Security The Middle East:

Security and Insecurity in the Middle East Imad El-Anis, Sahra Joharchi, Natasha Underhill, 2018-10-09 This volume draws together a number of research papers presented at a conference titled Security Insecurity and Prospects for Peace in the Middle East and North Africa organised by Nottingham Trent University's Middle East and North Africa Research cluster in April 2016. The conference focused on questions pertinent to what may be termed the post Arab Spring era in which the Middle East is experiencing unprecedented national and transnational challenges. Conflict, instability, radicalisation and the mass displacement of people have become increasingly salient features of the political and economic landscape of the region. The contributions here analyse a range of political, economic, security and socio-cultural issues that the authors argue lie at the heart of the instability that the region is currently experiencing. Re-thinking issues of security and insecurity in the Middle East not only allows us to explain what might have led to current instability but also allows us to posit possible solutions to these security issues. In doing so, this book goes beyond the concepts of security and insecurity as a standard account of perpetrator versus victim in a state-centric and violence-centric manner to a broader and more complex understanding of the underlying processes informing security and insecurity in the region. The contributors include scholars from around the world working in a variety of different fields including Middle Eastern studies, international relations and international political economy, providing an eclectic discussion of the state of the region. The Future Security Environment in the Middle East Nora Bensahel, Daniel Byman, 2004-03-12 This report identifies several important trends that are shaping regional security. It examines traditional security concerns such as energy security and the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction as well as newer challenges posed by political reform, economic reform, civil-military relations, leadership change and the information revolution. The report concludes by identifying the implications of these trends for U.S. foreign policy.

Regional Security in the Middle East, Building Regional Security in the Middle East Emily B. Landau, Tamar Malz, Zeev Maoz, 2004-11-23 Discussions on regional security were initiated in the Middle East in 1992 as part of the Middle East peace process. The collapse of the Oslo process and other regional developments in the latter half of the 1990s have diminished hopes that the initial gains made in this direction might further develop as violence has again become the primary mode of effecting political changes in the region. On the backdrop of this somewhat dismal current reality in the Middle East, the rationale for this volume is that research into regional security structures should nevertheless be pursued. When looking at the long-term process of creating regional security, setbacks are not unlikely. The articles that make up this collection focus on the problems that have been encountered and possible directions for getting regional efforts back on track. A special issue of the Journal of Strategic Studies. Security Issues in the Greater Middle East Karl Yambert, 2016-05-09 This textbook anthology of selected readings on pressing Middle East security concerns serves as an invaluable single volume assessment of critical security issues in nations such as Afghanistan, Egypt, Iran, Iraq, Israel, Lebanon,

Syria and Yemen The issues and current events of the Greater Middle East continue to hold deep implications for American geopolitical interests in the region as they have for many decades An ideal resource for students in undergraduate courses on the Middle East and related regions as well as students in graduate programs of international studies or security studies this textbook anthologizes recent insightful analyses by top scholars on trends and events in the Middle East that bear crucially on regional and global security considerations covering topics like Iran's nuclear ambitions the rise ebb and resurgence of Al Qaeda and the war in Syria The essays address concerns that include the re imposition of military rule in Egypt the current status of Palestinian Israeli relations the civil war and proposed chemical inspections in Syria Sunni Shiite conflict and the revitalized al Qaeda presence in Iraq and the Sunni resurgence in Iraq and Syria and the on again off again international monitoring of nuclear facilities in Iran along with discussions of that country's connections to the Syrian regime and Hezbollah in Lebanon The use of drone strikes as antiterrorist weapons and their use within U S and international law also receive specific attention Each reading is summarized and contextualized by a concise introduction that serves to enhance the integration of the individual readings across the book Original source notes are included with each chapter as guides to further reading and numerous maps provide an essential sense of place The book also includes a glossary of terms and a register of brief biographies of significant persons

Regional Security Dialogue in the Middle East Chen

Kane, Egle Murauskaite, 2014-07-25 At this time of considerable political turmoil in the Middle East there is a pressing need to explore alternative frameworks for regional security The book discusses the Helsinki Process as one potentially relevant historical model to learn from The Helsinki Process began in a divided Europe in the early 1970s and over 40 years achieved major successes in promoting cooperation between the Warsaw Pact and NATO member states on social human rights security and political issues In this volume established Middle East experts former diplomats and emerging scholars assess the regional realities from a broad range of perspectives and with the current momentum for reform across the Middle East chart a path towards a comprehensive mechanism that could promote long term regional security Providing a gamut of views on regional threat perception and suggesting ways forward for regional peace this book is essential reading for students and

Human Security in the Middle East and North Africa Alaa Al-Din Arafat, 2024-12-20 This book analyzes major human security threats in the MENA region including food water energy climate and health security It also examines sectarian conflict terrorism and poverty in the region The author highlights the relationship between human security concerns and conventional or military security threats He demonstrates how MENA nations failed to respond to the region's human security threats and to develop a human security formula and regional security architecture that included both human and conventional security threats Therefore this book concludes that the MENA region's future will be determined by its governments ability to address human security threats Migration, Security, and Citizenship in the Middle East P. Seeberg, Z. Eyadat, 2013-08-13 This volume addresses new tendencies related to migration from a Middle Eastern and Mediterranean perspective and with an emphasis on security and citizenship Contributors aim not only to intervene in scholarly debates surrounding citizenship and migration but also to contribute to policy oriented discussions related to migration
