Marriage Vows and Racial Choices Jessica Vasquez-Tokos, 2017-02-14 Choosing whom to marry involves more than emotion as racial politics cultural mores and local demographics all shape romantic choices In Marriage Vows and Racial Choices sociologist Jessica Vasquez Tokos explores the decisions of Latinos who marry either within or outside of their racial and ethnic groups Drawing from in depth interviews with nearly 50 couples she examines their marital choices and how these unions influence their identities as

Americans Vasquez Tokos finds that their experiences in childhood adolescence and young adulthood shape their perceptions of race which in turn influence their romantic expectations Most Latinos marry other Latinos but those who intermarry tend to marry whites She finds that some Latina women who had domineering fathers assumed that most Latino men shared this trait and gravitated toward white men who differed from their fathers Other Latina respondents who married white men fused ideas of race and class and perceived whites as higher status and considered themselves to be marrying up Latinos who married non Latino minorities African Americans Asian Americans and Native Americans often sought out non white partners because they shared similar experiences of racial marginalization Latinos who married Latinos of a different national origin expressed a desire for shared cultural commonalities with their partners but like those who married whites often associated their own national origin groups with oppressive gender roles Vasquez Tokos also investigates how racial and cultural identities are maintained or altered for the respondents children Within Latino white marriages biculturalism in contrast with Latinos adopting a white American identity is likely to emerge For instance white women who married Latino men often embraced aspects of Latino culture and passed it along to their children Yet for these children upholding Latino cultural ties depended on their proximity to other Latinos particularly extended family members Both location and family relationships shape how parents and children from interracial families understand themselves culturally As interracial marriages become more common Marriage Vows and Racial Choices shows how race gender and class influence our marital choices and personal lives

The Wholehearted Marriage Greg Smalley, Shawn Stoeve, 2009-06-02 The Wholehearted Marriage offers practical tools for helping couples keep a passionate connection with one another and understand the role their hearts play in their lives Drs Smalley and Stoeve maintain that circumstances such as busy lifestyles differences between spouses personal baggage the loss of a loved one childhood trauma etc trigger reactions that condition us to close up our hearts for protection blocking the flow of love A disengaged protected heart makes it impossible to experience an intimate connected marriage As a result couples drift apart trying to find some version of contentment or they give up altogether and look for love somewhere else Through their experiences in marriage counseling Drs Smalley and Stoeve discovered that the commonly heard phrase I don't love him/her anymore is merely a camouflaged misunderstanding about what true love is and God's design for it They affirm that love is more than just a feeling and that to have true lasting intimacy couples need to learn to love wholeheartedly
