People of the Plow James McCann, 1995-07-15 For more than two thousand years Ethiopia s ox plow agricultural system was the most efficient and innovative in Africa but has been afflicted in the recent past by a series of crises famine declining productivity and losses in biodiversity James C McCann analyzes the last two hundred years of agricultural history in Ethiopia to determine whether the ox plow agricultural system has adapted to population growth new crops and the challenges of a modern political economy based in urban centers This agricultural history is set in the context of the larger environmental and landscape history of Ethiopia showing how farmers have integrated crops tools and labor with natural cycles of rainfall and soil fertility as well as with the social vagaries of changing political systems McCann traces characteristic features of Ethiopian farming such as the single tine scratch plow which has retained a remarkably consistent design over two millennia and a crop repertoire that is among the most genetically diverse in the world People of the Plow provides detailed documentation of Ethiopian agricultural practices since the early nineteenth century by examining travel narratives early agricultural surveys photographs and engravings modern farming systems research and the testimony of farmers themselves collected during McCann's five years of fieldwork He then traces the ways those practices have evolved in the twentieth century in response to population growth urban markets and the presence of new technologies

Temperature and Environmental Effects on the Testis Adrian W. Zoragniotti, 2013-03-13 It must be considered that there is nothing more difficult to carry out nor more doubtful of success nor more dangerous to handle than to initiate a new order of things Machiavelli The Prince 1513 These are the Proceedings of a Conference on Temperature and Environmental Factors and the Testis which took place at New York University School of Medicine December 8th and 9th 1989 There is good reason to believe that this was the first of its kind to address exclusively the implications of temperature for this highly thermosensitive organ and its precious genetic cargo The organizers of the Conference hoped to stimulate interest in this area which paradoxically has a considerable literature but which has received scant attention and sometimes outright opposition from clinicians expert in male infertility There have been studies of the relationship of temperature to reproduction starting in the mid 18th Century with observations of the relationship of water temperature to spawning of fish There is also a vast literature on the deleterious effects of externally applied heat upon spermatogenesis but little study of the possibility that intrinsic heat may be an important etiologic factor in subfertile semen Today fertility research has largely ignored this in favor of research in areas which have not produced successes in terms of live births comparable to what can be obtained by varicocelelectomy when appropriate or scrotal hypothermia viz 1 Concentration upon the endocrine aspects of testicular function and its relation to spermatogenesis Critical Reviews in Tropical Medicine R.K. Chandra,2012-12-06

At the present time there are renewed global efforts to control the major tropical infections and to stem the tide of malnutrition the two serious often intertwined problems that contribute to much of the morbidity and mortality in under privileged populations Many international organizations have joined hands with national governments and with the private sector to search for new approaches to problems that beset much of the developing world including countries in the tropical region This volume continues the tradition of the previous publication in the Series A variety of fare is offered to readers explanations of the activities and achievements of the UNDP World Bank WHO Special Programme for Research and Training in Tropical Diseases and studies of infant mortality schistosomiasis trypanosomiasis helminths lactase deficiency oral rehydration therapy functional consequences of iron deficiency and fertility control Authoritative state of the art reviews provide a critical analysis of recent data I hope the Series will continue to prove useful to all those working in the tropics and to those in the industrialized countries whose awareness of physical health problems of the Third World is relatively limited R K Chandra St John s Newfoundland VII Contents Chapter 1 The Special Programme for Research and Training in Tropical Diseases DAVID S ROWE 1 Origins Objectives and Diseases 1 2 The Modus Operandi of the Programme 3 2 1 Scientific Working Groups 3 2 2 Research Strengthening Group 7 2 3 The Scientific and Technical Advisory Committee 7 2 4 Joint Coordinating Board Revolutionizing Development Andrea Cornwall,Ian Scoones,2022-03-28 This book tells the story of development studies in practice over the last fifty years through the work of one remarkable individual Robert Chambers His work has taken him from being a colonial officer in Kenya through training and managing large rural development projects to a fundamental critique of top down development and the championing of participatory approaches The contributors eloquently demonstrate how he has been at the centre of major shifts in development thinking and practice over this period popularising terms that are now at the centre of the development lexicon such as vulnerability multi dimensional poverty sustainable livelihoods and farmer first Robert Chambers played a major role in the massive growth in participatory approaches to development and particularly the application of participatory methods in development research and appraisal This has led to fundamental challenges to development practice ranging from approaches to monitoring and evaluation to institutional learning and professional training There is probably no one who has had more influence on approaches to development in the past decades Revolutionizing Development offers a unique overview of these contributions in thirty two concise chapters from authors who have been intimately involved as collaborators critics and colleagues of Robert Chambers

Development and the Environmental Crisis Michael Redclift, 2010-11-26 First published in 1984 Michael Redclift's book makes the global environmental crisis a central concern of political economy and its structural causes a central concern of environmentalism Michael Redclift argues that a close analysis of the environmental crisis in the South reveals the importance of the share of resources obtained by different social groups The development strategies based on the experiences and interests of Western capitalist countries fail to recognise that environmental degradation in the South is a product of inequalities in both global and local economic relations and cannot be solved simply by applying solutions borrowed from environmentalism in the North The key to understanding the South's environmental problems lies in the recognition that structural processes markets technology state intervention are also a determining influence upon the way natural resources are used Through his review of Europe's Green Movement contemporary breakthroughs in biotechnology and information systems and recent feminist discourse Michael Redclift has enlarged the compass of the environmental debate and produced a book which should serve as a benchmark in future discussions of development and the environment It will be of importance to students in a range of disciplines within development studies geography ecology and the social sciences

Different Places, Different Voices Vivian Kinnaird, Janet Momsen, 2002-03-11 Different Places Different Voices challenges Western feminist and post colonial approaches in its analysis of the changing lives of women of Asia Africa Latin America and Oceania Recognising the significance of place this is a book informed by the voices of female geographers from the developing world Twenty case studies present regional perspectives on urban and rural development household reproduction and production and community organisation The theoretical and contextual approach and the emphasis on location and positionality highlight the differences created by place to suggest other ways of seeing
