Sculptural Handwriting:

Sculptural Handwriting Vojtěch Volavka, 1955 Sculptural Handwriting Vojtěch Volavka, 1900 Sculpture and Touch Peter Dent, 2017-07-05 Since the Renaissance at least the medium of sculpture has been associated explicitly with the sense of touch Sculptors philosophers and art historians have all linked the two often in strikingly different ways In spite of this long running interest in touch and tactility it is vision and visuality which have tended to dominate art historical research in recent decades This book introduces a new impetus to the discussion of the relationship between touch and sculpture by setting up a dialogue between art historians and individuals with fresh insights who are working in disciplines beyond art history The collection brings together a rich and diverse set of approaches with essays tackling subjects from prehistoric figurines to the work of contemporary artists from pre modern ideas about the physiology of touch to tactile interaction in the museum environment and from the phenomenology of touch in recent philosophy to the experimental findings of scientific study It is the first volume on this subject to take such a broad approach and as such seeks to set the agenda for future research and collaboration in this area Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture Lene Termark-Johansen, 2017-07-05 Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture is the first monograph to discuss the Victorian critic Walter Pater's attitude to sculpture It brings together Pater's aesthetic theories with his theories on language and writing to demonstrate how his ideas of the visual and written language are closely interlinked Going beyond Pater's views on sculpture as an art form this study traces the notion of relief rilievo and hybrid form in Pater and his view of the writer as sculptor a carver in language Alongside her treatment of rilievo as a pervasive trope Lene Termark-Johansen also employs the idea of rivalry paragone more broadly examining Pater's concern with positioning himself as an art critic in the late Victorian art world Situating Pater within centuries of European aesthetic theories as never before done Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture throws new light on the extraordinary complexity and coherence of Pater's writing The critic is repositioned solidly within Victorian art and literature Islamic Calligraphy Sheila S. Blair, 2020-01-19 No detailed description available for Islamic Calligraphy Hawthorne, Sculpture, and the Question of American Art Deanna Fernie, 2016-12-05 Deanna Fernie analyzes the significance of sculpture in Hawthorne's fiction through the recurring motif of the fragment in its double guise as ruin and project Her book casts new light on Hawthorne's memorable ruined and unfinished images from the rough hewn figurehead of Drowne's Wooden Image 1844 to the tattered letter A in the unfinished loft of the Custom House in The Scarlet Letter 1850 and the unfinished bust of Donatello in The Marble Faun 1860 Fernie shows how the tension between the formed and unformed enabled Hawthorne to interrogate the origins and the distinctive possibilities of art in America in relation to established European models At the same time she suggests that sculpture challenged and provoked Hawthorne's shaping of his own specifically literary art stimulating him to develop its capacities for expressing irresolution and change Fernie establishes the intellectual contexts for her study through a discussion of sculpture and fragmentary form as revealed in American British and Continental thought Her book will be an important text not only for American literature scholars but also for anyone interested in British and Continental Romanticism and the intersections of art and literature

Modern Sculpture Reader Jon Wood, David Hulks, Alex Potts, 2012-08-21 In many anthologies of art sculpture is given short shrift in relation to other media if it is treated at all Modern Sculpture Reader aims to rectify this situation by presenting a collection of important texts that have defined sculpture's radically changing status and role since the end of the nineteenth century a time marked by a general reappraisal of the forms and functions of art From the rigorously theoretical to the experimental and poetic Modern Sculpture Reader offers a lively discourse on the medium by a range of artists writers critics and poets Marcel Duchamp Louise Bourgeois Claes Oldenberg Andr Breton Ezra Pound and Clement Greenberg in a variety of genres poems lectures transcribed interviews newspaper and magazine articles and artists statements These diverse text selections offer valuable insight into the development of the critical language of sculpture and its connections to other media in an era of increasingly conceptual artistic practice Many of the essays highlight key ongoing concerns such as sculpture's physical properties and conditions of display both of which have important implications for the viewer's tactile and emotional interaction with sculptural works

The Critical I Norman Norwood Holland, 1992 Asserting that literary theory needs a dose of common sense this treatise attacks Saussurean linguistics as outmoded and discredited in its elimination of its subjects It claims that postmodernist ideas of the individual rest on false linguistic and psychological premises explores genres through the history of philosophy providing new ways of thinking about philosophical writing Exploring a wide range of both European and analytic philosophers and their works including Plato Aristotle Hume Kant Nietzsche Deleuze Wittgenstein Derrida and Rorty Genres of Philosophy explores the reading and writing of philosophers who themselves read and write revealing the textual relation to the history of philosophy While the focus of the book is in aesthetics Ferrell reveals that the interest in philosophy's writing turns out to be a metaphysical question The question becomes one of evaluating the ontological basis for writing its subject and its means of expression within a world of thought which is presently captivated by a particular aesthetic that of the empiricist Presenting fresh readings of classic texts in aesthetics and offering an original approach to the question of philosophical writing this unique analysis will prove of particular interest to readers in European philosophy the history of philosophy aesthetics and literary studies
