Seattle Cityscape 2:

Seattle Cityscape #2 Victor Steinbrueck, 1973      Magic Lands John M. Findlay, 1993-09-22 The American West conjures up images of pastoral tranquility and wide open spaces but by 1970 the Far West was the most urbanized section of the country Exploring four intriguing cityscapes Disneyland Stanford Industrial Park Sun City and the 1962 Seattle World's Fair John Findlay shows how each created a sense of cohesion and sustained people's belief in their superior urban environment This first book length study of the urban West after 1940 argues that Westerners deliberately tried to build cities that differed radically from their eastern counterparts In 1954 Walt Disney began building the world's first theme park using Hollywood's movie making techniques The creators of Stanford Industrial Park were more hesitant in their approach to a conceptually organized environment but by the mid 1960s the Park was the nation's prototypical research park and the intellectual downtown for the high technology region that became Silicon Valley In 1960 on the outskirts of Phoenix Del E Webb built Sun City the largest most influential retirement community in the United States Another innovative cityscape arose from the 1962 Seattle World's Fair and provided a futuristic somewhat fanciful vision of modern life These four became magic lands that provided an antidote to the apparent chaos of their respective urban milieus Exemplars of a new lifestyle they are landmarks on the changing cultural landscape of postwar America      Seattle and the Roots of Urban Sustainability Jeffrey Craig Sanders, 2010-08-29 Seattle often called the Emerald City did not achieve its green clean and sustainable environment easily This thriving ecotopia is the byproduct of continuing efforts by residents businesses and civic leaders alike In Seattle and the Roots of Urban Sustainability Jeffrey Craig Sanders examines the rise of environmental activism in Seattle amidst the urban crisis of the 1960s and its aftermath Like much activism during this period the environmental movement began at the grassroots level in local neighborhoods over local issues Sanders links the rise of local environmentalism to larger movements for economic racial and gender equality and to a counterculture that changed the social and political landscape He examines emblematic battles that erupted over the planned demolition of Pike Place Market a local landmark and environmental organizing in the Central District during the War on Poverty Sanders also relates the story of Fort Lawton a decommissioned army base where Audubon Society members and Native American activists feuded over future land use The rise and popularity of environmental consciousness among Seattle's residents came to influence everything from industry to politics planning and global environmental movements Yet as Sanders reveals it was in the small local struggles that urban environmental activism began      Seattle, Past to Present Roger Sale, 2019-10-31 Roger Sale's Seattle Past to Present has become a beloved reflection of Seattle's history and its possible futures as imagined in 1976 when the book was first published Drawing on demographic analysis residential surveys portraiture and personal observation and reflection Sale provides his take on what was most important in each of Seattle's main periods from the city's founding when settlers built a city great enough that the railroads eventually had to come down to the post Boeing Seattle of the 1970s when the city was coming to terms with itself based on lessons from its past Along the way Sale touches on the economic diversity of late nineteenth century Seattle that allowed it to grow describes the major achievements of the first boom years in parks boulevards and neighborhoods of quiet elegance and draws portraits of people like Vernon Parrington Nellie Cornish and Mark Tobey who came to Seattle and flourished The result is a powerful assessment of Seattle s vitality the result of old timers and newcomers mixing both in harmony and in antagonism With a new introduction by Seattle journalist Knute Berger this edition invites today s readers to revisit Sale s time capsule of Seattle and perhaps learn something unexpected about this ever changing city     Stirring Up Seattle R. M. Campbell,2014-11-01 In the 1950s the city of Seattle began a transformation from an insular provincial outpost to a vibrant and cosmopolitan cultural center As veteran Seattle journalist R M Campbell illustrates in Stirring Up Seattle Allied Arts in the Civic Landscape this transformation was catalyzed in part by the efforts of a group of civic arts boosters originally known as The Beer and Culture Society This merry band of lawyers architects writers designers and university professors eventually known as Allied Arts of Seattle lobbied for public funding for the arts helped avert the demolition of Pike Place Market and were involved in a wide range of crusades and campaigns in support of historic preservation cultural institutions and urban livability     SR-90, Junction SR-5 to Vicinity Junction

Politics of Urban Runoff Andrew Karvonen, 2011-08-19 A study of urban stormwater runoff that explores the relationships among nature technology and society in cities When rain falls on the city it creates urban runoff that cause flooding erosion and water pollution Municipal engineers manage a complex network of technical and natural systems to treat and remove these temporary water flows from cities as quickly as possible Urban runoff is frequently discussed in terms of technical expertise and environmental management but it encompasses a multitude of such nontechnical issues as land use quality of life governance aesthetics and community identity and is central to the larger debates on creating more sustainable and livable cities In this book Andrew Karvonen uses urban runoff as a lens to view the relationships among nature technology and society Offering theoretical insights from urban environmental history human geography landscape and ecological planning and science and technology studies as well as empirical evidence from case studies Karvonen proposes a new relational politics of urban nature After describing the evolution of urban runoff practices Karvonen analyzes the urban runoff activities in Austin and Seattle two cities known for their highly contested public debates over runoff issues and exemplary storm water management practices The Austin case study highlights the tensions among urban development property rights land use planning and citizen activism the Seattle case study explores the city's long standing reputation for being in harmony with nature Drawing on these accounts Karvonen suggests a new relational politics of urban nature that is situated inclusive and action oriented to address the tensions among nature technology and society Insight Guides:
