

Dedication

Marking a Trail: The Quest Continues is dedicated to the founders who believed in and fought for educational opportunities for women; to the legislators and governors of Texas who have for a century supported and funded the special mission of the University; to the 70,000 students who have called this institution their alma mater; to the thousands of faculty members who have devoted themselves to the development of students and the advancement of knowledge through research and creative endeavors; to the countless staff members who have worked tirelessly to make the University a place of purpose; to the loyal alumnae who remain the treasured allies and advocates of the University; to the citizens of Texas who take pride in their state university primarily for women; to community supporters in Dallas, Denton, and Harris counties; to the many donors who have shared their resources so that TWU could advance in the goals of teaching, research, and service, and to all those who join in the belief that the quest for excellence in education begun in the past century should continue into the next.

Acknowledgements

The development of this centennial history is possible only because of the generosity and dedication of many individuals who gave of their time and knowledge to assure the completion of the project. Dr. Carol Surles, ninth President of TWU, first commissioned me to prepare a book that would reflect the first hundred years of the University's history. The project did not go forward because of lack of support when Dr. Surles left the University. Dr. Ann Stuart, who became the tenth President and first Chancellor of TWU in December of 1999, expressed prompt and enthusiastic interest in the concept of a pictorial history and set in motion the development of this centennial history. The clear and consistent support of Dr. Stuart and the Provost, Dr. Lois Smith, enabled me to revive the project and sustain it. I thank them for their generous help and for their appreciation of the history of TWU and their dedication to its future progress. I gratefully acknowledge the generous support of Dr. Surles, Dr. Stuart, Dr. Smith, and the TWU Foundation Board.

The work of the late Dr. Joyce Thompson, Professor of English and author of Marking A Trail, a volume which reflects the first seventy-five years of the institution's history, was a major reference throughout the composition of this book.

The work on this centennial history was made joyful by the dedication and daily support of the TWU staff members who formed a team with me to see the project through. To Yolanda Amador, Ann McGuffin Barton, Charlsa Kern, and Jackie Webster, I express my deepest thanks.

Many others gave us help along the way. I wish to acknowledge the thoughtful assistance and kind encouragement of Carolyn Barnes, Bill Benson, Wilkes Berry, Barry Boesch, Demell Bulls, John Calabrese, Verda Chism, Sally Clement, the Denton Record-Chronicle, Mickey Dudley, Juanita Duenez-Lazo, Jane Erwin, Elizabeth J. Elkins, Bobbie Ferrell, Marjorie W. Ford, Bettie Garner, Mib Garrard, Tom Graf, Lybeth Hodges, Patricia Jackson Edwards, Clea Jones, Glenda Kallman, the Lasso, Dawn Letson, Frank Longoria, Kathy Luca, Susan Phillips, Judy Prouty, Barbara Presnall, Ruth Ann Ragland, Richard Rodean, Carolyn Roder, Donna Ryan, Fritz Schwalm, Paula Scott, Glenda Simmons, Judy Southard, Elizabeth Snapp, Susan Sponsler, Karen Theatt, Melinda Williams-McBee, Joe Wilkinson, Deborah Young, and others who contributed suggestions and photographs for this book.

The photographs included in the book, except as noted in the captions, belong to the TWU archives. Many of the pictures came to the archives from the records of the Lasso, the Office of Marketing and Communication, the National Alumnae Association office, and the Daedalian.

Women Scientists in America Margaret W. Rossiter, 1998-09-29 Winner of the Pfizer Award for Outstanding Book in the History of Science Margaret Rossiter's widely hailed Women Scientists in America Struggles and Strategies to 1940 marked the beginning of a pioneering effort to interpret the history of American women scientists That effort continues in this provocative sequel that covers the crucial years of World War II and beyond Rossiter begins by showing how the acute labor shortage brought on by the war seemed to hold out new hope for women professionals especially in the sciences But the public posture of welcoming women into the scientific professions masked a deep seated opposition to change Rossiter proves that despite frustrating obstacles created by the patriarchal structure and values of universities government and industry women scientists made genuine contributions to their fields grew in professional stature and laid the foundation for the breakthroughs that followed

1972 Challenged by Coeducation Leslie Miller-Bernal, Susan L. Poulson, 2007-01-22 Challenged by Coeducation details the responses of women's colleges to the most recent wave of Women's colleges originated in the mid nineteenth century as a response to women's exclusion from higher education Women's academic successes and their persistent struggles to enter men's colleges resulted in coeducation rapidly becoming the norm however Still many prestigious institutions remained single sex notably most of the Ivy League and all of the Seven Sisters colleges In the mid twentieth century colleges concerns about finances and enrollments as well as ideological pressures to integrate formerly separate social groups led men's colleges and some women's colleges to become coeducational The admission of women to practically all men's colleges created a serious challenge for women's colleges Most people no longer believed women's colleges were necessary since women had virtually unlimited access to higher education Even though research spawned by the women's movement indicated the benefits to women of a room of their own few young women remained interested in applying to women's colleges Challenged by Coeducation details the responses of women's colleges to this latest wave of coeducation Case studies written expressly for this volume include many types of women's colleges Catholic and secular Seven Sisters and less prestigious private and state liberal arts and more applied northern southern and western urban and rural independent and coordinated with a coeducational institution They demonstrate the principal ways women's colleges have adapted to the new coeducational era some have been taken over or closed but most have changed by admitting men and thereby becoming coeducational or by offering new programs to different populations Some women s colleges mostly those that are in cities connected to other colleges and prestigious with a high endowment still enjoy success Despite their dramatic drop in numbers from 250 to fewer than 60 today women s colleges are still important editors Miller Bernal and Poulson argue With their commitment to enhancing women s lives women s colleges and formerly women s colleges can serve as models of egalitarian coeducation

