Seeing The Invisible In Late Antiquity And The Early Middle Ages:

Seeing the Invisible in Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages Giselle de Nie, Karl Frederick Morrison, Marco Mostert, 2005 Limiting itself to the vital centuries when the late Roman West reshaped itself into a first Europe the conference explored the dominant conception of human nature in that era that human existence was both body in the visible world of material things and soul in the invisible world of spirit This was a legacy of pre Christian elements handed down from Greek philosophy and Hebrew Scriptures Assimilating it to indigenous cultures in the Roman West many alien to the ancient Mediterranean world precipitated sea changes in the understanding of human psychology Ensuing frictions sparked extraordinary expressions of creativity in words and visual images It also created dangerously subversive disequilibriums in the collective mentality within elites and between them and majority cultures The papers in this volume investigate numerous configurations of a new culture taking shape in that volatile environment They contribute to continuing debates about the cognitive co ordination of words and pictorial images and to cross disciplinary dialogues in such disparate fields as art history religious literature mysticism and cultural anthropology The Corporeal Imagination Patricia Cox Miller, 2012-02-28 With few exceptions the scholarship on religion in late antiquity has emphasized its tendencies toward transcendence abstraction and spirit at the expense of matter In The Corporeal Imagination Patricia Cox Miller argues instead that ancient Christianity took a material turn between the fourth and seventh centuries During this period Miller contends there occurred a major shift in the ways in which the human being was oriented in relation to the divine a shift that reconfigured the relationship between materiality and meaning in a positive direction The Corporeal Imagination is a groundbreaking investigation into the theological poetics of material substance in late ancient Christian texts From hagiographies to literary descriptions of sacred paintings to treatises on relics and theurgy Miller examines a wide variety of ancient texts to reveal how Christian writers increasingly described the matter of the world as invested with divine power By appealing to the reader s sensory imagination Christian texts endowed phenomena like relics saints bodies in hagiography and saints presence in icons with a visual and tactile presence The book draws on a variety of contemporary theoretical models to elucidate the significance of all these materials in ancient religious life and imagination Death and Rebirth in Late Antiquity Lee M. Jefferson, 2022-08-16 Death and rebirth was of vital importance to early Christians in late antiquity In late antiquity death was all encompassing Mortality rates were high plague and disease in urban areas struck at will and one lived on the knife s edge regarding one s health Religion filled a crucial role in this environment offering an option for those who sought cure and comfort Following death the inhumed were memorialized providing solace to family members through sculpture painting and epigraphy This book offers a sustained interdisciplinary treatment of death and rebirth a theme that early Christians and scholars found important By analysing the theme of death and rebirth through various lenses the contributors deepen our understanding of the early Christian funerary and liturgical practices as well as their engagement with other groups in the Empire Once Out of Nature Andrea Nightingale, 2011-06-01 Once Out of Nature offers an original interpretation of Augustine's theory of time and embodiment. Andrea Nightingale draws on philosophy, sociology, literary theory, and social history to analyze Augustine's conception of temporality, eternity, and the human and transhuman condition. In Nightingale's view, the notion of embodiment illuminates a set of problems much larger than the body itself; it captures the human experience of being an embodied soul dwelling on earth. In Augustine's writings, humans live both in and out of nature: exiled from Eden and punished by mortality, they are resident aliens on earth. While the human body is subject to earthly time, the human mind is governed by what Nightingale calls psychic time. For the human psyche, always stretches away from the present moment where the physical body persists into memories and expectations. As Nightingale explains, while the body is present in the here and now, the psyche cannot experience self-presence. Thus, for Augustine, the human being dwells in two distinct time zones: in earthly time and in psychic time. The human self, then, is a moving target. Adam, Eve, and the resurrected saints, by contrast, live outside of time and nature; these transhumans dwell in an everlasting present. Nightingale connects Augustine's views to contemporary debates about transhumans and suggests that Augustine's thought reflects our own ambivalent relationship with our bodies and the earth. Once Out of Nature offers a compelling invitation to ponder the boundaries of the human.

