Temple,Emily Kidd White,2021-04-30 This illuminating Research Handbook analyses the role that emotions play and ought to play in legal reasoning and practice rejecting the simplistic distinction between reason and emotion The Rights of Strangers Georg Cavallar,2017-07-05 This study investigates the thinking of European authors from Vitoria to Kant about political justice the global community and the rights of strangers as one special form of interaction among individuals of divergent societies political communities and cultures Taking an interdisciplinary approach it covers historical material from a predominantly philosophical perspective interpreting authors who have tackled problems related to the rights of strangers under the heading of international hospitality Their analyses of the civitas maxima or the societas humani generis covered the nature of the global commonwealth Their doctrines of natural law ius naturae were supposed to provide what we nowadays call theories of political justice The focus of the work is on international hospitality as part of the law of nations on its scope and justification It follows the political ideas of Francisco de Vitoria and the Second Scholastic in the 16th century of Alberico Gentili Hugo Grotius Samuel Pufendorf Christian Wolff Emer de Vattel Johann Jacob Moser and Immanuel Kant It draws attention to the international dimension of political thought in Thomas Hobbes John Locke Jean Jacques Rousseau David Hume Adam Smith and others This is predominantly a study in intellectual history which contextualizes ideas but also emphasizes their systematic relevance Journal of the House of Representatives Texas. of Arms Trade Law highlighting its inadequacies in preventing weapons from reaching perpetrators of mass violence Drawing on interviews participant observation and empirical research to assess the perspectives of judges and lawyers it also explores the International Criminal Court's narrow focus on prosecuting political and military leaders Arguing that institutional attitudes and commitments contribute to a legal culture that obscures the potential for an arms trader case the book illustrates these dynamics through a case study of the UN Security Council's response to the Second Congo War and the ICC's investigations in the DRC Situation elucidating missed opportunities to enforce accountability against the entire spectrum of actors responsible for international crimes Through detailed examination of the arms trade's complexities The Arms Trade and International Criminal Law foregrounds the structural causes of atrocity and argues for broader accountability It investigates how individuals including corporate executives state officials and arms traffickers can be held directly accountable for atrocities under international law even when their actions are geographically or causally distant from the violence itself Furthermore by advancing a specific interpretation of the actus reus and mens rea elements of accomplice liability under Article 25 of the Rome Statute this book argues for a robust legal basis upon which the ICC can prosecute arms traders It therefore underscores how international criminal law can complement existing regulations by leveraging its expressive function to condemn all those who profit from atrocity

Liberia and the Dialectic of Law Shane

Chalmers, 2018-05-16 It is the condition of modernity that an institution cannot depend on a god tradition or any other transcendental source to secure its foundations which thereby come to rest upon or rather in and through its subjects Never wholly separated from its subjects and yet never identical with them this contradictory condition provides a way of seeing how modern law gives form to life and how law takes form enlivened by its subjects By driving Theodor Adorno's dialectical philosophy into the concept of law the book shows how this contradictory condition enables law to become instituted in ways that are hostile to its subjects but also how law remains open to its subjects and thus disposed towards transformation To flesh out an understanding of this contradiction the book examines the making and remaking of Liberia from its conception as an idea of liberty at the beginning of the nineteenth century to its reconstruction at the beginning of the twenty first with the assistance of an international intervention to establish a state based on the rule of law In so doing the book shows how law is at the epicentre of a colonising power in Liberia that renders subjects as mere objects but at the same time the book exposes the instability of this power by showing how law is also enlivened by its subjects as it takes form in and through their lives and interactions It is this fundamentally contradictory condition of law that ultimately denies power any absolute hold leaving law open to the self expression of its subjects