Women's Collections Suzanne Hildenbrand,2019-12-06 This book first published in 1986 analyses women s collections in institutional and private establishments in the United States It focuses on the development of the collections as a result of feminist advances in activism and scholarship and the need for collections to reflect the shift to a necessary woman centredness in their holdings

Rivers of Light Miriam Kalman Friedman,2019-04-04 Growing up in a conservative middle class family in Texas Claire Myers Owens sought adventure and freedom at an early age At twenty years old she left home and quickly found a community of like minded free spirits and intellectuals in New York's Greenwich Village There Owens wrote novels and short stories including the controversial novel The Unpredictable Adventure A Comedy of Woman's Independence which was banned by the New York Public Library for its risqué content Drawn to ideals of selfactualization and creative freedom Owens became a key figure in the Human Potential Movement along with founder Abraham Maslow and Aldous Huxley and became an ardent follower of Carl Jung In her later years Owens devoted her life to the practice of Zen Buddhism moving to Rochester NY where she joined the Zen Center and studied under Roshi Philip Kapleau She published her final book Zen and the Lady at the age of eighty three Friedman's rediscovery of Owens brings well deserved attention to her little known yet extraordinary life and passionate spirit Drawing upon autobiographies letters journals and novels Friedman chronicles Owens's robust intellect and her tumultuous private life and along the way shows readers what makes her story significant With very few role models in the early twentieth century Owens blazed her own path of independence and enlightenment

Denton County Jim Bolz,Tricia Bolz,Denton County Museums,2010-04-26 The history of Denton County founded in 1846 has been well preserved through postcards These images produced from vintage photographs and artist renditions reflect a time when communication through postcards was quicker easier and less expensive than writing a letter Inside this book readers are treated to charming snapshots of local history depicting churches the downtown public square businesses public schools the two newly created universities railroad depots trolleys the earliest automobiles and some of Denton Countys most familiar town views and tourist attractions Rethinking Home Economics Sarah J. Stage, Virginia B. Vincenti, 2018-07-05 Until recently historians tended to dismiss home economics as little more than a conspiracy to keep women in the kitchen This landmark volume initiates collaboration among home economists family and consumer science professionals and women s historians What knits the essays together is a willingness to revisit the subject of home economics with neither indictment nor apology The volume includes significant new work that places home economics in the twentieth century within the context of the development of women s professions Rethinking Home Economics documents the evolution of a profession from the home economics movement launched by Ellen Richards in the early twentieth century to the modern field renamed Family and Consumer Sciences in 1994 The essays in this volume show the range of activities pursued under the rubric of home economics from dietetics and parenting teaching and cooperative extension work to test kitchen and product development Exploration of the ways in which gender race and class influenced women s options in colleges and universities hospitals business and industry as well as government has provided a greater understanding of the obstacles women encountered and the strategies they used to gain legitimacy as the field developed

Pioneer Woman Educator Debbie Mauldin Cottrell, 1993 In 1918 Annie Webb Blanton broke the gender barrier in Texas politics when she was elected to head the state s public school system This victory came despite the fact that women in Texas could not vote in the general election that elevated her to office Debbie Mauldin Cottrell thus begins the story of a pioneering woman educator a story of accomplishments on behalf of education and of women that includes years of teaching in public school and university classrooms the first female presidency of the Texas State Teachers Association and the founding of an international sorority for teachers Delta Kappa Gamma In this biography of Texas educator Annie Webb Blanton 1870-1945 author Cottrell traces Blanton s rise from teaching in a rural schoolroom in Pine Springs Texas to her service as the state s top administrator of public schools and subsequently her tenure as a professor of education at the University of Texas Drawing on archives and interviews with Blanton s surviving relatives and associates Cottrell depicts Blanton s devotion to Texas schools and to the professionalism of women and analyzes her success in professional and state politics She places Blanton s accomplishments within the context of Progressive era reform and of gender issues as they defined and contributed to her work In the several phases of her public career Cottrell demonstrates Annie Webb Blanton combined traditional and Progressive values in her own distinctive feminist call to her colleagues By forging one of the first professional networks and articulating a model for reform that was acceptable within the prescribed limits of her day Blanton opened the higher ranks of the education profession to women across the nation and made a lasting mark on the quality of education in the state of Texas Texas State Documents ,1984 Texas State Documents Index ,1983
