Russian Security After The Cold War Seven Views From Moscow:

Russian Security After the Cold War Aleksei Georgievich Arbatov, 1994 Parameters ,1996 The Arms Production Dilemma Randall Forsberg, 1994 The studies show how military strategy planned forces and the age of systems in the current inventory affect the domestic demand for new production how the recent drop in domestic demand affects arms industries and the extent to which governments and firms in the arms producing nations are turning to exports to sustain the industries In the shrinking arms market of the post Cold War era countries with advanced arms industries face difficult choices concerning force size arms production arms export and defense industrial capacity This book explores the links among these issues through a detailed study of the combat aircraft industries in the United States Russia Britain France Germany Italy and Sweden the seven countries that develop produce and export all of the world s technologically advanced weapon systems The studies show how military strategy planned forces and the age of systems in the current inventory affect the domestic demand for new production how the recent drop in domestic demand affects arms industries and the extent to which governments and firms in the arms producing nations are turning to exports to sustain the industries Stunning changes in Russia s combat aircraft forces industry and strategy are detailed here for the first time as are expected future Russian combat aircraft exports to China Newly compiled data also show that in the United States and Russia and globally arms production for export will exceed production for domestic use for the first time in history starting in 1995 Arms production is thus increasingly dominated by commercial rather than security interests Ultimately at issue is whether governments will exploit the opportunity offered by the dramatic post Cold War contraction of the world arms market to reduce their armed forces and constrain international arms trade while shrinking the arms industry or keep pushing arms exports that generate new threats and justify larger armed forces more arms production and bigger arms industries

Drezner,1999-08-26 Despite their increasing importance there is little theoretical understanding of why nation states initiate economic sanctions or what determines their success This book argues that both imposers and targets of economic coercion incorporate expectations of future conflict as well as the short run opportunity costs of coercion into their behaviour Drezner argues that conflict expectations have a paradoxical effect Adversaries will impose sanctions frequently but rarely secure concessions Allies will be reluctant to use coercion but once sanctions are used they can result in significant concessions Ironically the most favourable distribution of payoffs is likely to result when the imposer cares the least about its reputation or the distribution of gains The book s argument is pursued using game theory and statistical analysis and detailed case studies of Russia s relations with newly independent states and US efforts to halt nuclear proliferation on the Korean peninsula Publisher description The Greek Paradox Graham Allison,Kalypso Nicolaidis,1997-01-07 As a bridge between the East and West a pole of stability in the Balkans and a Mediterranean crossroads Greece could play a significant role in the post Cold War world But Greece s performance in domestic and international policy falls short of this promise The essays in The Greek Paradox look at some of the reasons for this gap and suggest possible political and economic reforms The contributors both scholars and policymakers examine a range of contemporary issues in the Balkans and on NATO s southern flank The essays shed light on nation building political and economic development modernization and post Cold War international relations Contributors Graham T Allison Gianna Angelopoulos Daskalaki P Nikiforos Diamandouros Michael S Dukakis Misha Glenny Dimitris Keridis F Stephen Larrabee Kalypso Nicola dis Joseph S Nye Jr Alexis Papahelas Elizabeth Prodromou Monteagle Stearns Constantine Stephanopoulos Stavros B Thomadakis Basilios E Tsingos Loukas Tsoukalis Susan Woodward CSIA Studies in International Security Nuclear Weapons and Arms Control in the Middle East Shai Feldman,1997 The political dimensions of the Arab Israeli relationship have changed dramatically in recent years Israel and its Arab neighbors have made remarkable progress toward resolving long standing conflicts In Nuclear Weapons and Arms Control in the Middle East Shai Feldman considers whether these political breakthroughs have set the stage for agreements on controlling nuclear weapons in the region He presents a richly detailed overview of the current situation and lays out an agenda for future efforts to reduce the risk of nuclear war in the Middle East Feldman whose background in strategic studies includes nearly two decades of research at Tel Aviv University s Jaffee Center for Strategic Studies provides a comprehensive analysis of the nuclear programs of Algeria Egypt Iran Iraq Israel Libya and Syria He presents a detailed picture of how Israel and the Arab states view nuclear weapons their utility and the threats they pose to regional security and explores the different approaches that Israel and the Arab states have adopted toward nuclear arms control Feldman concludes by
