Marriage In A Changing World:

Love and Marriage Serena Nanda, 2018-12-10 Cultural anthropologist Serena Nanda mines a wide range of ethnographic research to examine the patterns of love marriage sexuality and family unique to eight cultures around the world After reviewing changing patterns in the United States readers are taken to China India Brazil Iran Indonesia Nigeria the South Pacific and Nepal to explore traditions and transformations and the intertwining dynamics of kinship class politics religion and gender roles in love and marriage An additional chapter traces the diversity of LGBTQ relationships with contemporary examples drawn from the US Indonesia and India A valuable summary chapter features a brief analysis of similar and different cultural configurations Nanda's ethnographically rich examples and fresh perspective will challenge readers to understand that their own culture is not natural or superior but rather just one of many possibilities adapted to specific environments and subject to changes

Islamic Family Law in a Changing World 'Abd Allāh Aḥmad Na'im, 2002-08 In Islamic Family Law in a Changing World Abdullahi A. An-Na'im explores the practice of the Shari'a commonly known as Islamic Family Law An-Na'im shows that the practical application of Shari'a principles is often modified by theological differences of interpretation a country's particular customary practices and state policy and law

The Rights of the Child in a Changing World Olga Cvejić Jančić, 2015-11-17 This book deals with the implementation of the rights of the child as enshrined in the Convention on the Rights of the Child in 21 countries from Europe Asia Australia and the USA It gives an overview of the legal status of children regarding their most salient rights such as the implementation of the best interest principle the right of the child to know about his/her origin the right to be heard to give medical consent the right of the child in the field of employment religious education of children prohibition of physical punishment protection of the child through deprivation of parental rights and in the case of inter-country adoption In the last 25 years since the Convention on the Rights of the Child was adopted many States Parties to the Convention have made great efforts to pass legislation regulating the rights of the child in their commitment to the improvement of the legal status of the child However is that enough for any child to live better safer and healthier What are the practical effects of this international as well as many national instruments in the everyday life of children Have there been any outcomes in terms of improvement of their status around the world and improvement of the conditions under which they live since the Convention entered into force In tackling these questions this work presents a comparative overview of the implementation of the Convention and evaluates the results achieved

Ethnicities and Values in a Changing World Gargi Bhattacharyya, 2016-05-23 Recent debates about national identity belonging and community cohesion can appear to suggest that ethnicity is a static entity and that ethnic difference is a source of conflict in itself Ethnicities and Values in a Changing World presents an alternative account of ethnicity This volume brings together an international team of leading scholars in the field of ethnic studies in order to examine innovative articulations of ethnicity and challenge the contention that ethnicity is static or that it necessarily

Polhemus, Understanding a Changing World Donald R. Kelley, 2021-01-14 The world is becoming more complex fraught with increasing possibilities for conflict over national rivalries economic competition and cultural and ideological fault lines This clear eyed text offers a structured and theoretically grounded way to think about the forces that animate change and the alternative futures they may create Donald Kelley views both contemporary reality and the future we face through the perspective of four different paradigms that shape our way of thinking about the world The nation state paradigm built on the assumption that the traditional Westphalian nation state remains the key building block of the present and the future which leads us to predict the future in terms of the nature and alignment of nation states The economic paradigm built on the assumption that economic factors are increasingly important which leads us to see the future in terms of factors such as interdependence globalization and trade as well as the growing opposition to these developments and the prioritization of national economic needs The identity and culture paradigm built on the distinct identities and cultures of nations and regions which leads us to view the future in terms of conflicting culture based communities transcending formal national or economic interests The ideology paradigm based on a post cold war reemergence of ideological conflict within and among nations which leads us to view a world based on ideology based conflict From these paradigms and their interactions Kelley builds a series of possible alternative futures of the international system His framework provides a unique way of looking at how and why the world is changing and the many different futures some peaceful and productive some warlike and destructive and others simply dysfunctional in which we might live Changing World, Unchanging Mission M. David Sills, 2015-08-28 The world continues to globalize and urbanize at a rapid pace

Technology and social media have transformed how people interact. Despite recent advances and innovations, countless people groups across the globe still lack access to the gospel of Jesus Christ. How should the church mobilize to reach the world? Now more than ever before, Christians need to be aware of the changing landscape before us. Missions expert David Sills shares this one-stop shop of key global challenges confronting Christian mission in the twenty-first century. In ten topical chapters, he identifies ways practitioners can be faithful to God's call, help without hurting, reach oral learners, conduct short-term missions, responsibly engage in business as mission, strategically and much more. While the world is fluid, God's mission endures. Discover anew how the eternal gospel can make its way to every tribe and nation. Human Rights In A Changing World P. Sukumar Nair, 2011. Papers presented at the National Seminar on Human Rights in a Changing World held at Pandalam.

Aging in a Changing World Molly George, 2021-10-15. This is a story about aging in place in a world of global movement. Around the world, many older people have stayed still but have been profoundly impacted by the movement of others. Without migrating themselves, many older people now live in a far different country than the one of their memories. Recently, the Brexit vote and the 2016 election of Trump have re-enforced prevalent stereotypes of the racist older person. This book challenges simplified images of the old as racist, nostalgic, and resistant to change by taking a deeper, more nuanced look at older people's complex relationship with the diversity and multiculturalism that has grown and developed around them. Aging in a Changing World takes a look at how some older people in New Zealand have been responding to and interacting with the new multiculturalism they now encounter in their daily lives. Through their unhurried, micro-daily interactions with immigrants, they quietly emerge as agents of the very social change they are assumed to oppose. Polar Icebreakers in a Changing World National Research Council, Transportation Research Board, Marine Board, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Polar Research Board, Committee on the Assessment of U.S. Coast Guard Polar Icebreaker Roles and Future Needs, 2007-03-14. The United States has enduring national and strategic interests in the polar regions, including citizens living above the Arctic circle and three-year-round scientific stations in the Antarctic. Polar icebreaking ships are needed to access both regions. Over the past several decades, the U.S. government has supported a fleet of four icebreakers: three multi-mission U.S. Coast Guard ships, the POLAR SEA, POLAR STAR, and HEALY, and the National Science Foundation's PALMER, which is dedicated solely to scientific research. Today, the POLAR STAR and the POLAR SEA are at the end of their service lives, and a lack of funds and no plans for an extension of the program has put U.S. icebreaking capability at risk. This report concludes that the United States should continue to support its interests in the Arctic and Antarctic for multiple missions, including maintaining leadership in polar science. The report recommends that the United States immediately program budget design and construct two new polar icebreakers to be operated by the U.S. Coast Guard. The POLAR SEA should remain mission-capable, and the POLAR STAR should remain available for reactivation until the new polar icebreakers enter service. The U.S. Coast Guard should be provided sufficient operations and maintenance budget to support an increased regular and influential presence in the Arctic with support from other agencies The report also calls for a Presidential Decision Directive to clearly align agency responsibilities and budgetary authorities
