992-01-01 Like Kundera Milosz and Kis Manea is Central European not only because of where he was born but because of his spiritual outlook and his cultural horizons In the formulation of Danilo Kis that Manea cites Consciousness of belonging to Central Europe is itself in the end a kind of dissidence In On Clowns as in his fiction Manea shows how artistic creativity and intellectual freedom go far beyond dissidence they are a morality anathema to the captive mind of the Communist dictatorship that enable artists to survive and resist oppression BOOK JACKET On Clowns Norman Manea, 1994 Survivor of the Nazi camps and Ceausescu's Romania winner of the National Book Award recipient of a MacArthur Award and a Guggenheim Fellowship Norman Manea an extraordinary man of letters gives us a taste of something beyond the scope of even our twentieth century imagination Manea is too profound a witness to place his gift for observation in the service of another sensualist account What matters for him is the phenomenon of an entire nation's life under this simultaneously grotesque and terrifying rule The New Republic On Clowns Norman Manea, 1994-01-01

Imagining Home Anamaria Falaus, 2014-08-11 In an age of shifting social and political landscapes there is one constant challenge individuals and groups have to face that of internalizing the tension between the two opposing tendencies that rule the world today homogenization and heterogenization People transgress the limits of nationality ethnicity and culture in order to become citizens of the world while at the same time longing for stability and certainty Imagining Home Exilic Reconstructions in Norma Manea and Andrei Codrescu's Diasporic Narratives interprets the polymorphous development of two exiled writers' identities from the point of view of their migrant condition Their restless nomadic existence perfectly reflected in the geographical territories mapped by the books under discussion involves crossing boundaries negotiating difference and the colonizing imposition of a foreign culture The outcome provides an insight into the concepts of Romanianness and Americanness analysing them through the notions of alo images and infra images while at the same time developing a context and a reading approach for Eastern European immigrant narratives After the Fall Noemi Marin, 2007 Noemi Marin analyzes famous writers from the area as critical intellectuals and exiles in order to explore the role of rhetoric and identity in writers' own experiences during the long history of communism Along with examinations of discursive relationships among power culture and resistance in works by George Konrad Andrei Codrescu and Siavenka Drakulic before and after the fall of communism Marin proposes specific dimensions for a rhetoric of exile pertinent to communist Eastern and Central Europe After the Fall shows how critical works on identity culture and communist history by the writers studied aid in reconstituting a rhetoric of dissidence identity and legitimation in the public discourse of a changing Europe The book offers a unique perspective on the complex contexts of political transition in which competing public discourse on freedom and democracy intersect with totalitarian regimes unsettled societies and issues of resistance

Currently it is an urgent challenge involving huge numbers of people who leave their home in search of a better life. Differences in language customs and norms are often joined by specific manifestations of xenophobia born of particular differences between host countries and their current influx of migrants. In a pronounced way then migration reveals important societal questions of solidarity of identity of transition and transformation of human rights and obligations. The explorations in this collection highlight individual stories of migrants showcase innovative research methods and explore concepts and theories that might be usefully applied toward learning needs in a migration society. Including insights from scholars across 14 different countries this book offers an international perspective on the role of adult education in addressing migration. Such international comparisons hold great potential for seeing new possibilities in any single country whether in Europe North America or across the world.

Contemporary Jewish Writing in Europe Vivian Liska, Thomas Nolden, 2007-12-05 With contributions from a dozen American and European scholars this volume presents an overview of Jewish writing in post World War II Europe. Striking a balance between close readings of individual texts and general surveys of larger movements and underlying themes the essays portray Jewish authors across Europe as writers and intellectuals of multiple affiliations and hybrid identities. Aimed at a general readership and guided by the idea of constructing bridges across national cultures this book maps for English speaking readers the productivity and diversity of Jewish writers and writing that has marked a revitalization of Jewish culture in France Germany Austria Italy Great Britain the Netherlands Hungary Poland and Russia.

A History of Modern Political Thought in East Central Europe Balázs Trencsenyi, Michal Kopeček, Luka Lisjak Gabrijelčić, Maria Falina, Mónika Baár, 2018-11-10 A History of Modern Political Thought in East Central Europe is a synthetic work authored by an international team of researchers covering twenty national cultures and 250 years. It goes beyond the conventional nation centered narratives and presents a novel vision especially sensitive to the cross cultural entanglement of political ideas and discourses. Its principal aim is to make these cultures available for the global market of ideas and revisit some of the basic assumptions about the history of modern political thought and modernity as such. The present volume is the final part of the project following Volume I Negotiating Modernity in the Long Nineteenth Century and Volume II Part I Negotiating Modernity in the Short Twentieth Century 1918-1968 OUP 2018. Its starting point is the defeat of the vision of socialism with a human face in 1968 and the political discourses produced by the various consolidation or normalization regimes. It continues with mapping the exile communities and domestic dissidents critical engagement with the local democratic and anti democratic traditions as well as with global trends. Rather than achieving the coveted end of history however the liberal democratic order created in East Central Europe after 1989 became increasingly contested from left and right alike. Thus instead of a comfortable conclusion pointing to the European integration of most of these countries the book closes with a reflection on the fragility of democracy in this part of the world and beyond.
