Literary Authority and the Modern Chinese Writer Wendy Larson, 1991 Throughout the twentieth century Chinese writers have confronted the problem of creating a new literary tradition that both maintains the culturally unique aspects of a rich heritage and succeeds in promoting a new modernity In the first book length treatment of the topic Wendy Larson examines the contradictory forms of authority at work in the autobiographical texts of modern Chinese writers and scholars and the way these conflicts helped to shape and determine the manner in which writers viewed themselves their texts and their work Larson focuses on the most famous writers associated with the May Fourth Movement a group most active in the 1920s and 1930s and their fundamental ambivalence about writing She analyzes how their writing paradoxically characterized textual labor as passive negative and inferior to material labor and the more physical political work of social progress and she describes the ways they used textual means to devalue literary labor The impact of China's increasing contact with the West particularly the ways in which Western notions of individualism and democracy influenced Chinese ideologies of self and work is considered Larson also studies the changes in China's social structure notably those linked to the abolition in 1905 of the educational exam system which subsequently broke the link between the mastery of certain texts and the attainment of political power further denigrating the cultural role of the writer

Lectures on Modern History John Emerich Edward Dalberg, Lord Acton, 2016-10-17 The two volumes of his lectures on modern history and on the French Revolution give us in their full ripeness the sum of Acton's historical judgments History was not to Acton a mere academic pursuit With that view of history which considers it beneath the dry light of science as a series of phenomena capable of detachment from the present susceptible to separate analysis he had no sympathy Still less did he consider history a mere form of literary exposition The one justification for the study of history was to Acton its value as a guide in the affairs of the every day world The present is what it is because of what the past has been Human development has been a continuous chain of cause and effect Any course of action in the present must be based upon a knowledge of the way in which things we now do are hedged in limited by what men have done before us History thus becomes a great mentor a schoolmaster of action This is the annotated edition including more than one hundred footnotes

of Authority Stephen James,2007-10-01 What is the relationship between poetry and power Should poetry be considered a mode of authority or an impotent medium And why is it that the modern poets most commonly regarded as authoritative are precisely those whose works wrestle with a sense of artistic inadequacy Such questions lie at the heart of this study prompting fresh insights into three of the most important poets of recent decades Robert Lowell Geoffrey Hill and Seamus Heaney Through attentive close reading and the tracing of dominant motifs in each writer s works James shows how their responsiveness to matters of political and cultural import lends weight to the idea of poetry as authoritative utterance as a medium for speaking of and to the world in a persuasive memorable manner And yet as James demonstrates each poet is exercised by an awareness of his own cultural marginality even by a sense of the limitations and liabilities of language itself
