Martha Brae's Two Histories:

Martha Brae's Two Histories Jean Besson, 2002 Based on historical research and more than thirty years of anthropological fieldwork this wide ranging study underlines the importance of Caribbean cultures for anthropology which has generally marginalized Europe's oldest colonial sphere Located at Narratives of Exile and Return Mary Chamberlain, Women and Change in the Caribbean Janet Momsen, 1993-09-22 Recent discussion of postmodern culture describes a movement from center to periphery privileging cultures that were formerly marginalized Women and Change in the Caribbean a study of women marginalized by both gender and race in a region such as the Caribbean itself marginalized in global terms attempts to extract insights relevant both within and beyond geographical confines This volume offers a feminist interpretation of a multicultural society emerging from colonialism and in the process of change and restructuring The nineteen chapters include case studies of fifteen different Caribbean territories including Jamaica Trinidad Barbados Puerto Rico Grenada and Guyana The book is divided into two sections the first looks at women's status and gender relations in the private and public spheres the second looks at women's economic activity Taking a broad pan Caribbean comparative view contributors discuss territories with American British Dutch Danish French and Spanish colonial traditions and current political links The contributors come from a range of disciplinary backgrounds including agriculture anthropology economics geography history sociology and women's studies Caribbean Land and Development Revisited J. Besson, J. Momsen, 2007-06-25 The book is an interdisciplinary collection of fifteen essays with an editorial introduction on a range of territories in the Commonwealth Francophone and Hispanic Caribbean The authors focus on land and development providing fresh perspectives through a collection of international contributing authors Communities in Contemporary Anglophone Caribbean Short Stories Lucy Evans, 2014-11-05 This book explores representations of community in Anglophone Caribbean short story collections and cycles of the late twentieth and early twenty first century Across Colonial Lines Devyani Gupta, Purba Hossain, 2023-02-09 Across Colonial Lines takes a multi perspective approach to the study of empire and commodities and encourages readers to look at commodity histories in alternative spatial and temporal contexts It offers a comparative understanding of commodities in the Venetian Portuguese Dutch French and British Empires Highlighting the interwoven character of multiple commodity networks this book situates commodities like gold coffee tea and indigo to name a few within pre existing networks of labour consumption and knowledge production It explores the nexus between the local and the global and highlights the role played by individual producers petty traders sailors and even consumers in creating regional circulations within a global political economy In this volume commodity networks are not just sites of production and trade but also of political control social organisation and consumption choices They provide the impetus for globalisation from as early as the thirteenth century Each chapter takes an individual commodity to illustrate the history of commodity transmission within imperial contexts From early modern Venetian commerce to the trade networks of the Eurasian world from the trading ambitions of British sailors to Portuguese global imperial ambitions from the cross imperial knowledge networks of indigo to the assertion of indigenous agency in Angola and from the commodification of labour to the experience of tourism in the Caribbean and Indian Ocean World Across Colonial Lines uses commodity networks as a lens to study empire building across varied yet connected geographies and chronologies

Nominal and Pronominal Address in Jamaica and Trinidad Matthias Klumm, 2021-09-15 This book examines the various patterns of nominal and pronominal address used in Jamaica and Trinidad the two most populous islands of the English speaking Caribbean Given that the Anglo Caribbean context has so far been largely neglected in address research this study aims to provide an in depth analysis of the linguistic means Jamaicans and Trinidadians have at their disposal and make use of to address each other A particular focus will be on variation in the speakers address behaviour with regard to their sex age social class ethnicity and regional background The study draws both on data from a self compiled corpus of postcolonial Jamaican and Trinidadian literary works and on questionnaire and interview data collected during fieldwork This book contributes to the ever growing body of research in the field of nominal and pronominal address and will be relevant to researchers interested in the fields of sociolinguistics pragmatics and World Englishes

Architecture and Empire in Jamaica Louis Nelson, 2016-03-15 Through Creole houses and merchant stores to sugar fields and boiling houses Jamaica played a leading role in the formation of both the early modern Atlantic world and the British Empire Architecture and Empire in Jamaica offers the first scholarly analysis of Jamaican architecture in the long 18th century spanning roughly from the Port Royal earthquake of 1692 to Emancipation in 1838 In this richly illustrated study which includes hundreds of the author's own photographs and drawings Louis P Nelson examines surviving buildings and archival records to write a social history of architecture Nelson begins with an overview of the architecture of the West African slave trade then moves to chapters framed around types of buildings and landscapes including the Jamaican plantation landscape and fortified houses to the architecture of free blacks He concludes with a consideration of Jamaican architecture in Britain By connecting the architecture of the Caribbean first to West Africa and then to Britain Nelson traces the flow of capital and makes explicit the material economic and political networks around the Atlantic

