Rebuilding Community Shenila Khoja-Moolji,2023 Over the course of the twentieth century Shia Ismaili Muslim communities were repeatedly displaced How in the aftermath of these displacements did they remake their communities Shenila Khoja Moolji highlights women s critical role in this rebuilding process and breaks new ground by writing women into modern Ismaili history Rebuilding Community tells the story of how Ismaili Muslim women who fled East Pakistan and East Africa in the 1970s recreated religious community jamat in North America Drawing on oral histories fieldwork and memory texts Khoja Moolji illuminates the placemaking activities through which Ismaili women reproduce bonds of spiritual kinship from cooking for congregants on feast days and looking after sick coreligionists to engaging in memory work through miracle stories and cookbooks Khoja Moolji situates these activities within the framework of ethical norms that more broadly define and sustain the Ismaili sociality Jamat and religious community more generally is not a given but an ethical relation that is maintained daily and intergenerationally through everyday acts of care By emphasizing women s care work in producing relationality and repairing trauma Khoja Moolji disrupts the conventional articulation of displaced people as dependent subjects

Manly Meals and Mom's Home Cooking Jessamyn Neuhaus, 2012-03-15 A study of what American cookbooks from the 1790s to the 1960s can show us about gender roles food and culture of their time From the first edition of The Fannie Farmer Cookbook to the latest works by today s celebrity chefs cookbooks reflect more than just passing culinary fads As historical artifacts they offer a unique perspective on the cultures that produced them In Manly Meals and Mom s Home Cooking Jessamyn Neuhaus offers a perceptive and piquant analysis of the tone and content of American cookbooks published between the 1790s and the 1960s adroitly uncovering the cultural assumptions and anxieties particularly about women and domesticity they contain Neuhaus s in depth survey of these cookbooks questions the supposedly straightforward lessons about food preparation they imparted While she finds that cookbooks aimed to make readers mainly white middle class women into effective modern age homemakers who saw joy not drudgery in their domestic tasks she notes that the phenomenal popularity of Peg Bracken s 1960 cookbook The I Hate to Cook Book attests to the limitations of this kind of indoctrination At the same time she explores the proliferation of bachelor cookbooks aimed at the man in the kitchen and the biases they display about male and female abilities tastes and responsibilities Neuhaus also addresses the impact of World War II rationing on homefront cuisine the introduction of new culinary technologies gourmet sensibilities and ethnic foods into American kitchens and developments in the cookbook industry since the 1960s More than a history of the cookbook Manly Meals and Mom s Home Cooking provides an absorbing and enlightening account of gender and food in modern America An engaging analysis Neuhaus provides a rich and well researched cultural history of American gender roles through her clever use of cookbooks

Sarah Eppler Janda History Reviews of New Books With sound scholarship and a focus on prescriptive food literature Manly Meals makes an original and useful contribution to our understanding of how gender roles are institutionalized and perpetuated Warren Belasco senior editor of The Oxford Encyclopedia of American Food and Drink An excellent addition to the history of women's roles in America as well as to the history of cookbooks Choice Silentium Connie T. Braun, 2017-09-26 With this collection of meditative personal memoir and lyrical essays and narrative poetry Connie T Braun explores the multi valences of silence within themes of loss displacement identity heritage and faith Reflecting on her childhood in Canada and her ancestral Mennonite homeplace these pieces form a memoir about her maternal grandparents and her mother's life in Poland their experiences of war and displacement and their eventual immigration and acculturation In these pages and in consecutive travels to Poland the author invites the reader to accompany her as she traverses the territory of old and new worlds war and peace the landscape of dispossession and the mass forced migrations of World War II within the ground of holocaust Braun conveys through story that not only words but silences speak meaning Private memory within the historical record reveals people caught up in catastrophe striving to survive with their humanity intact These are stories crafted from silence and language memory and obscurity faith and doubt chaos and hope the past and future possibility Telling and listening to stories performs the acts of mourning and witness and attests to the regenerative and transcendent qualities of narrative USA Cookbook Sheila Lukins, 1997-01-01 Includes recipes for all American breakfasts lunches dinners snacks and desserts