Perceptions of the Body and Sacred Space in Late Antiquity and Byzantium Jelena Bogdanovic, 2018-04-09 Perceptions of the Body and Sacred Space in Late Antiquity and Byzantium seeks to reveal Christian understanding of the body and sacred space in the medieval Mediterranean. Case studies examine encounters with the holy through the perspective of the human body and sensory dimensions of sacred space and discuss the dynamics of perception when experiencing what was constructed, represented, and understood as sacred. The comparative analysis investigates viewers' recognitions of the sacred in specific locations or segments of space with an emphasis on the experiential and conceptual relationships between sacred spaces and human bodies. This volume thus reassesses the empowering aspects of space, time, and human agency in religious contexts. By focusing on investigations of human endeavors towards experiential and visual expressions that shape perceptions of holiness, this study ultimately aims to present a better understanding of the corporeality of sacred art and architecture. The research points to how early Christians and Byzantines teleologically viewed the divine source of the sacred in terms of its ability to bring together but never fully dissolve the distinctions between the human and divine realms. The revealed mechanisms of iconic perception and noetic contemplation have the potential to shape knowledge of the meanings of the sacred as well as to improve our understanding of the liminality of the profane and the sacred.

From Face to Face Marina Prusac, 2016-08-29 This book is based on an investigation of more than 2000 portraits of which around 500 have proven to be recarved. It provides thorough analyses of the different recarving methods, some of which can be attributed to geographically localized workshops, establishing classifiable categories and an analytical text with special regard to the cultural/historical changes in Late Antiquity. The investigation underpins a hypothesis on the late antique portraits style as a consequence of the many recarved portraits at the time which relied on a syncretism of politics religion and ideology The conclusion gives a new understanding of how broad scoped culturally and politically encoded and comprehensive the practice of recarving was The Absent Image Elina Gertsman,2021-06-24 Winner of the 2022 Charles Rufus Morey Award from the College Art Association Winner of the 2023 Otto Gr ndler Book Prize from Western Michigan University Guided by Aristotelian theories medieval philosophers believed that nature abhors a vacuum Medieval art according to modern scholars abhors the same The notion of horror vacui the fear of empty space is thus often construed as a definitive feature of Gothic material culture In The Absent Image Elina Gertsman argues that Gothic art in its attempts to grapple with the unrepresentability of the invisible actively engages emptiness voids gaps holes and erasures Exploring complex conversations among medieval philosophy physics mathematics piety and image making Gertsman considers the concept of nothingness in concert with the imaginary revealing profoundly inventive approaches to emptiness in late medieval visual culture from ingenious images of the world s creation ex nihilo to figurations of absence as a replacement for the invisible forces of conception and death Innovative and challenging this book will find its primary audience with students and scholars of art religion physics philosophy and mathematics It will be particularly welcomed by those interested in phenomenological and cross disciplinary approaches to the visual culture of the later Middle Ages

Prudentius, Spain, and Late Antique Christianity Paula Hershkowitz,2017-01-05 This book provides an innovative approach to the Hispano Roman Christian poet Prudentius and his poetry It is a breakthrough in Prudentian scholarship which unifies the differing disciplines of history archaeology literature and art history in arguing that Prudentius and his envisaged Spanish audience cannot be fully understood in isolation from their environment in late fourth and early fifth century Spain Paula Hershkowitz focuses on Prudentius Peristephanon his collection of verses celebrating the deaths of martyrs and places these poems within the context of Prudentius world uniquely employing material visual and textual remains as evidence for its religious social and cultural affiliations It also draws on this material evidence to contextualise Prudentius awareness of the significance of the visual as a means of promoting beliefs against the background of this crucial formative period in religious history when many of his Spanish audience were not yet fully committed to the Christian faith

Icons of Sound Bissera Pentcheva,2020-11-23 Icons of Sound Voice Architecture and Imagination in Medieval Art brings together art history and sound studies to offer new perspectives on medieval churches and cathedrals as spaces where the perception of the visual is inherently shaped by sound The chapters encompass a wide geographic and historical range from the fifth to the fifteenth century and from Armenia and Byzantium to Venice Rome and Santiago de Compostela Contributors offer nuanced explorations of the intangible sonic aura produced in these places by the ritual music and harness the use of digital technology to reconstruct historical aural environments Rooted in a decade long interdisciplinary research project at Stanford University Icons of Sound expands our understanding of the inherently intertwined relationship between medieval