Empire of Brutality Christopher Michael Blakley, 2023 Christopher Blakley's Empire of Brutality is a human animal history of slaving and slavery in the Atlantic World between the end of the seventeenth century and the abolition of the Atlantic trade in 1808 His multidisciplinary study examines how varied relationships between enslaved people and animals led to the dehumanization and racialization of people of African descent in the Americas Blakley discusses the role of animal exchanges among slavers in West Africa the knowledge and curiosity of enslaved specimen collectors in the Atlantic world regimes of labor on Caribbean and Chesapeake plantations and the forms of resistance that enslaved people engaged in by injuring killing stealing and thinking about animals His analysis provides a better understanding of why enslaved people emphasized in their writing how slaveholders compared them to animals suggesting that critiques of slavery as dehumanizing by people of African descent were to a marked degree the result of these material human animal networks and linkages Blakley's study brings together disparate geographies including the castle trade in Atlantic Africa slave depots in New Spain and plantations in the British Caribbean and Chesapeake worlds to build on the emerging literature of human animal studies and new scholarship in early American environmental history His work is among the first to approach human animal networks under slavery systematically and comprehensively It makes a significant contribution by historicizing human animal relations produced by Atlantic wide networks of slavery It also provides an analysis of these linkages that over time led to the racialization and dehumanization of people of African descent as animal like subjects In this way his work offers an important environmental and material basis for the rich scholarship on the ideological and intellectual origins of race and racism It also illuminates the divergent affective responses of enslaved people towards animals ranging from curiosity to disgust and empathy

Immigrant Identity and the Politics of Citizenship John J Bukowczyk, 2016-06-01 The next volume in the Common Threads book series Immigrant Identity and the Politics of Citizenship assembles fourteen articles from the Journal of American Ethnic History The chapters discuss the divisions and hierarchies confronted by immigrants to the United States and how these immigrants shape and are shaped by the social and cultural worlds they enter Drawing on scholarship of ethnic groups from around the globe the articles illuminate the often fraught journey many migrants undertake from mistrusted Other to sometimes welcomed citizen Contributors James R Barrett Douglas C Baynton Vibha Bhalla Julio Cap Jr Robert Fleegler Gunl g Fur Hidetaka Hirota Karen Leonard Willow Lung Amam Raymond A Mohl Mark Overmyer Vel zquez Lara Putnam David Reimers David Roediger and Allison Varzally

Subjects or Citizens Robert Whitney, Graciela Chailloux Laffita, 2013-10-29 Cuba is widely recognized as a major hub of the transatlantic Hispanic and African diasporas throughout the colonial period Less well known is that during the first half of the twentieth century it was also the center of circum Caribbean diasporas with over 200 000 immigrants arriving mainly from Jamaica and Haiti The migration of British West Indians was a critical part of the economic and historical development of the island during the twentieth century as many of them went to work on sugar plantations Using never before consulted oral histories and correspondence Robert Whitney and Graciela Chailloux Laffita examine this British Caribbean diaspora and chronicle how the immigrants came to Cuba the living and working conditions they experienced and how they both contributed to and remained separate from Cuban culture forging a unique identity that was not just proudly Cuban but also proudly Caribbean

Apostles of Inequality Jim Handy, 2022-03-31 Between 1760 and 1860 the English countryside was subject to constant attempts at agricultural improvement Most often these meant depriving cottagers and rural workers of access to land they could cultivate despite evidence that they were the most productive farmers in a country constantly short of food Drawing from a wide range of contemporary sources Apostles of Inequality argues that such attempts driven by a flawed faith in the wonders of capital did little to increase agricultural productivity and instead led to a century of increasing impoverishment in rural

England Jim Handy rejects the assertions about the benefits that accompanied the transition to improved agriculture and details the abundant evidence for the efficiency of smallholder peasant agriculture He traces the development of both economic theory and government policy through the work of agricultural improver Arthur Young 1741 1820 government advisor Nassau William Senior 1790 1864 and the editors and writers of the Economist as well as Adam Smith and Thomas Robert Malthus Apostles of Inequality demonstrates how a fascination with capital promoted by political economy and farmers desires to have a labour force completely dependent on wage labour fostered widespread destitution in rural England for over a century
