Modern Architecture in Theatre A. Read, 2013-11-21 If the city is the theatre of urban life how does architecture act in its many performances This book reconstructs the spatial experiments of Art et Action a theatre troupe active in 1920s Paris and how their designs for theater buildings show how the performance spaces interacted with actors and spectators according to their type

Rene Herbst Gillemette Delaporte, 2004-10-01 Reneacute Herbst s enduring furniture designs provide fundamental lessons for today s interior designers A staunch modernist Herbst was a founding member and later president of the Union des artistes modernes UAM in France which sought to make domestic comfort accessible to all regardless of class The diversity of his work is testament to his prolific and creative output and his design is marked by its simplicity and functionality The French architect turned designer was nicknamed the man of steel because he pioneered the use of the material for furniture years before mass production on a large scale was possible In 1929 he created several versions of his celebrated Sandow Chair which ignited his research into serial production and inaugurated the era of mass production This book presents a selection of the best works from the Herbst Collection held by the library of the Museacute e des Arts deacute coratifs in Paris and demonstrates how Herbst was the catalyst of a new style of living that spurred the birth of modernity

History of Modern Design David Raizman, 2003 An exploration of the parallel development of product and graphic design from the 18th century to the 21st The effects of mass production and consumption man made industrial materials and extended lines of communication are also discussed

Part-Architecture Emma Cheatle, 2017-07-20 Part Architecture presents a detailed and original study of Pierre Chareau's Maison de Verre through another seminal modernist artwork Marcel Duchamp's Large Glass Aligning the two works materially historically and conceptually the book challenges the accepted architectural descriptions of the Maison de Verre makes original spatial and social accounts of its inhabitation in 1930s Paris and presents new architectural readings of the Large Glass Through a rich analysis which incorporates creative projects into history and theory research the book establishes new ways of writing about architecture Designed for politically progressive gynaecologist Dr Jean Dalsace and his avant garde wife Annie Dalsace the Maison de Verre combines a family home with a gynaecology clinic into a free plan layout Screened only by glass walls the presence of the clinic in the home suggests an untold dialogue on 1930s sexuality The text explores the Maison de Verre through another radical glass construction the Large Glass where Duchamp's complex depiction of unconsummated sexual relations across the glass planes reveals his resistance to the marital conventions of 1920s Paris This and other analyses of the Large Glass are used as a framework to examine the Maison de Verre as a register of the changing history of women's domestic and maternal choices reclaiming the building as a piece of female social architectural history The process used to uncover and write the accounts in the book is termed part architecture Derived from psychoanalytic theory part architecture fuses analytical descriptive and creative processes to produce a unique social and architectural critique Identifying three essential materials to the Large Glass the book has three main chapters Glass Dust and Air Combining theory text creative writing and drawing each traces the history and meaning of the material and its contribution to the spaces and sexuality of the Large Glass and the Maison de Verre As a whole the book contributes important and unique spatial readings to existing scholarship and expands definitions of architectural design and history
