Restoring the Balance Ien Courtens,2012-12-11 Who made Mama Raja ill This question buzzing around the village starts off this anthropological study on healing performances in the context of religious change The fascinating case is presented of a seriously ill woman of high standing in northwest Ayfat located in the interior of the Bird s Head in West Papua By unravelling the various explanations of the cause of the illness and the path Mama Raja followed in search of healing the author documents how why and when Papuan people make their choices in their search for healing The study offers an ethnographically rich journey through the variety of healing methods in current Ayfat society indigenous obtained during female and male initiation rites biomedical the missionary hospital and Christian created by ritual healers since the coming of the missionaries Likewise the causes ascribed to illness range from sorcery witchcraft violation of ancestral or biblical rules to biomedical conditions a multiplicity of ways of understanding illness and healing that emerged in the context of religious change Making choices among the variety of healing performances and the creation of new performances are shown to be dynamic processes At the core are the innovative contributions of local healers particularly women who chose to create new performances in the face of religious change Restoring the Balance looks at indigenous and Christian religious practices and how people in northwest Ayfat have found a way to integrate the two and bring both sides into balance This book will be highly useful to anthropologists and others interested in Melanesian and eastern Indonesian cultures healing spiritual healing or religious change It would make an attractive case study for university courses at any level Healing What's Hidden Evan Owens,Jenny Owens,2022-09-06 There is hope after trauma Some of us can recall the exact moment our lives changed forever The horrific accident The miscarriage The day they walked out The moment our innocence was taken Others of us can t remember a time when our lives weren t marked by trauma abuse or neglect What happened to you was wrong and it hurt you but it doesn t have to define you You may be wounded but you re not broken You can overcome trauma and embrace a brighter future Over the last decade husband and wife team Evan and Jenny Owens have helped thousands of people overcome the trials tragedies and traumas of their past and in this book they show you how you can too With empathy and insight Healing What s Hidden offers a practical step by step process to help you acknowledge your trauma heal your invisible wounds and reclaim your future so you can live beyond the anxiety depression and shame trauma leaves behind Others are already experiencing healing Now it s your turn The Search for Wholeness and Diaspora Literacy in Contemporary African American Literature Silvia Castro-Borrego,2011-05-25 This volume has as a cohesive argument the exploration of the different manifestations of the search for wholeness and spirituality in the writings of contemporary African American women writers covering different literary genres such as fiction both novels and short stories drama and poetry Together with the issue of spirituality the African American search for wholeness is analyzed as a source of creativity and agency As expressed in the contemporary literature of black women writers starting in the 1980s the search for wholeness reflects a beauty realized through the healing of the spirit and the body and is a process that takes on dimensions of reconciling the past and the present the mythical and the real the spiritual and the physical all in the context of an emerging world view that welcomes synthesis and expects both synthesis and generative contradictions The book will be a valuable collection for scholars of African American literature comparative American Ethnic literature American literature and spirituality as well as women s studies In addition it will be an important text for both undergraduate and graduate students in those fields As Professor Johnnella Butler 2006 points out the African American search for wholeness is tightly linked to the search for freedom and agency Ever since the 19th century African American writers have given expression to an African American self which functions in Western civilization simultaneously as a colonized other and an assertive self Due to the continuous ordeal of the African Diaspora this self is caught in between the binaries proposed by the material and the spiritual world seeking a balance where the person can become whole The search for wholeness feeds from cultural roots that imply the presence of ancestral spiritualism rememory and double consciousness Contemporary black women writers reflect the metaphor of building spiritual bridges seeking the possibilities of building a bridge to the archetypal African past that is carried in their memories as a presence that offers sustenance via spiritual reconnection Their works seek to bridge the gap between the myths and traditions of the past and contemporary African American culture The texts included in this collection are examples of writing as an exercise of what V v Clark calls Diaspora literacy The texts written by contemporary African American women writers explicitly show how to recognize and read the cultural signs left scattered along the road of progress In this way material acquisition is achieved along with cultural dispossession becoming a metaphor for the history of the African in America The powerful message is that one should not exclude the other
