Computers in Translation John Newton, 2002-09-11 Researchers have been attempting to develop systems that would emulate the human translation process for some forty years What is it about human language that makes this such a daunting challenge While other software packages have achieved rapid and lasting success machine translation has failed to penetrate the worldwide market to any appreciable extent Does this merely reflect a reluctance to adopt it or does it signal a more fundamental and intractable problem Computers in Translation is a comprehensive guide to the practical issues surrounding machine translation and computer based translation tools Translators system designers system operators and researchers present the facts about machine translation its history its successes its limitations and its potential Three chapters deal with actual machine translation applications discussing installations including the METEO system used in Canada to translate weather forecasts and weather reports and the system used in the Foreign Technology Division of the US Air Force

"Critical" situations in multicultural teams: The role of emotions Gerd Reisinger, 2005-02-09 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Interest in emotions within organisation increased in the last years However research in this field is scarce In the discussion about emotions in organisation the increasing number of multicultural teams is adding an additional variable culture making research even more complicated Practitioners report that where culture meets conflicts accompanied by negative emotions such as anger occur However also positive emotions like happiness may occur having a positive influence on motivation and enhance cohesion what may be considered as benefit in multicultural teams Although anger as well happiness are considered as universally experienced emotion there is some evidence that the causes expression and the behaviour which follows anger and happiness are culturally influenced In multicultural teams the knowledge about the antecedents of these two emotions and the following behaviour seems to be especially important as on one hand misunderstandings and conflict connected with anger may have serious social consequences reducing performance or even resulting in counterproductive behaviour threatening the organisation and on the other hand experience of success and good communication enhancing team collaboration seems to be connected with happiness This thesis aims to contribute to a better understanding with regards to the culturally influenced antecedents of the two emotions anger and happiness as well as about the resulting behavioural consequences in multicultural team settings The two research questions guiding this work are 1 In which multicultural team situations do the emotions anger and happiness arise 2 Which are the antecedents in team settings of the two emotions and which is the resulting behaviour respectively consequences that follows Ahead the Theoretical Part should provide the reader a basic introduction about emotions and the connected relevant factors like cognition sociality and culture with regard to the research questions Offering a working definition of culture and emotion the attempt to illustrate the role of emotion in multicultural team settings as well the discussion about the discrepancy of expectation and of expression regarding emotions throughout cultures should make the reader more sensible about a the possible detected differences in antecedents and behavioural consequences and b their impact in multicultural teams In Chapter One a discussion about Natural Language Processing - IJCNLP 2004 Keh-Yih Su,Jun'ichi Tsujii,Jong-Hyeok Lee,Oi Yee Kwong,2005-01-31 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post proceedings of the First International Joint Conference on Natural Language Processing IJCNLP 2004 held in Hainan Island China in March 2004 The 84 revised full papers presented in this volume were carefully selected during two rounds of reviewing and improvement from 211 papers submitted The papers are organized in topical sections on dialogue and discourse FSA and parsing algorithms information extractions and question answering information retrieval lexical semantics ontologies and linguistic resources machine translation and multilinguality NLP software and applications semantic disambiguities statistical models and machine learning taggers chunkers and shallow parsers text and sentence generation text mining theories and formalisms for morphology syntax and semantics word segmentation NLP in mobile information retrieval and user interfaces and text mining in bioinformatics Exploring Translation and Multilingual Text Production Erich Steiner,Colin Yallop,2013-02-06 The series serves to propagate investigations into language usage especially with respect to computational support This includes all forms of text handling activity not only interlingual translations but also conversions carried out in response to different communicative tasks Among the major topics are problems of text transfer and the interplay between human and machine activities Language and Automation ,1970

Cross-Linguistic Variation in System and Text Elke Teich,2012-02-13 The intuition that translations are somehow different from texts that are not translations has been around for many years but most of the common linguistic frameworks are not comprehensive enough to account for the wealth and complexity of linguistic phenomena that make a translation a special kind of text The present book provides a novel methodology for investigating the specific linguistic properties of translations As this methodology is both corpus based and driven by a functional theory of language it is powerful enough to account for the multi dimensional nature of cross linguistic variation in translations and cross lingually comparable texts

Rural Space in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age Albrecht Classen,2012-05-29 Older research on the premodern world limited its focus on the Church the court and more recently on urban space The present volume invites readers to consider the meaning of rural space both in light of ecocritical readings and social historical approaches While previous scholars examined the figure of the peasant in the premodern world the current volume combines a large number of specialized studies that investigate how the natural environment and the appearance of members of the rural population interacted with the world of the court and of the city The experience in rural space was important already for writers and artists in the premodern era as the large variety of scholarly approaches indicates The present volume signals how much the surprisingly close interaction between members of the aristocratic and of the peasant class determined many literary and art historical works In a surprisingly large number of cases we can even discover elements of utopia hidden in rural space We also observe how much the rural world was a significant element already in early medieval mentality Moreover as many authors point out the impact of natural forces on premodern society was tremendous if not catastrophic

Reconsidering Europeanization Florian Greiner, Peter Pichler, Jan Vermeiren, 2022-08-01 This pertinent and highly original volume explores how ideas of Europe and processes of continental political socio economic and cultural integration have been intertwined since the nineteenth century Applying a wider definition of Europeanization in the sense of becoming European it will pay equal attention to counter processes of disentanglement and disintegration that have accompanied slowed down or displaced such trends and developments By focusing on the practices agents and experience of Europeanization the volume strives to bring together the history of ideas and the history of human actions and conduct two approaches that are usually treated separately in the field of European studies
