Seeing In The Dark A Compendium Of Cinemagoing:

Seeing in the Dark Ian Breakwell, Paul Hammond, 1990 Contributors who share a deep passion for the cinema recount their personal recollections of cinema going in this anthology which describes open air film shows in Baghdad or Australia childhood memories of the cinema in London fashionable art cinemas in New York and dingy flea pits elsewhere Cinema Memories Melvyn Stokes, Matthew Jones, Emma Pett, 2022-03-10 Cinema Memories brings together and analyses the memories of almost a thousand people of going to the cinema in Britain during the 1960s It offers a fresh perspective on the social cultural and film history of what has come to be seen as an iconic decade with the release of films such as A Taste of Honey The Sound of Music Darling Blow Up Alfie The Graduate and Bonnie and Clyde Drawing on first hand accounts authors Melvyn Stokes Matthew Jones and Emma Pett explore how cinema goes constructed meanings from the films they watched through a complex process of negotiation between the films concerned their own social and cultural identities and their awareness of changes in British society Their analysis helps the reader see what light the cultural memory of 1960s cinema going sheds on how the Sixties in Britain is remembered and interpreted Positioning their study within debates about memory 1960s cinema and the seemingly transformative nature of this decade of British history the authors reflect on the methodologies deployed the use of memories as historical sources and the various ways in which cinema and cinema going came to mean something to their audiences Seeing in the Dark Ian Breakwell, Paul Hammond, 1990 Contributors who share a deep passion for the cinema recount their personal recollections of cinema going in this anthology which describes open air film shows in Baghdad or Australia childhood memories of the cinema in London fashionable art cinemas in New York and dingy flea pits elsewhere British Cinema in the Fifties Christine Geraghty, 2002-01-04 In the fifties British cinema won large audiences with popular war films and comedies creating stars such as Dirk Bogarde and Kay Kendall and introducing the stereotypes of war hero boffin and comic bureaucrat which still help to define images of British national identity In British Cinema in the Fifties Christine Geraghty examines some of the most popular films of this period exploring the ways in which they approached contemporary social issues such as national identity the end of empire new gender roles and the care of children Through a series of case studies on films as diverse as It Always Rains on Sunday and Genevieve Simba and The Wrong Arm of the Law Geraghty explores some of the key debates about British cinema and film theory contesting current emphases on contradiction subversion and excess and exploring the curious mix of rebellion and conformity which marked British cinema in the post war era Cinephilia and History, or The Wind in the Trees Christian Keathley, 2005-11-24 Cinephilia and History or The Wind in the Trees is in part a history of cinephilia in part an attempt to recapture the spirit of cinephilia for the discipline of film studies and in part an experiment in cinephilic writing Cinephiles have regularly fetishized contingent marginal details in the motion picture image the gesture of a hand the wind in the trees Christian Keathley demonstrates that the spectatorial tendency that produces such cinematic encounters a viewing practice marked by a drift in visual attention away from the primary visual elements on display in fact has clear links to the origins of film as defined by Andr Bazin Roland Barthes and others Keathley explores the implications of this ontology and proposes the cinephiliac anecdote as a new type of criticism a method of historical writing that both imitates and extends the experience of these fugitive moments Comprehending Cinema Scott MacDonald,2024-10-22 Comprehending Cinema is a collection of in depth interviews and panoramic essays that model a generalist approach to modern audiovisual media prioritizing remarkable cinematic accomplishments that can get lost within our overwhelming modern mediascape It offers a reading adventure dedicated to opening the door to exciting new kinds of film experience British Film Institute Film Classics

Rob White,Edward Buscombe,2003 Viewing Positions Linda Williams,1995 On visual perception in film and human subjectivity Asian American Film Festivals Erin Franziska Högerle,2020-10-26 Responding to a lack of studies on the film festival s role in the production of cultural memory this book explores different parameters through which film festivals shape our reception and memories of films By focusing on two Asian American film festivals this book analyzes the frames of memory that festivals create for their films constructed through and circulated by the various festival media It further establishes that festival locations both cities and screening venues play a significant role in shaping our experience of films Finally it shows that festivals produce performances which help guide audiences towards certain readings and direct the film s role as a memory object Bringing together film festival studies and memory studies Asian American Film Festivals offers a mixed methods approach with which to explore the film festival phenomenon thus shedding light on the complex dynamics of frames locations and performances shaping the festival s memory practices It also draws attention to the understudied genre of Asian American film festivals showing how these festivals actively engage in constructing and performing a minority group s collective identity and memory Modernist Communities across Cultures and Media Caroline Pollentier,Sarah

Wilson,2019-02-01 Questioning the assumption that modernism coincided with a loss of community Modernist Communities Across Cultures and Media seeks to recover modernism s own communal impulses Through a transnational and transmedial lens this volume explores the diverse ways in which modernism reconfigured the relationships between the individual and the communal
